Area gas dealers mull shutdown in meeting tonight

The Pomona Valley may not escape the nationwide gasoline station shutdown proposed for this weekend.

Station owners in the Pomona Valley, San Bernardino and Riverside were invited to a meeting tonight in Riverside to discuss any action they may take in protest of the government's freeze on the price of gasoline.

"We are going to meet to determine if they (owners) are going to close or not," said Harry Tham, whose nephew, a station operator, is helping organize the meeting.

"We can't raise our prices, but the government is letting the companies raise theirs," Tham said. "A lot of these gas dealers aren't making any money. There's just not enough margin."

If the dealers decide to take part in the shutdown, it will begin "Friday or Friday night," Tham said.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Doug's Chevron station on Madison Avenue at the Riverside Freeway.

A similar meeting was held Wednesday night in Riverside, and about 140-150 service station dealers attended.

Most of the dealers were from the Riverside area, but there were a few from the Pomona Valley.

"Ontario was well represented," said an Ontario dealer who did not want to be identified. "There were a few out of Pomona, also.

"The thing (meeting) was shifted around too fast, and not enough people knew about it," the dealer said. "Dealers in Pomona are being contacted today."

Late this morning, only two other dealers said they had been contacted about the meeting, and acknowledged they planned to attend.

Two others who said they had not been contacted about the meeting, responded they would attend when informed of the situation.

One of the men, Chuck Payne, owner of Pomona Valley Shell service at Holt and White avenues, said he planned to close Friday anyway.

"I'll close only for gas," he said. "I'll keep my tow trucks going." Payne said he would "drive around the area" Saturday to see if the other stations were closed before he decided to shut down for the weekend.

Nixon: won't ask Agnew to resign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon says allegations against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew are "serious and not frivolous," but that Agnew must make his own decision whether to resign.

Nixon gave his assessment of the Agnew case for the first time at a news conference Wednesday, but stressed that he had never asked for the vice president's resignation.

"I will not ask him to resign. The matter is for him to decide," Nixon said.

The President, holding his sixth session with reporters this year, also said:

—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit Peking Oct. 26-29 in an attempt to improve trade, cultural and scientific relations.

—Nixon plans to visit Europe within the next three or four months. The timing will depend on progress of his legislative program in Congress and on the pace of preliminary negotiations toward refinement of Atlantic community relations.

—He also plans to visit Japan before the end of next year. Kissinger will stop there on his way to China.

—He hopes that Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kriesky will reconsider his decision to close down a transit center for Jews emigrating from the Soviet Union to Israel.

The President indicated that Phase 4 wage-price controls may be kept in force well into 1974.

He restated that he considers his Watergate tapes confidential. He declined to comment on the possibility of compromise with special prosecutor Archibald Cox or the Senate Watergate committee who both want the tapes.

He said he would not support anyone for the presidential nomination "until they have been tried in the field of battle" of the primaries. "I will support whoever receives the nomination."

Retail drop predicted within 2 weeks

Wholesale beef costs dip 30%

By United Press International

There was good news today for grocery shoppers stunned by a 10-cents-a-gallon rise in the price of milk this week. Beef prices have taken a 30 per cent dive on wholesale markets, and the meat industry says it could mean a similar drop of retail prices within two weeks.

But in order for the meat prices to fall, the American National Cattlemen's Association said Wednesday, packers, wholesalers and retailers must pass lower costs on to consumers.

Then, according to John M. Trotman, president of the ranchers' trade organization, prices for beef will rise again shortly after the new year. He said the price of live beef dropped from the Aug. 19 high of 56 cents a pound to less than 40 cents a pound Wednesday.

"I came to New York to inform the consumer that beef is plentiful again and at prices that the housewife can afford," said Trotman, a rancher and cattle broker from Alabama.

He said "shortly after the new year—but not before Christmas" beef prices will rise again because of a shortage in supply.

Gordon Van Vleck, first vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, predicted in San Francisco beef prices would drop 10 cents a pound or more by the end of the year.

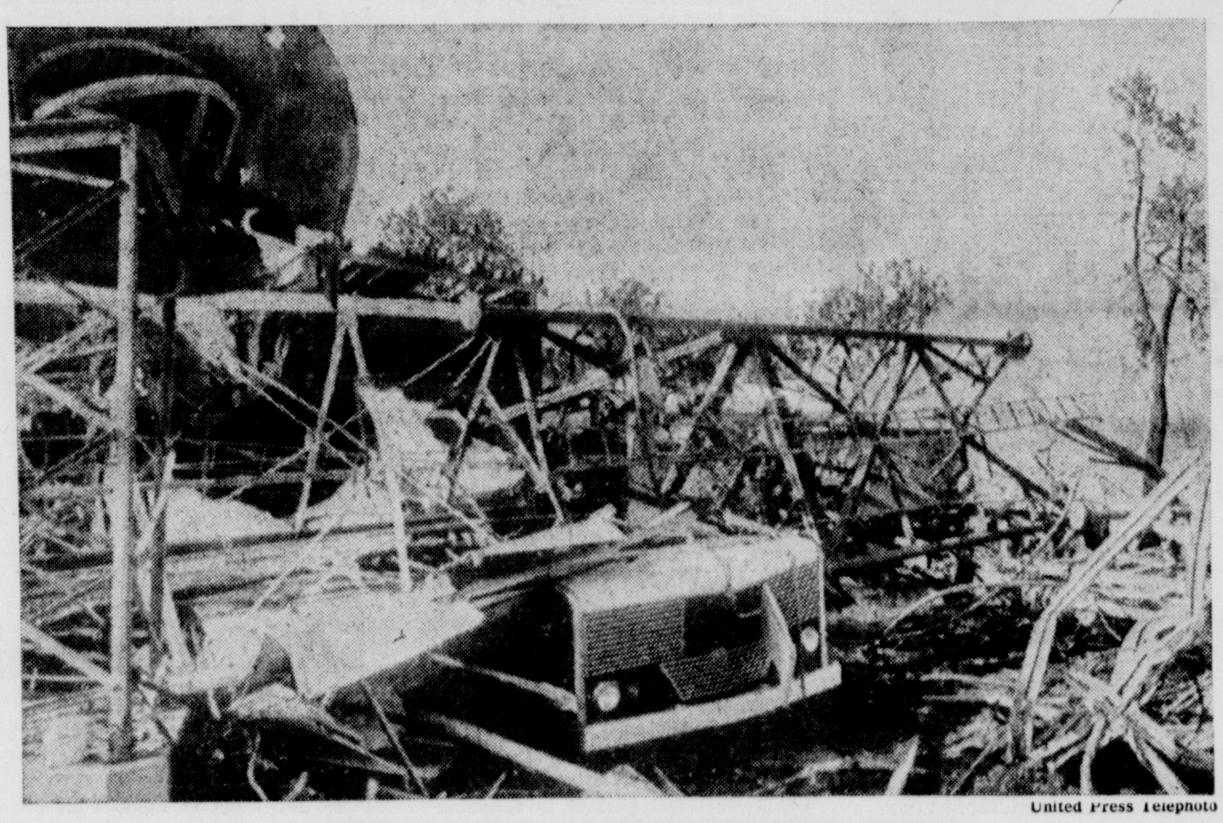

But he declined to estimate how much prices would rebound as predicted next January, though he said they would not return to record Aug. 17 levels.

He called the fall of the price of live cattle during the last two weeks "the most dramatic decline since the 1950s and the beginning of the Korean War."

Both Van Vleck and Trotman said the summer-long price freeze on beef created "artificial shortages ... and artificially high prices for live cattle were reached."

But the price of milk was much higher this week. A gallon cost 10 to 20 cents more than last week in much of the nation, and indications were that dairy prices soon will rise in the rest of the country.

The dairy industry said milk farmers have been quitting the business because profits have been so low and this has caused a milk shortage and higher wholesale prices. Grocers, many now charging $1.50 for a gallon of milk, said they are only passing on the wholesale price increase to consumers.

TOWER'S COLLAPSE FATAL TO FIVE

A motor home camper was among the casualties Wednesday when a 2,000-foot television tower collapsed near Rowley, Ia. The twisted wreckage fell within a relatively small area, killing five construction workers. About 20 other workers on the site escaped serious injury.

Wholesale food prices in biggest drop in 25 years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices for major food products dropped by 6 per cent in September and the overall index went down by 1.8 per cent, the greatest monthly drop in more than a quarter century, the government reported today.

Food industry spokesmen expressed hope the substantial decline at the wholesale level might be reflected in the retail prices for consumers in a short time.

Although the September decline for farm products was the sharpest since Februray, 1948, it did not come anywhere close to offsetting a record high increase of 23.1 per cent in August.

Similarly, economists noted that the September drop in overall wholesale prices compared to a 5.8 per cent increase in August, the steepest climb since 1946.

The administration expressed high gratification at the new report. Herbert Stein, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said the decline was "a welcome sign that the worst of the 1973 big surge of inflation is behind us."

The declines in food prices were led by drops of 16 per cent for live poultry, 14.8 per cent for livestock, 13.5 per cent for processed poultry and 13.1 per cent for grains.

In addition, fresh and dried vegetables fell 12.9 per cent while there were declines of 8.6 per cent for eggs, almost 5.5 per cent for meats and 0.2 per cent for fresh fruits.

On the other hand, milk prices increased 10.7 per cent, cereal and bakery product prices went up 8.4 per cent and sugar and confectionery prices rose 0.9 per cent.

The government report showed that wholesale prices for processed foods and feeds fell 6 per cent in September— an all time record for any month—after a record 13.4 per cent jump in August.

Montclair wife of MIA leaving Monday for Laos

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

MONTCLAIR — The wife of an Air Force pilot missing in Laos since he bailed out from his disabled plane five years ago is preparing for the flight that she and her 11-year-old daughter will make Monday to Southeast Asia.

Mrs. Fran Masterson, her hopes high, reported that she is getting passports and shots for herself and her daughter, Sheri.

Mrs. Masterson and members of 100 families of prisoners of war and servicemen missing in action from all over the United States will fly from Los Angeles to the Laotian capital of Vientiane, where they will keep a vigil while waiting for the Pathet Lao to release the names of prisoners they have been holding.

When the neutralist government of Premier Souvanna Phouma and the Communist-led Pathet Lao signed a peace agreement Sept. 12 to set up a coalition government, the Pathet Lao said that within 30 days it would release the names of prisoners by nationality that they have been holding.

Mrs. Masterson hopes that the name of Captain Michael "Bat" Masterson will be on the list.

"We have a list of 314 U. S. servicemen missing in action in Laos," Mrs. Masterson said. "The National League of Families of Prisoners of War and Missing in Action in Southeast Asia has counted more than 1,300 U. S. servicemen still missing in Southeast Asia."

Mrs. Masterson said that she has

LAFC rules Poly campus within Pomona's sphere

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

POMONA — This city may soon have a full university within its municipal boundaries.

At present, only 232 acres of Cal Poly's 813-acre campus are within the city.

But the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFC) has recommended the state university campus be placed within the City of Pomona's sphere of influence.

In essence, this action marks the first step toward any annexation proceedings. The LAFC, whose members include county supervisors and City Council members, has the responsibility of determining annexation boundaries.

LAFC officials had acted on the recommendation of its staff, which made these determinations:

—The Cal Poly campus lies on the south slope of the San Jose Hills, with the ridge line of these hills forming a natural boundary for the campus on the north and west sides. Drainage from the campus is to the south and east toward Pomona.

—The City of Pomona currently provides back-up police protection to Cal Poly on an on-call basis. This service augments the university's campus police force.

—Fire protection services are provided by the Consolidated Fire Protection District from the station located near the intersection of Temple Avenue

U.S. student killed in Chile uprising

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The body of an American student, Frank Teruggi of Des Plaines, Ill., arrested by Chilean armed forces Sept. 20, has been found in a morgue in Santiago, the State Department confirmed.

Teruggi was believed to be the first American killed in the recent military overthrow of the Chilean government.

The State Department announced late Wednesday positive identification was made by Chilean dentists brought to the morgue by U.S. consular officials.

Must find out President's role in tapes-Dash

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Arguing that it must find out if there was "criminality by the President," the Senate Watergate Committee today asked a federal court to order President Nixon to turn over his secret tapes about the scandal.

The chief committee counsel, Samuel Dash, at opening oral arguments before chief U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica — said Senate investigators "obviously will not go out of business" if they don't get the tape recordings.

But he said they must have them if they are to pass legislation which would prevent future corruption in presidential campaigns.

Charles Alan Wright, Nixon's lawyer, contended that the committee was pursuing criminal rather than legislative goals.

Citing Dash's statements with respect to "criminality of the President." Dash said they showed that the aim was "criminal not legislative."

"This is the work of the grand juries rather than the Senate," Wright said.

"If it is established that criminality of the President existed, this would call for drastic legislation," Dash argued.

"Our responsibility is to take the investigation as far as we can take it ... to prove who was involved. And if the President was involved, support for drastic legislation might be heightened."

Will attack embassies

Arab guerrillas turn bomb threats against Russians

BEIRUT (UPI) —The Arab guerrilla group that forced Austria to order the closing of a Jewish transit camp has threatened to attack Soviet embassies around the world unless Moscow stops the flow of Russian Jews to Israel, it was reported today.

The Beirut newspaper An Nahar said the Eagles of the Palestine Revolution issued a "warning to the Soviet Union" in a letter sent to the newspaper.

An Nahar quoted the letter as saying "Russian embassies and interests in the Middle East and the world will be a target for the strikes of our fighters if the Soviet government does not stop the immigration operation into Israel."

"The continued immigration of Soviet Jews into Palestine constitutes a great danger to our just struggle and adds another burden to the Palestinian revolution," the letter said.

The newspaper said the letter, which arrived at its office Wednesday, said, "The claim of being friendly to the Arabs should be translated into sincerity and not by stabbing in the back."

The guerrilla group hijacked a Moscow-to-Vienna train carrying Russian Jews last Friday, kidnaping three of the emigrants and an Austrian customs officer.

$1,670.84 for 2 years?

Aide evasive on issue of Nixon tax returns

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A White House spokesman has refused to confirm or deny a report in the Providence, R.I., Journal-Bulletin alleging that President Nixon paid very small income taxes in 1971 and 1972.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Wednesday that Nixon filed his tax returns in accordance with "normal, legal procedure."

"He told you himself his returns for 1971 and 1972 were completely audited and the IRS ordered no change," Warren said, in reference to questions at a recent Nixon press conference.

"Beyond that I'm not going to discuss the President's income tax return."

The newspaper reported that Nixon and his wife paid a total of $1,670.84 in federal income taxes and received $131,503.84 in tax refunds for 1970 and 1971.

In an article by Jack White in Wednesday's editions, the taxes paid by the Nixons was said to be equivalent to those paid by a person earning $7,000 annually who claims one exemption and does not itemize deductions.

According to documents the newspaper said it received from unidentified government sources, the Nixons paid $792.81 in federal income tax in 1970 and $878.03 in 1971.

"News accounts earlier this year said the Nixons may not have paid any taxes at all for the two years," the newspaper said. "The documents obtained by the Journal-Bulletin show the Nixons paid a small amount."

Aide tells of Segretti 'dirty tricks' operation

Watergate brought end to sabotage plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A young man recruited in Florida by Donald H. Segretti testified today the Watergate break-in cut off plans to sow "confusion, disruption and malcontent" at the 1972 Democratic national convention.

Martin Douglas Kelly, 24, of Miami, a former president of the Florida College Young Republicans, told the Senate Watergate committee he was promised $700 monthly to help sabotage the convention in Miami Beach in July, 1972.

However, "no provocations, illegalities, or dirty pranks were carried out that summer because of the Watergate break-in and the heat of the investigation that followed," Kelly testified.

The arrest of five men during the break-in of Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate complex took place June 17, 1972.

Kelly said he received a modest salary from Segretti for what he termed "negative campaigning" between December, 1971, and April or May, 1972.

In a brief statement, Kelly said he was first approached by Segretti, using the alias Donald Simmons, two years ago and was recruited as part of a team to carry out political "dirty tricks."

As a result, he said, "what political future I may have had has been virtually wiped out by what I did and what I was involved in."

Referring to "dirty tricks" that were carried out by a Segretti-recruited team against Democratic presidential aspirants -mostly Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Henry M. Jackson, and Hubert H. Humphrey —during the Florida primary campaign early last year, Kelly apologized.

Segretti did the same Wednesday although Jackson, for one, refused to accept the apology, calling the tactics "filth, muck and slime."

Said Kelly:

"I very deeply regret the political and personal damage incurred by the senators, their families and staff members while running for higher office, as a result of my activities."

Kelly added: "Those who live by the sword die by the sword, and I feel that these hearings can serve no better function than to exemplify the necessity of keeping our political systm free of the things that can make politics corrupt and eventually ineffective."

Segretti testified all day Wednesday.

Jackson's criticism of the 32-year-old baby-faced Los Angeles lawyer was sharper than any addressed to Segretti during his appearance Wednesday before the Senate Watergate committee, where he said he felt th "deepest regrets" for his activities. He said they "were wrong and have no place in the American political system."

Four gmore political sabotage agents were in line for questioning at today's session of the hearing if time permits.

Martin Douglas Kelly and Robert Benz, two of the 28 agents recruited by Segretti to undermine the campaigns of Democrats in 1972, were to be questioned first. Benz is accused of placing a "stink bomb" in the campaign headquarters of Sen. Edward S. Muskie on the day of the Florida primary in 1972.

They may be followed by John Buckley, who under the name "Fat Jack" was a contact with infiltrators in Muskie campaign headquarters, and by Michael McMinoway who infiltrated Muskie's campaign under the code name "Sedan Chair II."

IT WAS MURDER, SAY POLICE

Police examine wreckage of an Oakland Police Dept. helicopter which crashed killing the pilot and the observer.

Copter crash is murder; pilot has bullet in head

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Crime technicians today examined bullet fragments for clues to the sniper who shot the pilot of a police helicopter which crashed, killing him and his patrolman observer.

Police Chief Charles Gain said Wednesday that the fragments were taken from the head of Wendell Troyer, 47, a 22-year veteran of the Police Department and the holder of a commercial helicopter instructor's license.

Troyer died from the bullet wound while the observer, David G. Guider, 26, a decorated Vietnam war combat veteran who joined the force four years ago, died from burns suffered when the chopper crashed Tuesday night in a parking lot.

"Officer Troyer apparently was in shock and hemorrhaging from the wound and was unable to land the helicopter," a police sergeant said. "Guider died of thermal burns due to carbon monoxide poisoning."

Gain, calling the deaths of the two officers a "double murder," ordered all available detectives into the case.

This was the second ground attack on a law enforcement chopper in the San Francisco Bay Area in 11 months.

A San Mateo County Sheriff's deputy was wounded by a juvenile with a high-powered rifle in November. His deputy observer took control of the copter and landed it safely near Stanford University. The sniper was arrested and convicted.

The Oakland Police Department craft crashed a short distance from a restaurant and near busy Foothill Boulevard. Several cars were damaged.

Witnesses said they heard several loud reports just before the crash.

Guider, son of a retired Piedmont, Calif., police chief, was a volunteer observer, replacing a regular officer who was off duty. In April he was commended for his work after a Navy jet fighter-bomber crashed in nearby Alameda, killing 11 persons.

Valley officials to attend commuter train plan meet

LOS ANGELES — Representatives of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange and San Diego counties will meet Friday with Amtrak officials to discuss using existing railroad rails for commuter trains.

The "work session" will begin at 9 a.m. in the office of Los Angeles County Supervisor Baxter Ward. Commuter services using existing rails have been proposed in these four counties.

Supervisor Ruben S. Ayala of San Bernardino County, who will attend the Friday meeting, has proposed a commuter train be established between Colton and Los Angeles, with stops in Pomona and Monterey Park.

"This meeting was the result of coordination between myself and Rep. Jerry Pettis," said Ayala. "Pettis believes there is an excellent chance of getting Amtrak support for this commuter service."

Amtrak officials in Washington, D.C., have had the local proposal under review for the past three weeks. An Amtrak response is expected soon.

Ayala said he will also discuss the Colton-to-Los Angeles commuter service on Oct. 10 with Los Angeles County Supervisor Peter Schabarum, whose district includes the Pomona Valley.

Others invited to that session are Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles, Mayor Harold Hayes of Montclair, and Tom Watson, manager of the Montclair Chamber of Commerce.

"We can then discuss results of Friday's meeting with Schabarum," said Ayala.

"The commuter proposal is not dying on the vine. We are working on this proposal," he added.

Ayala said the short range proposal is to use existing rails for the commuter service, with the long range proposal to have the service build its own rail facilities through federal funds.

Community apathy hit in death probe of woman set afire by six black youths

BOSTON (UPI) — Police say community apathy is hampering their investigaaion into the death of Evelyn Wagler, 24, who died Wednesday morning, six hours after she was set afire in Boston's interracial Roxbry section.

"If the people in our community would cooperate with the police and tell the police what they saw," deputy police Supt. Leroy Chase said, "I am sure we can come to a solution."

"We feel that there were witnesses," Chase said, however, "In the Roxbury community there is so much apathy." Chase, himself, lives near the scene of the burning.

Homicide chief Lt. Jerome P. McCallum said the assault occurred at a "respectable hour on a well-lighted avenue and no witnesses are coming forward."

Mrs. Wagler lived long enough to tell police how six black youths accosted her, forced her to pour gasoline over herself and then set her afire. Then she died.

"There is no apparent motive," said Police Commissioner Robert J. diGrazia. "It's an almost unbelievably vicious crime." The commissioner criticized the showing on television last Sunday of the movie "Fuzz," which was filmed in Boston and included two young characters who throw gasoline on vagrants and set them afire.

"It's about time that the public demand an end to violence such as this in our movies and on television," he said.

"She had no idea they were going to throw a match on her," said Homicide Chief Lt. Jerome P. McCallum. He said Mrs. Wagler, who recently moved here from Chicago, had run out of gas and was returning to her car with a can of gasoline from a service station when the youths approached her Tuesday night.

The police said there were witnesses to the burning but they were not sure they would come forward.

Before she died, Mrs. Wagler told McCallum three black youths told her Monday night when she went to a store to leave the Roxbury area because "we don't want any whites here."

However, police played down the possibility that racial conflict was a motive in the killing.

Chase said, "The point is not whether she was black or white but that she was a resident of our city who was killed in a senseless way."

She addressed the second annual convention of the league in Washington, D. C. in 1971.

Mrs. Masterson wears a bracelet honoring her husband.

She said that she and Sheri will leave Monday aboard a chartered flight from Los Angeles to arrive in Bangkok Oct. 10. The group of MIA families will then fly to Vientiane Oct. 11, and stay in the Laotian capital six days.

"We have all our shots, except the dual shot for cholera, which we will receive in Bangkok," Mrs. Masterson said.

"We will be in Laos on the fifth anniversary of Bat's bailing out of his plane," Mrs. Masterson noted.

She said that she has received a letter from Col. and Mrs. John E. Stavast who are living at the War College in Montgomery, Ala., where Col. Stavast, released by the North Vietnamese earlier this year, is studying. The Stavasts will dedicate a freedom tree at the United Nations in New York City Oct. 24.

Mrs. Stavast was the person who started the freedom tree movement in this country and dedicated the first freedom tree to those servicemen who were prisoners of war or missing in action in Claremont July 4, 1972.

Mrs. Masterson dedicated a tree at Montclair City Hall to her husband Dec. 9, 1972.

She stressed that VIVA at 10966 Le Conte Ave., Los Angeles, 90024, still is distributing POW-MIA bracelets.

and Grand Avenue. Pomona plans to build a city fire station on Temple Avenue, just south of Pomona Boulevard.

—The City of Pomona water department supplies Cal Poly with reclaimed water (481 acre feet in 1972-73), which is used for agricultural purposes. The domestic water is supplied from two ground wells. County Supervisor Peter Schabarum, whose district includes the Pomona area, made the LAFC motion regarding the sphere of influence. The motion was unanimously carried.

Mayor Ray Lepire of Pomona hailed the LAFC action, stating the addition of the full university campus would add to the city's prestige.

"I plan to contact Cal Poly officials in the near future to discuss their feelings toward the annexations" he added. "If there are no objections, then the City Council could proceed with initiating action to annex this area."

Lepire said annexing the campus would provide the city with additional sales tax revenues and federal sharing funds, based on the number of students who reside there.

At present, there are 9,000 students enrolled at Cal Poly, but only 1,130 reside on campus, officials said.

Dr. Robert Kramer, president of Cal Poly, was not immediately available for comment regarding the LAFC action.

In other LAFC actions regarding local areas, officials made these determinations:

—The City of San Dimas sphere of influence to include the unincorporated area southerly of the Pacific Electric Railway right-of-way and westerly of Valley Center Avenue to the city's existing boundary, and the area southerly of the future extension of Badillo Street east of Sunflower Street.

—The City of San Dimas sphere of influence to also include the unincorporated area easterly of Reeder Avenue, including the island of unincorporated territory completely surrounded by the city.

The LAFC continued a hearing regarding the Forest Lawn Covina Hills to Oct. 10. The LAFC staff had previously recommended the area be placed within the City of West Covina sphere of influence.

Watergate surprise to Gahagan Douglas

NEW YORK (UPI) —Helen Gahagan Douglas, who lost to Richard Nixon in a 1950 race for a U.S. Senate seat from California, said Wednesday she was surprised by the Watergate revelations.

"The pervasiveness of criminal activities and malfeasance revealed by the Watergate hearings was a surprise to me and in no way pleasurable," she said.

Mrs. Douglas also said she "sincerely wished Nixon had been a great president."

'Enemies' of Rizzo to attend 'roast'

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Six-thousand "past, present and potential political enemies" of Mayor Frank L. Rizzo are expected to receive invitations later this week to a "Rizzo Roast" Oct. 18.

The $10-a-head banquet has been planned by the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), a political watchdog organization.

Rizzo has described the ADA as a bastion of "wishy-washy, fuzzyheaded" liberal thinking and, when asked if he was invited, said he'd "go to an exterminator first."

L.A. crowd views Berlowitz 'liftoff'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Wendy Berlowitz, 25, the former Oklahoma schoolteacher who has been baring her breasts in public in a crusade for monotone sun tans, brought her campaign here Wednesday.

A crowd of about 500 gathered in a Century City plaza to see Mrs. Berlowitz take off her bikini top. She put on a jacket about 30 seconds later, on the advice of her lawyer. Some of the men in the audience shouted "take it all off." Others shouted "Put it back on" at the diminutive Mrs. Berlowitz.

She has said in the past that she is fighting for the right of women to sunbathe bare-breasted. "My husband has a beautiful tan on his chest and I have strap marks," she complained.

She has been arrested in Norman, Oklahoma, Albuquerque, and San Francisco. Police were in the crowd watching her Wednesday, but she was not arrested.

Singer arraigned on stolen goods rap

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — Toriano "Tito" Jackson, 19, of the Jackson Five singing group, was arraigned Wednesday on two charges of receiving stolen property taken in a series of apartment burglaries.

Jackson, of Sun Valley, Calif., was ordered to enter a plea on Oct. 17.

Arraigned with him were Sanders Bracy, 24, of Van Nuys and John P. Jackson, 22, Reseda, who is no relation to the Jackson family singers. The three men were arrested last April in connection with burglaries at 50 San Fernando Valley apartments. John Jackson was charged with one count of receiving stolen property and Bracy with four counts of receiving stolen property and eight of burglary.

Fonda, Stewart not exposed to rabies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Henry Fonda, James Stewart and other celebrity guests at the "Beastly Ball", held last month to raise funds for the zoo, were not exposed to rabies after all, it was discovered Wednesday.

An alarm was sounded Tuesday by county health authorities, who said that one of three raccoons displayed at the ball had been found to be rabid. Officials said the raccoon apparently was given rabies by receiving a faulty antirabies vaccine shot.

The county health department said Wednesday that it was learned that only two baby raccoons were actually handled by guests at the ball, and not the adult animal. The baby raccoons did not have the disease, said Dr. Ralph Sachs.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Pierre S. "Pete" du Pont, R-Del., proposed Wednesday that females be allowed to enter military academies.

"If it takes amending the U.S. Code to open the academies to women, then let's change the laws," du Pont told a news conference.

"If it's really tradition that's stopping the admission of women, then I think we need to move the service academies into the 20th Century."

Ontarian kills self standing in train path

ONTARIO — A 20-year-old Ontario man committed suicide Wednesday night by standing in front of an eastbound Union Pacific train traveling 48 miles per hour, police said.

Steven Monsivias Copas of 430 E. Phillips St., according to police reports, died about 8:40 p.m. when he was struck and killed by the train 1,534 feet west of Vineyard Avenue. Police said train engineer Eldon G. Burkett, 65, of Montebello and brakeman, Eugene Frasure, 44, of Temple City said they observed Copas run out from behind some bushes and purposely stand in the middle of tracks.

Burkett and Frasure told police that they were eastbound at a speed of 48 miles per hour. Burkett said the man had enough time to get out of the way of the approaching train but, instead, stopped in the middle of the tracks, turned his back to the train and clasped his hands behind his head. Burkett said the man was crouching down at the time of impact.

Police said it appeared that Copas was run over by more than 40 cars of the 70 car train.

Police said Copas was known to them and had a criminal record.

They said his death will be officially termed a suicide.

Ontario couple arrested

10-foot marijuana tree seized

ONTARIO — An Ontario couple was booked in the West End jail this morning on suspicion of cultivating marijuana after police seized a quantity of marijuana seeds, paraphernalia and four live marijuana plants, one growing 10 feet tall, at 11046 Kadota St. Wednesday afternoon.

Patricia Ann Perkins, 21, and her husband Calvin Wayne Perkins, 24, both of 11046 Kadota St., were arrested on the marijuana charge about 2:10 p.m.

Police said they received a call from a local automotive repair firm which reported finding a bag believed to contain about two ounces of manicured marijuana under the front seat of an automobile under repair. Police arrived at the shop and waited for the owner of the car.

The owner, identified as Mrs. Perkins, was stopped and questioned about the marijuana. Mrs. Perkins told police that she and her husband picked the plants while they were in Sequoia National Forest earlier this year and she had forgotten they were under the seat.

On the consent of Mrs. Perkins, police went to her home where a search revealed a quantity of marijuana seeds, pipes and other paraphernalia used to smoke marijuana.

In the back yard of the home police found the 10-foot-high marijuana plant and three other smaller plants, all carefully cultivated.

Mrs. Perkins' husband was arrested later, according to police, and admitted growing the plants. Perkins said he and his wife found the plants growing in the backyard of the home when they bought the house. He said his wife had asked him not to cut the plants down because she wanted to "watch them grow."

Edison Co. lineman is electrocuted

FONTANA — A 25-year-old Southern California Edison Co. lineman, atop a 250-foot tower, died Wednesday afternoon after touching a ground wire, according to San Bernardino County Coroner Bill Hill.

Harold B. Smith of 600 Venice Way, Inglewood, was pronounced dead on arrival at San Antonio Community Hospital about 1:30 p.m. Hill said that Smith was working on the tower about 1:20 p.m. when for some unknown reason he touched a ground wire. Other Edison Co. linemen brought Smith down from the tower and called an ambulance.

Hill said this morning his office is performing an autopsy."

Accident halts race

CLAREMONT — A teen-age boy, trying to outrun police on his motorcycle, crashed in an orange grove Wednesday afternoon, officers reported.

The victim lost several teeth and suffered severe mouth cuts, officers said. He was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where he was released after treatment.

Officer Robert Smith reported seeing two motorcyclists driving recklessly at Forbes and Miramar avenues and tried to stop them. But they went in different directions and he pursued one onto a dirt road into an orange grove. The rider tried to drive over an embankment made of piled rocks and crashed on the other side after traveling through the air for 30 feet, Smith reported.

The victim was cited on charges of reckless driving, being an unlicensed driver and riding an unregistered motorcycle. The other rider was not caught.

Train beats tow truck to scene; car smashed

INDUSTRY — A woman's automobile was destroyed early today when it was struck by a freight train after getting stuck on railroad tracks.

The owner, Herlindo Modglin, 47, La Puente, was sitting in the backseat of a sheriff's department radio car when her car was struck. The train knocked the small sedan 100 feet down the right-of-way.

The accident occurred at 2:30 a.m. after Mrs. Modglin's car got stuck on the Union Pacific tracks at Lemon Avenue. Passing sheriff's deputies stopped, advised Mrs. Modglin to get out of the car and called a tow truck to remove her car from the tracks. But the train arrived before the tow truck.

Mrs. Modglin suffered a forehead injury when her car first bounced onto the tracks and was treated at Doctors Hospital in La Puente.

3 agreements signed for child care financing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Health and Welfare Agency has signed three agreements with the state Department of Education to provide nearly $45 million in child care programs for 28,000 California children.

One of the agreement makes $13.6 million available for expansion of children's centers services, support new local projects and develop child care programs.

The other two provide matching federal funds for Children's Centers, Campus Children's Centers WIN Child Care and Migrant Day Care, Brian said.

Work begins on building support for La Verne park bond issue

LA VERNE — The Parks and Recreation Commission went ahead confidently today with the promotion of a $970,000 bond issue, despite a rebuff earlier in the week by Councilman Dan Lopez.

At a special meeting Wednesday night, the commission began drawing up a citizens' advisory committee to help spread word of the bond issue throughout the community and to explain what the money would be used for.

If the issue passes at an election Nov. 6, the City Council will buy two new park sites and improve three existing ones.

At Wednesday's meeting, PTA organizations and the Chamber of Commerce indicated support for the bond issue. Ray Kaldenbach, director of the parks and recreation department, said he hoped to draw up a 10-person advisory committee soon and present it for approval to the council.

The commission had gained council support last summer on a 4-1 vote, with Lopez dissenting then. Hoping to get unanimous backing, George Griffiths, chairman of the commission, brought up the matter of support again Monday night, but once again Lopez cast a negative vote.

The councilman refused to give any explanation as to why he was against the proposal. He said he would make his reason known "at the proper time."

Support for the bond issue was one of the highlights of Monday's council meeting.

In an unrelated matter, the council awarded $100 bonuses to 10 volunteens who helped in the summer recreation program. To qualify, each youth had to put in at least 180 hours of work.

Commended by the council were Cheryl DeMatteis, Diana Griffiths, Brian Johnson, Debbie Howell, Rochelle Norris, Teresa Copeland, Diana Perez, Wade Hall, Cathy Moore and Jesse Sweeney.

The council also decided to abolish an ordinance governing the distribution of political signs and handbills throughout the city. City Manager George Caswell said the ordinance was "unworkable" and only took up time in attempting to enforce it.

Councilmen agreed to put off action on awarding a contract for towing services until Police Chief Jack Baker had more time to check the bidders.

Burr indictment records on way to Washington

By MIKE AVENENTI

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) —A spokesman for the New Jersey state archives department Wednesday said that copies of an indictment against Vice President Aaron Burr, who was indicted for killing Alexander Hamilton in a duel, have been sent to Washington at the request of a research division of the Library of Congress.

He said he did not know if the call for the 169-year-old documents came in connection with the Watergate hearings or the court proceedings against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Burr was indicted in Bergen County, N.J., in 1804 for slaying Hamilton, the former secretary of the treasury, with a pistol shot in "the right side of the belly...near the short ribs of the aforesaid.'

The duel came after 15 years of political warring, but it was not until allegedly libelous statements by Hamilton were printed in the press that Burr issued the challenge.

They met the morning of July 11 in a clearing in the town of Weehawken, on the same spot where Hamilton's son, Phillip, was slain in a duel three years earlier.

Although an indictment was returned against Burr, it was later quashed because Hamilton died in New York City. The move to invalidate the indictment was said to have come after influential friends of Burr applied pressure on the governor of New Jersey.

A spokesman for the state Library Archives and History Division said the Library of Congress asked for the records late last week. The papers, which are in remarkably good condition, were copied and mailed early this week to Washington. They consist of 10 pages, including typewritten copies of the original document.

The indictment said the vice president shot Hamilton while "being moved and seduced by the instigation of the Devil."

The New Jersey attorney general and the state supreme court, however, apparently did not believe the "true bill" was valid because of this wording: "...in the year aforesaid at the Township and in the County aforesaid the said Alexander Hamilton of the said Mortal wounds died." Hamilton died in New York, and not in Bergen County.

The press branded Burr as a murderer, however, and the vice president fled to Pennsylvania. After being threatened with lynching there, he again fled, this time to the South.

He returned to Washington for his remaining months in office and died in 1836 after a number of other adventures.

Man, woman face San Jose hearing in Beaty escape

SAN JOSE — Jean S. Hobson, 44, and Robert A. Seabock, 22, facing trial on murder charges in the bloody escape of prison inmate Ronald Wayne Beaty Oct. 6, 1972 in San Bernardino County, today were in San Jose awaiting a pretrial hearing on a federal grand jury indictment of harboring a fugitive.

Mrs. Hobson and Seabock, along with Bruce Hobson, 23, and Morton Newman, 30, in August were indicted by the federal Grand Jury on 25 charges, including harboring a fugitive, assessory after the fact in the Beaty escape and aiding and abetting a felon in possession of a firearm.

The escape from the California Institution for Men last year left Correctional Officer Jesus Sanchez dead and another officer wounded. Beaty, who was captured in San Francisco, testified before the San Bernardino County Grand Jury that Mrs. Hobson, and Seabock were participants in the ambush along with Benton Douglas Burt, 30, and his wife Andrea Holman Burt, 19. He claimed that Hobson and Newman helped him hide out after his escape.

Beaty was sentenced to life imprisonment after pleading guilty to a charge of murder, while the Burts were found guilty of second degree murder, assault with a deadly weapon and rescuing a prisoner in separate court actions.

Mrs. Hobson and Seabock are now awaiting trial on the same charges Oct. 23 in San Bernardino County Superior Court.

Federal authorities sought the grand jury indictments against Mrs. Hobson, Seabock, Bruce Hobson and Newman, after the Burts trial.

The four will appear before U.S. District Court Judge Robert Peckham Oct. 9 for pretrial motions on the federal Grand Jury indictments and then return to San Bernardino to stand trial on the murder charges.

Speeding car causes crash that kills two

BALDWIN HILLS (UPI) —A speeding car went out of control while trying to negotiate a turn Wednesday night, causing a four-car collision in which two women died and four other persons were injured.

Mathilde Samson, 31, North Hollywood, and Marcia G. LaFreniere, 32, Burbank, were killed when their auto was struck head-on by one driven by Charles Everidge, Hawthorne, who was booked on suspicion of felony manslaughter and was hospitalized in the prison ward of County-USC Medical Center with lacerations to his face.

Others suffering major injuries were Maria Blood, Sun Valley, a passenger in the Samson-LaFreniere auto, and Gertrude Glass and Kelly Larson, who were in another auto.

Arrested for soliciting, drunk driving

Reveal police capt. allowed to plea to lesser charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A police lieutenant arrested for drunken driving and soliciting a prostitute was allowed to plead guilty instead to a trespassing charge. He was fined $60.

The disposition of the case of Lt. Terrence Hannon, 43, was revealed Wednesday.

Hannon was arrested during a much publicized crackdown on men looking for prostitutes in the Hollywood area.

Policewomen in plain clothes patrol the area as bait, and men who make offers of money for sex are arrested. More than 400 men have been charged in three months, including Hannon, who allegedly propositioned one of the female officers.

Hannon was to appear to enter a plea Wednesday, but it was discovered that he had appeared before Municipal Judge Marion L. Obera on Sept. 20. The charges were dismissed in return for a plea of guilty to a charge of trespassing.

Dismissal of the drunk driving charge appeared to conflict with a policy announced only weeks ago by newly-elected City Attorney Burt Pines, who said that as part of a get-tough campaign against drunken driving, his office would not bargain for guilty pleas to lesser offenses.

A spokesman for Pines, asked about the Hannon case, said the decision to drop the charge was influenced by the fact that there was "no evidence of reckless driving, or weaving back and forth."

Hannon was allowed to plead guilty to trespassing, the spokesman said, because "We frankly felt the severity of the Police Department's internal discipline was much harsher than what a civilian would receive as a fine in court."

Hannon was suspended for 65 days without pay, a loss of about $4,000.

It was not known how many civilians arrested for soliciting policewomen lost their jobs because of the arrests and convictions.

Five policemen involved in handling Hannon on the night he was arrested received brief suspensions because they took him to the home of a friend instead of booking him. The watch commander, learning of the incident, insisted that Hannon be booked.

Plane critic completely vindicated

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Pentagon cost-analyst A. Ernest Fitzgerald has been completely vindicated after losing his job more than three years ago for revealing the C5A cargo plane was costing $1.8 billion more than planned.

The Air Force Wednesday rehired Fitzgerald, 46, in compliance with a Civil Service order. In 1968 he had told Congress about the overruns and was "terminated" from his job Jan. 5, 1970, in what the Pentagon termed "a reduction in force."

But Civil Service examiner Harold D. Staiman ruled last month that Fitzgerald really lost his job in retaliation for exposing the cost overruns.

Fitzgerald holds a GS17 Civil Service job classification, the second highest grade, which currrently pays $36,000 a year. He will draw $125,000 in back pay, but the Air Force will subtract from that a sum equal to his earnings since he lost his Pentagon job.

Animal loans prove popular at library

WARWICK, R.I. (UPI) — The children's department of the Warwick Public Library has started lending rabbits, snakes, hamsters, guinea pigs, gerbils and other small animals in an effort to stimulate interest in the environment.

"Everything went out the first day, except a garter snake," Alice Forsstrom, who instituted the program four days ago and raised many of the animals, said Wednesday.

The library lends the animals, along with two weeks supply of food and a cage, to children, with their parents' consent, so they can learn their habits and feeding patterns.

"If we can't keep the world safe for animals, then we won't be able to live in it either," Miss Forsstrom said. "To some kids, an animal they can cuddle is more important than books."

Beach man held as rape suspect

LONG BEACH (UPI) —A 40-year-old Huntington Beach man, believed to be the so-called "Bellmont Shore Rapist," who is allegedly responsible for at least seven attacks on young women in the past four months, was arrested Wednesday.

William J. Wilson, was arrested on suspicion of rape and burglary about two hours after a 19-year-old nurse was slashed several times with a knife during a rape attempt.

Wilson was being held in lieu of $25,000 bail and was scheduled for arraignment Friday.

Wives receive equal rights

SACRAMENTO, California (UPI) —The California husband will lose his legal authority as head of the household and women will receive equal credit opportunities with men under legislation signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The equal property rights law, effective next January, gives a wife joint control to acquire and dispose of community property.

Spouses will have to obtain each other's permission before they sell household effects and clothing.

The other new law signed Tuesday will make it illegal to prevent women from receiving credit solely because of their sex or marital status.

Classroom study 'balloons' into science project

CHINO — First and second graders at Glenmeade School will launch helium-filled balloons Friday afternoon in a map study and science project.

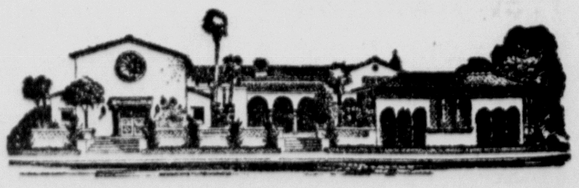

Students in the classes of Ada Wirbel, Patty Hughes, Deanne Dickey and Marge Roder will send up the balloons at 1 p.m. Self-addressed post cards will be attached to the balloons and each person finding one is requested to return the card to the school.

The children will mark the various points from which the cards come on a map as part of a science project at the school.

Reagan uses pen on legislation

Bills vetoed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan, establishing a new personal record by vetoing 171 bills, has rejected legislation creating a statewide "energy crisis" commission and a super antismog agency in Southern California.

In a down-to-the-wire finish late Tuesday shortly before the midnight constitutional deadline for acting on measures passed by the 1973 legislature, the governor also vetoed bills ranging from one proposing sale of prophylactics in public vending machines to another mandating a beefed up $27 million school lunch program.

In all, the Republican chief executive vetoed 171 bills passed by the lawmakers for a new personal record. Last year, he rejected 168, his previous high.

Reagan was in Los Angeles Tuesday night attending a fundraiser for fellow Republican state Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest. Cartons of bills he had acted upon were rushed to Sacramento by airplane.

The legislature will return Jan. 7 and may attempt to override some of the vetoes —a task requiring two-thirds favorable vote of both houses. A veto hasn't been reversed since 1946.

One of the last bills vetoed was by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, and Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, which called for establishment of a five-member commission empowered to ration fuel, levy taxes and site nuclear electric generating plan.

Reagan acknowledged California faces an "energy crisis requiring a new process for expediting the location and construction of power plants," but said the measures "ill-considered" provisions wouldn't help solve the problem.

He termed many details "unacceptable" and noted in its final form the measure (SB283) never was heard by Senate committees. He also objected a tax on electricity consumers to help finance the commission's research and expressed hope the legislature would produce a "workable" bill next year.

The bill, bitterly opposed by utility companies and General Electric Co., among other things, would have empowered the commission to exclusively choose sites for nuclear plants, ration fuel during shortages and levy a coonsumer tax of about $1.25 a year per household.

He also vetoed major legislation (AB2283) by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, which would have established a regional air pollution control district in the smoggy South Coast Air Basin.

That agency, which would supercede existing local smog control districts, would have been financed by a tax on industrial waste dischargers and a one-tenth of a cent tax on each gallon of gas sold in the basin.

Reagan objected to the tax provision as well as to creating another layer of government, adding he wasn't convinced "the taxpayers will receive their money's worth in reduced pollution.

Moretti, a contender for governor next year, accused Reagan of joining up with "corporate polluters." He said that officials of the administration had supported the bill in legislative hearings.

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, another gubernatorial aspirant, also was the victim of a Reagan veto. The governor refused to sign a $27.8 million bill (SB1264) requiring every school district in the state to participate in providing free or low cost meals at school to needy children.

Reagan said he was sympathetic with the bill's intent but local districts should decide for themselves—as they now do— whether they want to furnish such meals and not have the state require it of them.

Legislation by Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, aimed at reducing venereal disease among teenagers by making condoms more available, including at vending machines, was vetoed.

"I believe it would permit an indiscriminate access to prophylactics which would not be in the public interest," Reagan said of the bill (SB1179).

Other major bills vetoed by Reagan included these:

INDIAN—Would have appropriated $1 million to provide financial and technical aid for Indian health care services (SB1212-Moscone, D-San Francisco). Reagan said the bill was "premature" because the federal government is developing a prepair health care plan for Indians and said the measure would duplicate services already available.

NUTRITION — Would have spent $2 million through 1976 to develop a nutrition education program in California schools and hire personnel to carry it out (SB1302-Moscone, D-San Francisco). Reagan said a study is underway now to determine if such a program is necessary.

BART—Would have transferred $2.4 million in interest accumulated on a loan to the state by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District several years ago to BART, (SB66-Nejeduly, R-Walnut Creek). Reagan said there never was an agreement to return the interest to BART and he saw "no compelling" reason to do so now.

LOANS—Would have created a state Housing Finance Agency with the power to issue revenue and general obligations to finance home loans to low and middle-income persons. (AB1152-Chacon, D-San Diego). Reagan, among other things, said when a "public agency enters the bond market it is not creating new capital, it is competing for it with other areas of demand."

MOURN—Would have included any day proclaimed by the President or governor a day of mourning as a state holiday. (SB1203-Stiern, D-Bakersfield). Reagan said the bill would have erased from the law books another bill already signed which makes Nov. 11 a Veterans Day holiday instead of the fourth Monday of October.

TRAINING—Would have required a training program for Youth Authority guards. (SB707-Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek). Reagan said the bill was too rigid in setting out training curriculum and would eliminate the Youth Authority's "flexibility" to keep the training program current.

Corrections — Would have established a new state commission to recruit, select and train local and state prison guards. (SB705-Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek). Reagan said this can be done without another state commission.

Bills signed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Barely meeting a midnight deadline, Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed two landmark bills inspired by Watergate which are designed to help clean up politics by tightening conflict-of interest and campaign contribution reporting laws.

The Democratic-sponsored measures were among scores signed by Reagan on Tuesday, the final day for acting on bills passed during the 1973 legislative session.

Most of the bills will take effect Jan. 1.

Other signed bills will give women equal rights with men in obtaining credit, require oil companies to cover sumps which kill 150,000 birds annually, and curtail the practice of cou ts treating motorists with prior drunken driving convictions as first-time offenders.

The conflict-of-interest bill (SB716), by Sen. George Moscone, San Francisco, was pushed through a legislature mindful of the Watergate scandal during the final hours of the session. Moscone was helped by a fellow Democratic gubernatorial contender, Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti of Van Nuys.

The measure will require elected officials — state and local—to file yearly reports on their investments which exceed $1,000, and their income, gifts and loans over $250 if they pose a potential conflict of interest. An official will have to report any investment of more than $10,000.

Candidates will have to disclose holdings and income.

The campaign contribution bill (AB703), by Assemblyman Henry A. Waxman, D-Los Angeles, will require detailed identification of all donations exceeding $100. Now, identification is required only for contributions of $500 or more.

The State Board of Equalization will be required to audit expenditure statements of candidates who receive 15 per cent of the vote or who spend more than $25,000.

Cash contributions of $500 or more will be prohibited.

Reagan also signed these bills:

Women—Prohibits businesses from discriminating because of sex and allows women to keep their credit if they divorce or their husbands die. (AB312— Waxman)

Oil—Requires oil companies to screen, cover or drain oil sumps that kill an estimated 150,000 waterfowl annually when they land thinking it is water. (AB2209—Karabian, D-Monterey Park)

Drunks—Restricts the authority of judges to dismiss a prior conviction when a drunken motorist is found guilty of a second offense. The second conviction now carries a mandatory five-day jail term but judges are reluctant to impose it. The sentence will be reduced to 48 hours. Judges threw out more than 25,000 prior convictions last year. (SB1264 — Deukmejian, R-Long Beach)

Safety — Overhauls industrial safety laws and provides tougher penalties for employers whose negligence results in a worker's death. (AB150—Fenton, D-Montebello)

Injure — Increases maximum disability payments under workmen's compensation from $105 to $119 (AB750); shortens waiting period for receiving benefits (AB751); boosts death benefits to widows and dependent children (AB752. All by Fenton.)

Unemployment — Increases unemployment benefits from a maximum $75 to $90 a week. (AB580 — Deddeh, D-Chula Vista)

Pickups — Increases by $4.5 million annually the motor vehicle fees paid by approximately 300,000 owners of compact-size pickup trucks. (AB505—Foran, D-San Francisco)

Dealer—Permits auto dealers to protest and possibly block Detroit car manufacturers from granting franchises to nearby rivals. (AB225 — Gonsalves, D-La Mirada)

Beer—Allows beer containers to have only 11 ½ ounces when the labels state the contents at 12 ounces. (AB87 — Chappie, R-Chico)

Gym — Abolishes state-required physical education classes at community colleges. (AB1116 — Cory, D-Garden Grove)

Legislature — Requires all meetings of the Senate, Assembly and their committees, subcommittees and conference committees to be open to the public. (SB278—Grunsky, R-Watsonville)

Bay—Subjects violators of Bay Area Air Pollution Control District regulations to $500 fines. A court had ruled the district lacked this authority. (AB831—McAlister, D-San Jose)

Horse — Grants the State Horse Racing Board exclusive authority to set racing dates. (AB1324—Ralph, D-Los Angeles)

Love—Makes it a crime to possess the so-called love drug methaqualone without a prescription (AB2500-Fenton)

Transit—Allows voters to impose a one-cent sales tax increase in the Southern California Rapid Transit District. (AB1727 — Gonsalves, D-La Mirada)

Water—Places a $250 million bond issue for water quality control projects on the June, 1974 state ballot. (AB161— McCarthy, D-San Francisco)

Deaf—Appropriates $1 million for construction of a new school for the blind and a new Northern California school for the deaf. (SB1120—Grunsky)

Park—Appropriates $7.6 million for acquisition of land between Newport Beach and Laguna Beach for the state park system. (SB1089 — Carpenter, (R-Newport Beach)

Smokers —Requires commercial airlines and trains to prominently display notices advising passengers of space set aside for non-smokers. (AB1112—Mills, D-San Diego)

Transit—Orders the Southern California Rapid Transit District to inform the legislature by Jan. 10 what its plans are for implementing and financing a rapid transit system. (SB205—Walsh, D-Huntington Park)

Town will beg winners to accept posts

ROOPEVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — There'll be another write-in municipal election in this West Georgia crossroads next Wednesday—maybe.

Nobody wants to run for mayor and town council so city clerk Ralph Huff is passing out blank forms to the eligible voters among the 240 citizens.

Huff said he hopes the voters will write in the names of their choices for the jobs and "then we'll go to the winners and beg them to accept'.'

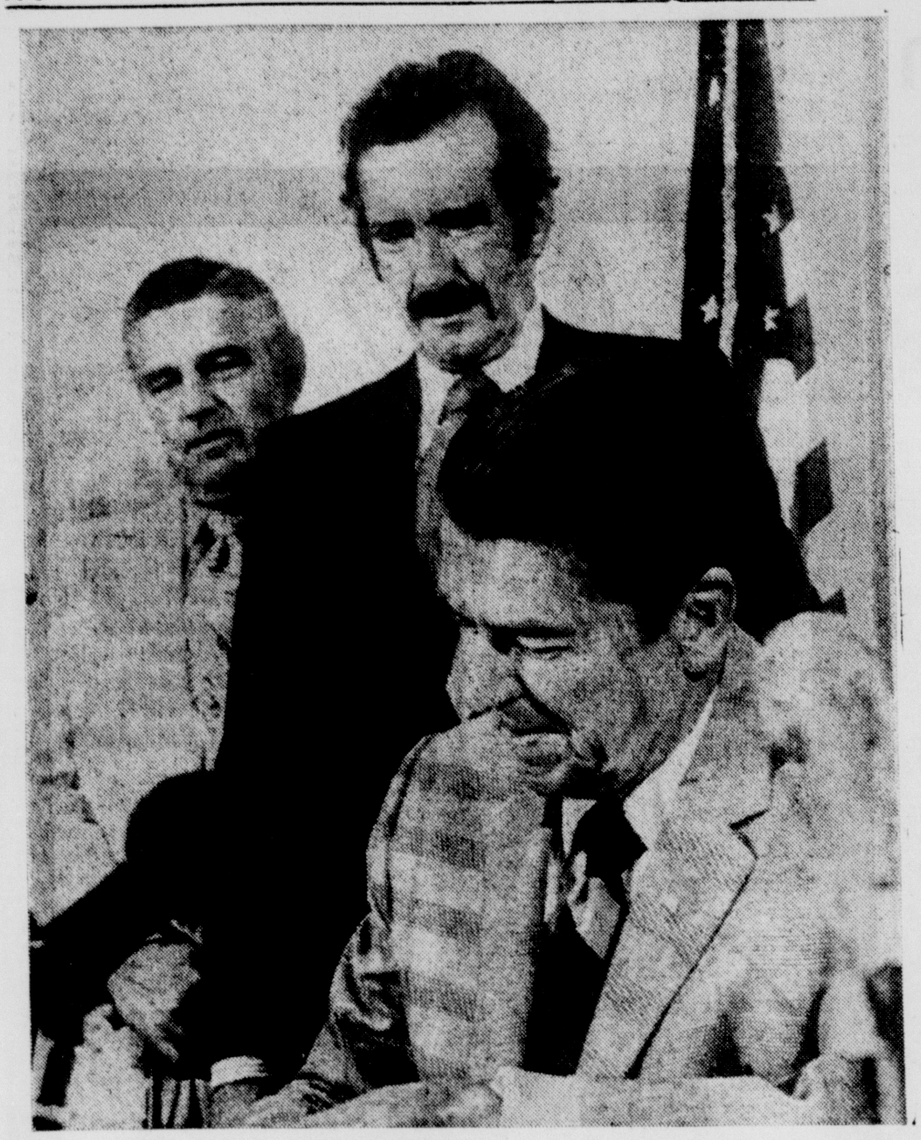

It's a sad sate of affairs but Huff said it's "explainable: The mayor and the councilmen don't get paid. Nobody really wants the job."

INDUSTRIAL SAFETY BILL SIGNED — Gov. Ronald Reagan signs measure setting up system of fines for safety violators and establish bureau to investigate accidents and upgrade education and research efforts. With Reagan are Assemblyman Jack Fenton, bill's author, and James S. Lee, left, president of the state Building and Construction Trades Council.

Unemployed, disabled gain under new bills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Benefits for thousands of unemployed and disabled workers will be boosted under a $100 million legislative package signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan Tuesday also signed a bill overhauling the state's industrial safety laws, but he vetoed a Cesar Chavez-supported measure extending unemployment benefits to California's 225,000 farm workers.

John F. Henning, head of the California Federation of labor, AFO-CIO, today praised the action on the workers' benefits bills.

He declared that within the last two years, Reagan has signed social insurance bills increasing benefits by $266 million.

"No governor—Republican or Democrat—in the history of the state has ever done anything like that," Henning said.

One bill signed by Reagan increases unemployment benefits for the second time in three years. The measure (AB580) by Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, boosts the maximum weekly payments from $75 to $90.

The measure will cost employers about $50 million annually.

In vetoing the farm labor bill for the third year in a row, Reagan said it "would have the effect of increasing food prices for California consumers."

Reagan said he is urging enactment of federal legislation providing unemployment benefits to farm workers.

The vetoed bill (AB255) by Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, D-Montebello, was supported by Cesar Chavez and would have affected an estimated $225,000 farm workers.

Reagan, however, signed three other bills (AB750-2) by Fenton improving benefits available to workers injured on the job.

One increases maximum disability payments under workmen's compensation from $105 weekly to $119. The others shorten waiting periods before receiving benefits and boost the size of death benefits to widows and dependent children.

The package will cost an estimated $37 million and will be paid by employers.

Another bill (AB809) by Deddeh provides for disability payments to a woman worker if she becomes disabled as the result of an "abnormal" pregnancy. THE $11.3 million cost of the measure will be borne by employes.

Fenton's industrial safety bill allows felony charges to be brought against employers whose negligence results in the death of an employe. Currently felony charges cannot be brought until a second death results from negligence.

The measure, which grew out of the 1971 Sylmar tunnel disaster, also sets up a system of fines and inspections.

A labor bill (AB478) by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, extending to men certain regulations concerning hours and working conditions for women was also signed by Reagan.

Bill gives women equal credit rights

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill designed to end discriminatory credit practices against California women was signed Tuesday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The measure (AB312) by Assemblyman Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles, was aimed at eliminating practices which prevent women from receiving credit solely because of their sex or marital status. It takes effect Jan. 1.

Currently, because men are the legal head of a household and have control of the property, women can lose their credit when they marry, divorce or when their husbands die. While married, they frequently must obtain their husbands' signatures before obtaining loans or credit cards.

Waxman said his measure "will equalize the ability of women to obtain credit in their own name and provide for court action where discrimination persists."

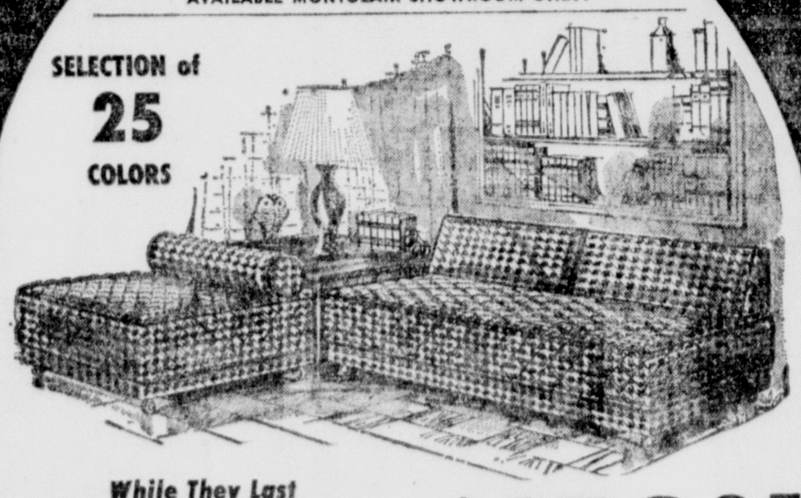

Under the measure, one-half of the assets jointly held by husband and wife will be liable for her debts. Additionally, women will be allowed to receive credit in their own name on the same basis as men.

How fuel allocation will work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What mandatory fuel allocation is and how it will work:

Q. What does it mean?

A. It means the federal government is telling suppliers they must provide certain amounts of the fuels to particular geographic areas and types of customers that need them, instead of simply selling to the most profitable markets.

Q. Is that rationing?

A. The administration says "rationing" means controlling distribution at the consumer level, which is not presently planned.

Q. What brought allocation?

A. The prospect that supplies in a free market would not cover all the needs this winter, such as propane to dry crops and heating oil to keep homes warm.

A. How did the shortage happen?

A. The administration says demand has soared. Some users of other fuels have switched to propane and heating oil for various reasons, such as clean air requirements or shortages of other fuels.

Q. How long will allocation last?

A. Presidential adviser John A. Love says he was reluctant to recommend allocation, so he wants it to last only through any potential emergency, perhaps only this winter.

Q. Will allocation stop at propane and heating oils?

A. Perhaps not. The Senate has passed a broad allocation bill and the House is considering one. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said the control system would be used to allocate gasoline supplies next summer but so far there is no plan to do so.

Q. What was tried earlier instead of allocation?

A. A voluntary plan urging suppliers to keep fuels flowing to the neediest areas. Love said that was only partially successful.

Q. What geographic areas need the fuels the most?

A. The Midwest farm areas for propane for crop drying, and the Northeast areas for home heating oils.

Fuel allocation: did Nixon wait too long to step in?

By WILLIAM CLAYTON

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In an effort to see that no home goes cold and no farmer loses crops for lack of fuel, the Nixon administration has stepped in to control the distribution of propane and home heating oil, at least for this winter.

It said the decision was made reluctantly.

"While this administration remains committed to the ideas of maximum freedom in the private sector, it is our conclusion that a mandatory allocation system is necessary and appropriate on a short-term basis," John A. Love, President Nixon's chief energy adviser, said Tuesday in announcing the program.

He and Nixon got praise for doing it, but criticism for waiting this long.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., called it "the only measure that could be taken to save New England from a disastrous fuel shortage this winter,' but accused the aministration of "five months of fiddling around" before taking the step.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who sponsored a much more general fuels allocation bill which the Senate has approved, said the administration action was "a beginning" but that other fuels including gasoline should be included.

Nixon signed an executive order to impose controls immediately on propane and on home heating oils in two or three weeks.

Under the system, wholesalers and producers will be required to distribute supplies to geographic areas and categories of customers according to a list of priorities. Propane is used by farmers to dry crops and by rural homeowners to provide heat. Industry also uses it, and the administration feared industrial firms would use up all of the scarce supplies.

The administration's priority list for propane, from top to bottom, includes residences, farms, food processing, mass transit, medical facilities, industrial vehicles that depend on propane, essential government services, oil and gas well drilling, and fuel production operations.

Similar priorities for home heating oil, presumably designed to include adequate wholesale supplies for the fuel-short Northeast, are expected to be announced next week.

The administration calls the system "mandatory allocation" rather than "rationing." It says the latter implies controls at the consumer level, which is not now planned. The President's order covers "middle distillate" oils, which would also include Diesel oil, kerosene and jet aviation fuels, but there was no immediate word if or when these might be subject to active controls also.

In Philadelphia, the Sun Oil Co. announced it has raised its price for home heating oil by three cents per gallon. Company officials said the price increase on No. 2 home heating oil went into effect Monday and was in accordance with Phase 4 regulations of the Cost of Living Council.

Compact pickup fees up; standard pickup, wagon fees lowered

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan provided good news today for the $4.5 million worth of bad news for owners of compact pickups.

For 1.6 million California station wagon owners, the annual vehicle registration fee will be cut back by $1. Owners of approximately 1.1 million standard-size pickups with commercial license plates will pay $2 less in fees.

But for an estimated 300,000 owners of compact pickups—such as Datsuns and Toyotas— an extra $14 "weight" fee will be added to the basic registration fee.

And, owners of standard-size pickups no longer will be able to register them as passenger cars even if they don't haul property. These drivers will be required to pay a $15 fee the same as owners of so-called commercial pickup trucks.

The new fee schedule is contained in legislation by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, which Reagan signed Tuesday. It takes effect Dec. 1, start of the 1974 registration year.

Station wagon owners long have paid a dollar more than owners of other passenger cars when registering their vehicles. The legislation abolishes the fee and station wagons no longer will be classified as "semi commercial vehicles."

Many owners of standard-size pickups weighing 3,001-4,000 pounds have paid a $17 commercial weight fee on top of the basic registration fee. They now will pay a $15 fee established for all "commercially designed" trucks weighing less than 4,000 pounds, including compacts.

Previously, compact owners could register their pickups as passenger cars and avoid the commercial weight fee. So could owners of standard pickups who promised never to haul commercial cargo.

These latter drivers, however, could be cited by the Highway Patrol, if, for example, they merely moved a load of household furniture on a weekend.

Under the new law, virtually any vehicle designed as a commercial vehicle must pay the commercial fee and will be issued a new license plate. An exception is provided for a pickup with a permanently attached camper, which is then classified as a "housecar" and not subject to the fee.

Similarly, vans fitted out as campers also are registered as passenger cars.

The state Department of Motor Vehicles is preparing a special renewal notice that will alert compact pickup owners of their new commercial status. These will be included in mail egistration renewal bills.

In addition, the legislation will require commercial vehicles weighing in excess of 5,000 pounds to pay a 30 per cent fee increase. This will produce about $20 million and help offset a loss of $24 million in revenue which occurred when the 1972 legislature abolished the cross receipts tax on heavy trucks.

Poverty diet costs solon six pounds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., looking gaunt and weighing six pounds less than his normal 180 pounds, said today he was glad he had gone a $1.25-a-day poverty diet and suggested that "sleek bureaucrats" try it too.

"I'm very glad I did it," Tunney said. "It's one of the best things I've done. I've never been hungry before, and unless you've done it you can't know what it's like."

Tunney went on the diet after an elderly woman living on a $1.25-a-day food budget challenged him to do so during Senate Commerce Committee hearings on the impact of high food prices on California consumers.

Tunney, with two days still to go on the two-week self-imposed diet, described its effects at a news conference at which he announced he would introduce two bills aimed at stabilizing food prices.

One bill, he said, would require the Commerce Department to report on the impact of food exports on domestic supplies. The other seeks stricter enforcement of price controls.

The 39-year-old senator said his diet, worked out by a nutritionist to provide blanced if skimpy meals, was "nothing" compared to what the elderly and other poor had to live on year in and year out.

But he added that if Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, President Nixon's economy advisers and "other sleek bureaucrats' were to try such a diet "maybe they wouldn't be so anxious to cut back, for instance, on the school lunch program."

Tunney, who said he had "lived faithfully' by the diet, said he found it had sapped his energy, made him irritable, and left him "hungry all the time.'

Southerners see major role in U.S.

By JACK WILKINSON

ATLANTA (UPI) —One message came through loud and clear at last week's Southern Governors Conference: The South no longer is perched on the periphery of the nation's political spectrum.

In fact, the governors were told, the South has risen to such a degree that both major parties are looking to it for leadership; the so-called 'stepchild' may now be the heir apparent.

"We in the South can take the leadership role in shaping the political structure and attitudes of our nation," Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter said.

The rest of the country, he said, has come to realize that "our people epitomize the political hopes and dreams, aspirations and philosophy of the future."

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, the conference host, quickly seconded that assertion. It's a song he's heard before.

"I've been saying for a long time that someday they were going to discover our great region . . . and find that all along, our people have been in the mainstream of American political thought. They haven't been on the outside."

Average viewpoint

The Alabama governor said he discovered in his presidential campaign of 1972, cut short in Maryland by an assailant's bullet, that "the average viewpoint of the average citizen in the South was the same as in the rest of the United States.

"I made the same speech in Marquette, Mich.,that I did in Jemison, Ala.," Wallace said.

"I wanted to make sure," Carter said, "that the conference understood the tremendous and very startling degree with which the national parties are turning to the South.

"Without any concerted effort, leadership roles in the national Democratic and Republican parties in the last couple of years have been channeled remarkably, almost exclusively, to the states represented in the Southern Governors Conference."

Impressive list

The list is impressive. The national chairmen of the two parties, Democrat Robert Strauss and Republican George Bush, are both from Texas. The senatorial campaign committees, aiming for the 1974 elections, are headed by Sens. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., and Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex. The two segments of the National Governors Conference are led by Democratic Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky, who succeded Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, and republican Gov. Winfield Dunn of Tennessee, replacing Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia.

Carter is chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, overseeing his party's 1974 state and national races. The chairman of the Democratic Charter Commission and the top man on the delegate selection committee are southerners. The Young Democrats and Young Republicans are led by, respectively, a Louisianan and a Floridian.

"We have a good opportunity," Carter said, "to take advantage of this recognition from the rest of the nation."

Teacher groups oppose Reagan's tax initiative

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A coalition of teachers' groups and other associations has been formed to "take to the streets" in opposition to Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax limitation initiative.

Organizer Joy Picus said Tuesday the coalition includes the Classroom Teachers of Los Angeles, the Los Angeles College Teachers Association, the California Housing Coalition and other groups.

Mrs. Picus said the group will conduct marches throughout Southern California to urge voters to reject the proposal, which will appear as Proposition I on the Nov. 6 special election ballot.

"We feel the measure would bring a tax shift—a shift from income taxes to sales and property taxes, which are regressive and would hit lower income people much harder," Mrs. Picus said.

Pregnant teachers defended by U.S. in court case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — School systems are prohibited under the Constitution's equal protection provisions from requiring pregnant teachers to resign or take naternity leave at arbitrarily designated times, the Justice Department contended in a Supreme Court document Tuesday..

The department filed a third-party brief in two cases involving teachers who were forced to leave their jobs midway through their pregnancies. The high court recently agreed to hear the cases later this month. They involve the Cleveland, Ohio, and Chesterfield County, Va., school boards

The government said such requirements for pregnant teachers violate thee qual protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution as well as the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the 1972 Equal Employment Opportunity Act barring sex discrimination.

Former USC dean in federal post

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, 69, former dean of the University of Southern California Medical School, was named Tuesday as interim head of the newly created federal Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinbergr announced the appointment in a speech to the San Francisco Association on Mental Health.

Egeberg, Weinberger's special assistant on health policy, joined the Nixon Administration in 1969 as an assistant HEW secretary.

Earthquake rocks San Francisco area

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Bay Area was rocked by an earthquake Wednesday, which resulted in hundreds of phone calls to police but no immediate reports of damage or injury.

The quake was most sharply felt in the Sunset District of San Francisco, where residents reported two distinct jolts around 3:07 a.m. Pacific time.

The temblor was felt as far south as Gilroy, but deputies said it seemed to have hit "selective" areas in the south Santa Clara County region.

Spaceman's daughter marks 7th birthday

HOUSTON (UPI) —Linda Garriott celebrated a belated seventh birthday Tuesday with her father, Skylab 2 astronaut Owen K. Garriott, who recently returned from a two-month stay in space.

"I got a piggyback ride when he got back," the blonde youngster said after the first prolonged visit their children were allowed with the returned astronauts.

The astronauts had been kept in semi-isolation since their return, to protect them from common earth diseases.

Singer's wife is granted divorce

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Lana Jean Rawls, 31, was granted a divorce Tuesday from singer Lou Rawls, 39, ending 11 years of marriage.

Rawls was ordered to pay her $1,650 a month, and they will share custody of their children, Lou Jr. 5, and Luanna, 9.

Bonnie Prince Charley's girl?

LONDON (UPI) —The latest rumor in the British newspapers is that Rosie Clifton, a 20-year-old, dark haired beauty, is Prince Charles' new flame.

She spent the weekend visiting the Prince of Wales and the royal family at Balmoral castle in Scotland, but a spokesman, when asked to comment, said, "Young people come and go at Balmoral and she has been one of them. We shall be hearing these rumors until he marries."

Miss Clifton, the daughter of one of Queen Elizabeth's bodyguards, works as a negotiator for a London real estate firm. "We do not know anything about a romance with Prince Charles," her mother said.

Blues singer is 'humane' Ph.D.

TOUGALOO, Miss. (UPI) — Tougaloo College Sunday awarded B.B. King, the blues singer, with a doctorate of humane letters degree during ceremonies to mark its 105th founders day.

The Mississippi native said he would "like to think of myself when I first started out in the music world as a little boy who was turned loose in the wilderness and who did not know which way to go and figured that there should be somewhere to go to get out of this thickness."

He said being "a blues singer and a black blues singer is like being black twice."

Cadet is hissed at graduation rite

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Lt. James J. Pelosi, a West Point cadet who was "silenced" during his last two years at the Army school, was hissed during graduation ceremonies after completing eight weeks of basic infantry officers training.

Pelosi, a native of West Hempstead, N.Y., was subjected to "the silence," a now outlawed disciplinary snubbing from the beginning of his junior year until graduation this June.

A Ft. Benning spokesman said Tuesday he believed that most of the 308 officers receiving diplomas at Monday's ceremony were West Point graduates.

A cadet honor committee found Pelosi guilty of completing an answer to a quiz after the order had been given to stop writing. He denied this and produced witnesses on his behalf, but although the conviction was reversed, "the silence" was imposed by fellow cadets.

Soviets launch eight sputniks on 1 rocket

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet Union launched eight unmanned Sputniks into earth orbit aboard a single rocket today, its seventh "shotgun" satellite launch since 1970, the Tass news agency said.

Western military experts said such shots may be linked with development of missiles with multiple warheads. The U.S. Defense Department said in August that the Soviets had tested such missiles, which are known in military jargon as MIRVs.

The last such Soviet "shotgun" launching was in June.

Tass said the satellites launched today are orbiting the earth every hour and 55 minutes at an angle of 74 degrees.

Nixon 'nominates' worship minister

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has invited Republican Congresman William Hudnut of Indiana, an ordained Presbyterian minister, to conduct the first White House worship services in six months on Oct. 14.

The President had originally planned to have the service in the East Room on Oct. 7 but it was learned Wednesday he postponed it a week to enable government dignitaries and other prospective guests to enjoy a three-day weekend over the Columbus Day holiday.

Nixon last attended a worship service on Easter Sunday, April 22, at the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church.

Prince in drive to save tigers

THE HAGUE (UPI) —Prince Bernhard said a worldwide campaign would start next month aimed at preventing tigers from becoming extinct.

The prince, president of the World Wildlife Fund, said the conservation organization hoped to raise $1 million through donations to the campaign in various countries.

Skelton announces plans to wed again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Comedian Red Skelton has disclosed that he plans to wed Lothian Toland, a Palm Springs, Calif., sportswoman.

Skelton, 60, who is performing at a hotel nightclub here, said the marriage will take place "in the next few days."

He was recently divorced from Georgia Skelton, his wife of 28 years.

PSA gets OK to hike fare on 'special'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Public Utilities Commission permitted Pacific Southwest Airlines on Tuesday to boost the fares on its "Midnight Flyer."

Effective Oct. 7 it will cost $6.48 instead of $5 to fly the "Flyer" between San Diego and Los Angeles or between San Francisco and Sacramento.

Between San Diego and Sacramento the price will be $15.74 instead of $14; between Los Angeles and San Francisco it will be $11.11 instead of $10; and between Los Angeles and Sacramento it will be $13.89 instead of $12.

Claremont Council backs commercial zone

CLAREMONT — Members of the City Council and the Panning Commission Tuesday night unanimously reaffirmed their support of the city's General Plan as it pertains to major commercial zoning west of Padua Avenue and north of Foothill Boulevard.

Former Planning Commission Chairman James Norris said during the joint study session that he felt the vote was unnecessary, because the votes of both bodies are on record.

But Mayor Craig McManigal without naming the Local Agencies Formation Commission (LAFCO) said that certain governmental agencies are concerned that voting of the council was not unanimous on pre-zoning of 40 acres of the 52-acre Stover annexation north of Foothill Boulevard.

LAFCO last Thursday continued for six weeks a hearing on the proposed annexation, after two property owners protested.

The council's vote last Tuesday in prezoning the major part of the 40 acres east of the Clarion Place-Rockford Drive neighborhood as major commercial was 3-1 with Councilwoman Claire McDonald dissenting.

The city's General Plan calls for a major regional shopping center to be reached by Aurora Drive.

Mayor Craig McManigal Tuesday night said that he's not convinced that the Foothill Freeway will be built.

"How long can we wait to see if a commercial establishment will be built on those 40 acres?" McManigal asked.

Councilman Frank Hungerford forecast that if the freeway is built, there'll be a battle between Upland and Claremont to develop a shopping center near the freeway.

Commissioner Bill McLaughlin said the city tries to zone land in concert with the freeway.

Commissioner Richard Newton said he felt that commercial in the Grand Avenue-Claremont Boulevard-Padua Avenue area could be appropriate whether the freeway is built or not.

Chamber general manager Alex Turner, speaking for an ailing Chamber President Gordon Curtis, said that the Chamber of Commerce has "fought tooth-and-nail to hang onto the commercial zoning within its sphere of influence."

"The Foothill Freeway is not such a long-range project as some people wishfully might think," Turner said. "My guess is that it will be here in 5 or 6 years."

"It seems this group is of a general mind," said Councilwoman McDonald.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE INVITING BIDS FOR CASH CONTRACT NO. 4175 PARKWAY TREE PROJECT NO. 10

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, in Room 383 of the Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple Street, Los Angeles, California, 90012, until 9:00 o'clock A.M. on October 23, 1973, on which date they will be publicly opened and read, for the planting of trees and the furnishing and placing of tree well covers together with non-metallic pipe, concrete removal, cast in place porous concrete and other incidental and appurtenant work, including plant maintenance. This work will be authorized by the County at intervals during the contractual period by means of several "Notices to Plant". Said notices will be issued for planting of twenty (20) or more trees. This project is estimated to cost less than $22,000.00, all in accordance with the provisions of the Plans and Specifications and Instructions to Bidders therefor which are filed in Room 383.

Proposal must be submitted on forms prepared and furnished for the purpose, which may be obtained at the Information Desk in the lobby of the Los Angeles County Road Department Administration Building, 1540 Alcazar Street, Los Angeles, California 90033 at which office bidders may also purchase copies of the Plans and Specifications for the contemplated work for the price of $7.14 plus Sales Tax per set, not refundable. A mail address and a phone number must be left at the aforementioned office which the prospective bidder agrees is sufficient to reach him.

Each submitted proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, or a surety bond, payable to the County of Los Angeles in an amount equivalent to at least ten (10) percent of the total aggregate bid price of such proposal, as a guaranty that the bidder, if his proposal be accepted, will enter into and execute the awarded contract, and furnish the required bonds in connection therewith, in accordance with the terms of the aforementioned Specifications and Instructions to Bidders. In the event that a surety bond is submitted in lieu of a check, it shall be subject to the condition that the surety thereon be approved by the County Auditor and County Counsel.

The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive technical errors and discrepancies, if to do so seems to best serve the interests of the County.

Pursuant to the provisions of Sections 1770 to 1777, inclusive, of the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the proposed contract, and it will be required that not less than said rates be paid to all such workmen employed or engaged on the work. Complete wage rate schedules are on file at the offices of the Board of Supervisors and the County Road Department and are included in the contract specifications available at the Road Department.

The rate of compensation for any classification not listed in the schedule, but which may be required to execute the proposed contract, shall be commensurate and in accord with the rates specified for similar or comparable classifications or for those performing similar or comparable duties.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS: Bidders must satisfy themselves by personal examination of location of the proposed work and by such other means as they may prefer as to the actual conditions and requirements of the work, and shall not at any time after submission of the bid dispute, complain, or assert that there was any misunderstanding in regard to the nature or amount of work to be done. The contractor to whom this contract is awarded will be required, before execution of the contract by the County Board of Supervisors, to file with the County Board of Supervisors surety bonds as follows:

"A Faithful Performance Bond" amounting to 100% of the total contract price is required for all contracts.

A "Payment Bond" (labor and material) amounting to 50% of the total contract price is required for all contracts which have a total contract price in excess of $10,000.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

Yablonski's ghost adds new victim

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (UPI) —Bill Turnblazer had often driven over the twisting mountain road, passing the shady battlefield of a bloody-mid 1940s labor dispute on his way to buy beer in Tennessee.

Toward sundown each day, the frame building at a wide spot in the narrow, blacktop road becomes a mecca for the thirsty from suds-dry Bell County, Ky. Turnblazer loaded a case in his car every two weeks.

Four years ago, however, the visits paid by the mild mannered president of District 19, United Mine Workers of America, to the beer store at Fork Ridge became less frequent.

When he did stop by, his face appeared drained with worry. He no longer cared to chat about the football prospects of his alma mater, the University of Tennessee.

"He just wasn't the same," said Sherman Poore, who operated the store for seven years, as he shook his head. "We just didn't know what was wrong with him."

Then, three weeks ago, this reserved man with the whisper soft voice, who was "liked by just about everybody," confessed to his part in one of the most sensational crimes to touch organized labor.

The cancer of the Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski murder case had claimed another victim. Turnblazer then implicated former UMW President W.A. "Tony" Boyle as having masterminded the plot.

This town of 12,000 nestled in picturesque eastern Kentucky and sandwiched between the coal fields of Tennessee, Virginia and Kentucky was stunned. "You couldn't of had a finer man in the community than Bill Turnblazer," said Mayor Chester Wolfe.

It was the second bitter dose for the town. Last spring, another District 19 official, Albert Pass, was convicted of first-degree murder as the dominoes continued to fall in the case.

Last week, the friendly people who buy sodas at Yaakums' Drugs, who purchase furniture from Dewey Morgan, who down draughts at the Holiday Inn in nearby Cumberland Gap, Tenn., were asking "Why?"

Why would a lawyer such as Turnblazer, who fought to get black lung benefits for the miners, be involved in murder? Why would this Elks Club member, "who raised three fine boys,' help plot the slaying of union insurgent Yablonski?

"This is just my opinion you understand,' prefaced retired coal miner Joe Norton, "but if Bill hadn't gone along with it he might be where Yablonski is now.

"Why, I've known Bill since he was a little boy," continued Norton, a union man since 1917 who vividly recalls the violence between coal bosses and unions in the 1930s and 40s. "Pass was the radical type, but not Bill Turnblazer."

As a youth, Turnblazer grew up going to UMW conventions while other boys were busy showing off their pride calves at 4-H gatherings. His father was president of District 19 when three coal company men and one union man were chopped down by gunfire on the road to Fork Ridge.

When Yablonski, his wife and daughter were gunned down by convicted triggermen Paul Gilly, Aubran Martin and Claude Vealey in Clarksville, Pa., this mining headquarters read the accounts with interest.

"But we didn't have any idea it would come so close to home," said Edith Roark, a clerk at District 19 for 24 years.

"He was running for reelection unopposed," she gushed. "The miners were behind him 100 per cent. We were all shocked."

Even though Turnblazer, 52, has pleaded guilty to the federal charge of conspiracy to violate Yablonski's rights and has been charged with murder by the state of Pennsylvania, the general feeling here is that he was the victim of circumstances.

"He was a genuine help to the active and retired miners," said furniture dealer Morgan as he downed a cold beer in the Holiday Inn lounge. "If ever a man was corrupted by a system, Bill was."

TWO SONS READY FOR ADOPTION

By CHARLOTTE LOBB

Wayne, age 4, looks like a miniature football player. He is stocky with broad shoulders and loves the rough play of football or big wheels.

His 18-month-old half brother Chris is a quiet, easy going child who likes to have his brother wait on him.

Both boys need an adoptive home that could appreciate them as individuals.

Wayne needs plenty of attention. He can not quite understand yet that his mother is dead.

He has done well in nursery school. He is cooperative with the teachers and a fun playmate for his new friends.

Chris is advanced in his overall development but with his brother to translate his needs he has not learned to talk as well as he might. The adoptive parents will have to encourage him to speak for himself.

Both boys should move easily into a permanent home. The new parents should have average expectation for the brothers. Other children in the family would be acceptable.

To add two sons to your family call County of Los Angeles Department of Adoptions, 338-8461 and ask for Mrs. Margaret Sikkens, Ext. 271.

LOOKING FOR A HOME — These two brothers, one 4, and the other, 18 months, are available for adoption. Contact the county department of adoptions.

Just $80,000

Private world for someone special

DALLAS (UPI) —Looking for something special for that man in your life? Give him his own private world. It's only $80,000, not counting extras, and its shaped like an egg.

Neiman Marcus, which in past Christmas catalogs has featured such things as Indian elephants and Chinese Junks, this year gives you "this most sought-after and elusive of all commodities ... a private world designed to your needs and specifications —a contemplative environment totally your own."

The 1973 catalog has other goodies for the 1973 Christmas. A giant 36" terrarium goes for $325 and a "modular gym candy" built from nine separate interlocking fiberglass cubes goes for $850 plus tax.

This year's "His and Hers" gift is matching Greek urns that come with a certificate of authenticity that claims they were unearthed in southern Italy in the mid 4th Century, B.C. The cost is $5,000.

This follows in a long line of His and Her Christmas gifts offered by the speciality store— his and her airplanes, his and her submarines, his and her camels and his and her Egyptian mummies.

But the prize of this year's catalog is the egg. The catalog describes it this way:

"Once built, in the area of your choice, the only entry to your world is effected by the insertion of a special Sterling card into the entry slot. The card is notched only for you and is designed to be carried on key or neckchain.

"Within your world, you relax in an atmosphere psychologically fitted to help you accomplish peak mental and personal potential. Individual needs are determined after your in-depth interview with the designers.

"Each person's 'world' is as unique as he or she. Colors, equipment, accessories—all are as variable as a person. Basically, whatever else goes into your world, the dimensions are 12' x 15', with sliding panels to permit a one-way view of either the actual outside world, or superimposed film of your choice of location."

Big advantage of transfer

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One advantage of the Jacoby transfer bid is that it lets the man with the opening no-trump play the hand. Sometimes it makes no difference who plays the hand. Once in a while it actually turns out that the big hand does better as dummy but for every one of those instances there are several when getting the play into the no-trump hand pays a dividend.

North's two-heart call was the Jacoby transfer. His next bid—three diamond—was a force to game. South's four-club bid showed the ace of that suit and slam interest. He only held 16 high card points but they looked gilt-edge.

North's four-diamond bid confirmed that he held a real two-suiter and South's four hearts was further slam try.

This was enough for North. He Blackwooded to check for aces and went to six spades after his partner showed three.

After the club lead South was actually able to make seven since he drew trumps and discarded his two hearts on dummy's long diamonds.

Could South make six no-trump? No. There are only 11 tricks at no-trump, unless a heart is opened.

Could North make six spades? No. That is, no if East opens hearts. Otherwise, he would do all right.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The largest pyramid monument constructed by man is Quetzalcoatl located 63 miles southeast of Mexico City. The pyramid's base covers an area of about 45 acres and has a volume estimated at 4,300,000 cubic yards which is nearly a million cubic yards greater than Egypt's Pyramid of Cheops, The World Almanac notes.

Evangelist deals in 'gray market' for adoptions

HOUSTON (UPI) —The Houston Post in its Sunday edition outlined what the newspaper called evangelist Lester Roloff's method of giving the children of unwed mothers in adoption to his religious followers without having a license as an adoption agency.

The system was called a "gray market" in babies by the newspaper, indicating it was within the strict limits of the law.

Roloff has been told by officials in Georgia and Texas that he could not continue as an adoption agency in those states, and Roloff indicated he would stop. However, the Post said he merely shifted his operation to circumvent the state's regulations.

The newspaper said Roloff charges hospital and attorney fees, and that parents often give "love gifts" to Roloff Enterprises.

The South Texas evangelist and his organization own the Rebekah Home for Girls in Corpus Christi, the facility where the newspaper said the unwed mothers live. That home and two other child care centers owned by Roloff Enterprises have lost legal battles with Texas and will shut down if not granted licenses as child care centers.

Officials of Roloff Enterprises or the Rebekah Home were not available for comment Saturday.

The Post said Roloff, when informed that he could not operate maternity homes in Texas or Georgia, set up homes for unwed mothers in Marion, Kan., and Hattiesburg, Miss., and channeled babies back into Texas through them.

The Post said an unwed mother —the newspaper used a specific, but unidentified, example —was sent from Rebekah Home to the Bethesda Home in Hattiesburg.

"When the baby was born at Forest General Hospital in August," the Post said, "it was picked up by a Houston couple who had received Roloff's approval to take it.

"The child was brought into Texas without the knowledge of the Welfare Department and without posting $1,000 bond required by law to show ability to support a child and to prevent bringing in children for labor."

The newspaper said the couple and the child and the unwed mother live near each other in Houston.

Of 16 babies born to girls in Roloff's Hattiesburg home from early spring to the middle of September, three have been placed in Texas, one each in Houston, San Antonio and Bowie, and others have gone to families of the religious group in Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Ohio, India, [illegible] and Louisiana, the paper said.

Two adoptive mothers said Roloff's requirements for stepparents were that the families be "born again Christians" and they not smoke or drink.

Roloff supporters are fundamentalists who believe in a literal interpretation of the Bible, accepting a living Jesus Christ as a personal savior and a devil who can take possession of bodies and souls. The group has said welfare departments' laws about children are "unChristian" in intent and prevent religious freedom.

An adoptive mother in North Texas told the Post that Roloff, who has headquarters in Corpus Christi, "said he has a waiting list of 200 families, but he waived it for us because we had adopted a baby from the Rebekah home two years ago.'

She said the couple paid fees of $675 and also gave "love gifts' for Roloff's ministry. Her husband, a peace officer, said the gift was not a "payment."

County will deny lighted billboards

LOSANGELES (UPI) —The county government will deny permits for lighted billboards and is looking into an emergency law to shut off all neon signs when power blackouts loom.

The Board of Supervisors Tuesday ordered an emergency ordinance drawn up to be available in case of a power crisis.

It would order the shutting off neon signs on restaurants, stores, gas stations, shopping centers and other commercial establishments.

It would also shut off natural gas fueled torches and fire-pits of restaurants.

These are "luxuries that cannot be afforded when some officials are suggesting night football games be stopped and Christmas lights be turned out because of the energy crisis," said Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

The county engineer was instructed to make an emergency report on how to cut down the allowable size of neon signs.

The regional planning commission was instructed to deny all requests for permits for lighted billboards.

The controls would apply to unincorporated areas of the county.

Here's scoreboard on Reagan vetoes

SACRAMENTO — (UPI) —Here is a scoreboard of bills vetoed outright by Gov. Ronald Reagan in his nearly seven years in office:

1973	171	1969	79
1972	168	1968	59
1971	159	1967	83
1970	77

The record for vetoing legislation is believed by Senate attaches who researched the question to have been held by Gov. Friend W. Richardson who vetoed 529 bills in 1925.

Phone company takes steps to conserve energy

Adoption of energy-saving measures to help offset expected cutbacks in fuel and electric power supplies was announced by General Telephone Co. today.

The measures call for the utility to reduce the amount of energy consumed daily and for a gradual replacement of most of the company's fleet with economy light trucks and compact cars.

Bill McNee, Pomona division manager, said the company's action comes as a direct result of a request to American industry by the U. S. secretary of commerce "to make every possible adjustment in fuel consumption to conserve energy sources."

It also comes in the wake of a series of proposed stop-gap regulations by the California Public Utilities Commission that would drastically curtail electrical use for advertising, billboards and commercial displays.

Under the adopted measures, General Telephone literally has "turned itself down." Without impeding safety and security requirements, thousands of lights have gone off.

The utility no longer illuminates its many building facades after sunset. The restriction of floodlighting will result in savings of as much as 100,000 kilowatts per building yearly. Employes also are being reminded to turn off lights after completing their work at certain locations, and lighting at eating and recreational areas has been limited.

In addition, studies are under way to determine if all hallway lights are necessary and if time clocks that automatically shut off electric-powered equipment after work hours are feasible.

"All measures to conserve the use of fuel are being exercised," said McNee, noting that the utility will not stop in its effort to minimize the energy crisis.

He added that General Telephone expects to save 1.7 million gallons of gasoline annually when the switch to smaller vehicles is completed. The utility, operator of the third largest nongovernmental fleet in the state, currently consumes about 3.5 million gallons yearly in running its 4,850 vehicles.

Other fuel also has been conserved by shutting off all boilers used for heating during the warm season, and adjusting thermostats in unoccupied areas to cut down on heating and air conditioning.

Eviction faces the Open Door; new office sought

POMONA — The Open Door is looking for a new door to open.

The crisis intervention and counseling service received its eviction notice Monday and must find a new location within 30 days.

Director John Hinze described the situation as "serious" but seemed optimistic that a new building would be found with no break in continuing service to the community.

"Ideally, we would like to find a five-bedroom house in the central Pomona area with office facilities, a group meeting room, and quarters for live-in staff and emergency housing for clients," he said.

At present, four live-in counselors share the facilities providing 24-hour phone coverage and supervision for emergency overnight placements.

The Open Door is currently seeking funding through local churches, community organizations and government grants.

The Open Door, now in its fourth year of operation, places primary emphasis on serving those 14 to 24, but extends its services to any individual in time of crisis or emergency.

Services and programs include a seven-day hotline for crisis (623-6017); individual counseling, suicide intervention, outreach programs, group rap sessions, juvenile diversion programs, a speakers bureau, public education nights, limited emergency housing, extensive referral service and emergency transportation.

The newest program of the center is a crisis intervention service entitled Project SISTER. (Sisters In Service To End Rape).

This service will provide assistance and information for the rape victim regarding medical, legal and police procedures, as well as individual counseling.

The center's present facilities at 1107 N. Gordon St. will be converted into a realty office.

Fire causes heavy loss to dwelling

POMONA — Fire swept through the kitchen and the attic at a house at 1010 W. Second St. Wednesday, causing an estimated $8,000 damage.

There were four persons—two of them children—inside the house at the time of the blaze, but no one was injured, according to Fire Marshal Tom Clark.

The fire started in a trash can in the kitchen, and was caused by children playing with matches, Clark said.

Clark said the two adults, who were not identified, were asleep when the fire started. The owners of the single-family dwelling, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Ontiveros, were not at home at the time of the incident.

The blaze was reported by a neighbor.

Library joins in county book order experiment

POMONA — The 250,000 volume collection of the Pomona Public Library will soon be projected into 12 million books in an experimental program which will serve all corners of the county.

The three-month pilot program was announced today by Peter F. Schabarum, chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

He said it will heighten cooperation between the county system and the libraries of the cities of Long Beach, Los Angeles and the Metropolitan Cooperative to which 22 municipalities belong, including Pomona and La Verne.

Pomona City Librarian Bradley A. Simon said the move will not only enlarge the services that will be available to patrons in the Pomona Valley, but speed up borrowing of books from locations out of the area.

Schabarum, too, lauded the program as a boon to readers.

"If this experiment works," he said, "there will be vastly improved services for most of the residents of Los Angeles County, regardless of which library they use."

Libraries have loaned books and other reference material to each other in the past. But under the new program, patrons will be able to request books, have the requests teletyped to a book location center, and receive the requested volume, if it is on hand, within 48 hours.

The hookup of teletype communications between the cooperating libraries and the daily exchange of requested books should improve markedly the resources of all libraries involved in the program, according to the supervisor.

If the experiment succeeds, Schabarum said he will offer the services to libraries outside the county, to enlarge selection even more.

Monterey County official eyes equalization election

Monterey County Supervisor Warren Church, 43, has announced he is considering seeking election to the state Board of Equalization from the First Equalization District in 1974.

The First Equalization District includes the communities of Pomona, Claremont, San Dimas, La Verne, Diamond Bar, Walnut, Industry and Rowland Heights.

These communities in the last reapportionment were redistricted out of the Fifth Equalization District which is represented by Richard Nevins.

Church, a Salinas Democrat and a third-term supervisor, said he would make an official announcement after the first of the year.

"I am considering the office," he explained, "in order to change the method of valuing utilities for tax purposes.

"Utilities now are valued at a figure usually near that of original cost less depreciation. The market value set by the Board of Equalization should be the current true market value for utilities like it is for all other property taxpayers."

George Reilly of San Francisco is the incumbent in the 1st District. He was elected in 1938 and will have served 36 continuous years at the conclusion of his current term.

This district covers 21 counties, stretching from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

Church, who twice has served as chairman of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, is president of the nine-county Central Coast Supervisors Association, a member of the Central Coast Regional Coastal Zone Conservation Commission (Proposition 20), a former member of the Central Coastal Regional Quality Control Board and a former chairman of the Monterey County Democratic Central Committee.

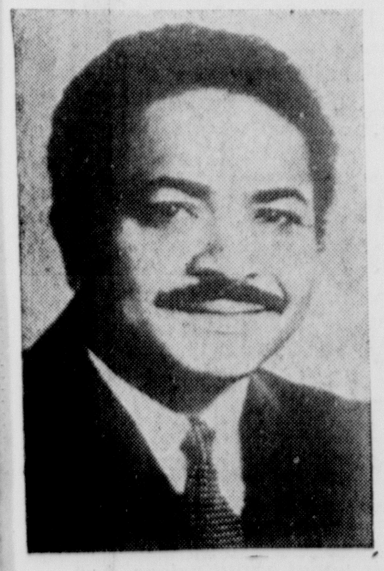

He is a veteran of the Korean war. He received a master's degree from Cal Poly San Luis Obispo in education-social sciences. He has a background in education and agriculture.

State senator schedules talk for Poly group

POMONA — State Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-29th Dist., will address faculty, staff, students and the public at Cal Poly Oct. 17.

Dymally will appear in the university theater at 11 a.m. under the auspices of the university's Urban Affairs Center, Interdisciplinary Forum and Associated Students, Inc.

A member of the state Senate committee on education, Dymally has authored bills on mandatory teaching of ethnic history in the public schools, aid in the adoption of hard-to-place children, child care centers, Head Start educational opportunity and career education, and women's rights and sex discrimination. In the past he has served as chairman of the Senate committees on social welfare, military and veterans affairs, and elections and reapportionment.

TRYING TO PIECE IT TOGETHER A Pomona police car which collided with two other vehicles at White Avenue and Center Street rests on a lawn at 607 W. Center St., while Officer Harvey Lane of the California Highway Patrol questions Mrs. Nadine Johnson, center, of La Verne, one of the drivers involved. Mrs. Johnson, of 2571 Third St., is the wife of La Verne City Councilman Frank Johnson. Patrolman Paul Andrew, 23, was driver of the police car and Floyd Foltz of 560 W. Center St., was the third driver. The police car, which was going north on White, collided with the Foltz vehicle as it turned left from the southbound lane of White Avenue onto Center Street. After the collision, the patrol car collided with the Johnson car, which was also going south on White. The police car then jumped a curb and stopped on the front lawn.

Heart surgery patient needs blood donations

POMONA — As soon as 12 blood donors have each pledged a pint of blood, Mrs. Gladys Brezina of Pomona will be scheduled for open heart surgery.

The surgery is planned at Hoag Memorial Hospital in Newport Beach, according to a friend of Mrs. Brezina, Mrs. Rosalie Patton, who is helping to recruit the blood donors.

Donors can make appointments at the Red Cross Blood Donor Center which is open every Tuesday from 3 to 6:30 p.m. and Wednesdays from 1:30 to 5 p.m. at 420 N. Reservoir St.

Donors, who can be between 18 and 65, should make their pledge in the name of Mrs. Brezina. Reservations for donor appointments may be made by calling the Red Cross, 629-7455.

Additional information can also be supplied by Mrs. Patton, at 622-7777.

Child run over by car said satisfactory

POMONA — A 5-year-old child whose leg was broken Sept. 24 when she was run over by a motorist backing from a garage into an alley at 1506 Holly Way was reported in satisfactory condition today at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Cherri Ann Davidson was playing behind his car when Robert E. Mealey Jr., 22, backed from the garage and ran over her upper right leg. Both Cherri and Mealey live in the same apartment building.

Nuclear power to resolve crisis

Over the next 30 years the United States is expected to consume more energy than it has since the Mayflower landed. Put another way, by the year 2000, our consumption of energy will have tripled over what it is today.

This is the long-term "energy crisis," as opposed to the current one involving shortages of gasoline and heating oil.

Where is all the energy going to come from? The mathematics of the siuation are simple, according to many industry observers.

The United States consumes 40 per cent of the world's energy sources, yet has only 22 per cent of the world's gas and 7 per cent of its oil reserves.

At the same time, points out John P. Fanaritis, executive vice president of Struthers Wells Corp., which designs and manufactures heat exchangers and other equipment for both fossil fuel and nuclear installations, the United States has nearly 40 per cent of the world's natural uranium resources.

The combination of insufficient oil and gas supplies and plentiful reserves of uranium, he says, "is a most compelling reason for the United States to go predominantly to nuclear power."

Today, the 29 nuclear plants in operation in the United States supply less than two per cent of our total electricity. The Atomic Energy Commissinon (AEC) estimates that the number of plants could approach the 1000 mark by the end of the century and account for 45 to 60 per cent of all our generated power.

It is also conceivable that half of these plants could be "fast breeder" nuclear reactors.

The fast breeder nuclear reactor is a unique source of energy. In the process of generating power to produce electricity, it achieves a breeding gain—that is, it makes more fuel than it uses.

What that means is that the amount of fissionable material within the reactors could be doubled in five to eight years. Since demand for electricity doubles about every nine years, the breeder reactor would provide fuel for itself and its own expansion.

There's a problem with the breeder reactor, however—the amount of excess heat generated, which must be dissipated one way or another.

This may be done in a nonpolluting manner, says Fanaritis, by the use of dump heat exchangers. Struthers Wells is currently building 12 such exchangers for the ADEC's test facility in Richland, Wash.

As for the concern over nuclear hazards, this is misplaced, he claims. "Equipment exists or is being built for emergency core cooling of reactors so that catastrophic failures cannot occur."

Environmentalists will counter that despite the best laid plans of mice and men and all that, things that "cannot" occur, sometimes do occur. Yet according to a report by University of California experts, the public health risks from nuclear power plants are smaller than from oil-fired plants.

Based on an eight-month evaluation of oil-fired and nuclear plants in urban settings last year, the report concluded that the risk from either type of plant is roughly comparable to the hazards to which the public is exposed by uncontrollable natural events, such as being struck by lightning or being bitten by a venomous animal.

Texas wine

Ol' Texas, the big hatted, hard riding cow country. Texas of the Alamo.

Texas of hard-drinking Judge Roy Bean, law west of the Pecos.

Texas, our newest little ol' winemaker?

If a group of Texas Tec researchers prove their theories valid that may well happen. They firmly believe that the high plains weather, land and water supply are ideal for the growing of grapes in Lubbock County, at least. That's the site of their University.

At present the only Texas winery is located in the Mexican bordor region, a small producer. The Tec men believe Lubbock County can develop vineyards to rival any in the world.

That's Texas talk but the scientists are convinced it is true. They are testing 70 varieties of grapes in the hope of finding five varieties particularly well suited to the country and to the wine industry. They feel they'll find more than that, but they will settle for two good white and three red types.

Well, the eyes of viticulture may be upon Texas. But somehow we don't feel our California vintners are shaking in their boots.

Famous brothers in family squabble

WASHINGTON — Until a few months ago, the sons of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt used to greet one another with an affectionate brotherly kiss on the cheek. Now they are engaged in a furious family feud.

It began with the publication of Elliott's book, "The Untold Story: the Roosevelts of Hyde Park," which opened the family closets too wide to suit his brothers.

Franklin Jr. contacted brothers James and John, quoted the Fourth Commandment ("Honor thy Father and thy mother") to them, and persuaded them to join him in a public statement disassociating themselves from the book.

They felt Elliott had been driven by financial troubles to sell out the family for the book royalties. "I have bailed Elliott out of one business deal after another," an exasperated Franklin told us. "I've just written it all off."

James felt Franklin's Biblical admonition was a bit pious but agreed about Elliott's motives. "Elliott has borrowed money," said James, "from every member of the family, including his own children, and has made little effort to pay it back."

Friendly note

Nevertheless, James sent Elliott a friendly note, explaining he had disassociated himself from the book's contents but did not question Elliott's right to publish whatever he wished.

No long afterward, the word spread throughout the family that Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., was investigating allegations Elliott was involved with a stock-swindling ring. The first report came from Franklin, a coincidence which led Elliott to believe Franklin had stimulated the investigation. (Actually, Jackson had called Franklin in an attempt to locate Elliott and question him privately about the charges.)

An angry Elliott told us his brother Franklin, speaking of the Senate investigation, had said: "I hope they bury him."

Franklin denied making the remark. "There's no question," he said, "that I didn't like the book Elliott wrote, but he is still my brother."

AGNEW'S BENEFACTORS — The first inquiry received by Vice President Spiro Agnew about the Maryland kickback allegations came from us. Our investigation goes back two years when we first heard reports that Agnew had taken cash payments under the table.

We spoke to two witnesses who admitted slipping cash to Agnew. We brought our findings to the Vice President who flatly denied he had received the cash.

We never published the story because the witnesses could produce no corroboration that money had been passed. Without subpoena power, cash transactions are difficult to trace.

But now that the Justice Department is conducting a criminal investigation, we have reviewed our two-year-old notes. They reveal some facts which may make it difficult for the Justice Department to convict Agnew. Here's what our notes show:

We were told, on excellent authority, that Maryland contractors had made cash contributions to Agnew. Among those listed in our notes were I. H. Hammerman II, Lester Matz and Jerome Wolff, who reportedly are now telling the grand jury all they know. But our notes show that the same contractors had also contributed to other politicians, Democrat and Republican alike.

It was our conclusion that most state contractors contributed to politicians as a form of insurance to assure their bids would be considered. We decided it would be difficult to define precisely when a campaign contribution becomes a bribe.

We learned that close friends of Agnew, such as J. Walter Jones and Harry Dundore, had given him valuable gifts. Our notes indicate that Jones suddenly seemed able to wangle federal contracts after Agnew became Vice President, but couldn't show that Agnew had intervened directly to get contracts for his friends.

On the other hand, several Agnew associates told us that he was a poor man, that his lone investment in a Virgin Islands condominium had gone bad and that his friends sincerely wanted to help him. Again, we felt it would be difficult to define when a gift becomes a bribe.

The real need is to revise the whole system of financing politics in this country.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

A board chairman for the U.S.A.?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Laurence J. Peter, father of the "Peter Principle" and other laws of organizational miscarriage, believes there should be some method short of impeachment for getting rid of incompetent Presidents.

Impeachment, he points out, is so drastic Congress is unlikely ever to depose a President in that manner, even if he has it coming.

Writing in the current issue of Psychology Today, Peter says a chief executive who is "embarrassingly bad" should be ousted the way he would be in a large corporation —that is, "kicked upstairs."

But unfortunately, he notes, America's founding fathers "failed to create innocuous positions to kick a President up to."

Therefore, he proposes a Constitutional Amendment to create a new federal office: Chairman of the Board of the U.S.A.

Since the new position would have the appearance of a promotion, an incompetent President could be removed from office without suffering indignity.

Then he could go around cutting ribbons and making his "up-is good, more-is-better" after dinner speech "without serious damage to those working beneath him," Peter writes.

There is, alas, a fatal flaw in this proposal. What Peter overlooks is the fact that the U.S. already has an office of the type he envisions.

It is called the Vice Presidency.

If a President were kicked upstairs to the board chairmanship where he did nothing but cut ribbons and attend banquets, he would be duplicating the duties and reponsibilities already assigned to the Vice President.

In other words, the United States, in effect, would have — God forbid! —two Vice Presidents in direct competition with each other.

By dint of titular superiority, the board chairman presumably would have the protocol right-of-way. He could preempt the world's fair openings, nuclear submarine launchings and other prestigious ceremonies, leaving the Vice President to open shopping centers and unveil the statue of Commodore Caus Von Frigate at Fort Rampant, S.C.

It is doubtful the Vice Presidency, as presently constituted, could withstand a power erosion of that sort. Take away its ceremonial functions and the office probably would self-destruct.

Before Peter's plan is adopted, Peter will have to think of something else for the Vice President to do.

There is, as we have seen in recent days, one sure way to keep a Vice President busy. But it only works when the grand jury is in session.

Between investigations, he will need another way to kill time.

Retaining open space

People move to La Verne and live in La Verne because they like it here. La Verne has a small town feel, a community pride and concern for others that is tied to a sense of freedom and excitement. It's a rare combination, and people come to La Verne, despite high taxes, because this is what they want.

But our increasing density is ruining all of this. People will not continue to pay a premium to live in La Verne when it's just another Los Angeles suburb. The state has ruled that we must have an open space and conservation element. The city council assigned this task to us and we subsequently submitted the finished plan to the planning commission.

It is not a "far out" proposal, but it is quite sound, comprehensive and totally compatible with the La Verne philosophy. Among other things we suggest the need for the retention of sizable areas of open space within the central portion of the city to prevent a solid sea of construction from Pomona to San Dimas to the mountains. This has met with considerable opposition! The resistance, while quite understandable is not totally rational. There are economically sound uses for land other than for houses, businesses and groves.

And while taxes may be high for the owners of large parcels of land, they are high for the rest of the property owners of the city as well. We all must carry a share of the burden and responsibility of running and maintaining the city. Each must do his own part, and the size of the land parcel must not influence decision making. The fundamental concern must be what is the best land use for the area and what is the best for the community as a whole, now and in the future.

It is our strong belief that the city must retain, at this time, as much open space as possible. A substantial change in the open space and conservation element, allowing development of large open sections of the center of La Verne would greatly increase the population density, place added strain on our national resources as well as our community resources, and in general detrimentally affect every member of the community. It would be a disaster, and could easily deal a fatal blow to the unique character of this community that we have all worked so hard to nurture and preserve. — Bob Neher, chairman of the Commission on Environmental Quality.

Gossip for today

What with vitamins, nuclear powered artificial hearts and transplanted kidneys to keep them ambulatory, acupuncture and pressure spot foot massaging to cure their aches and pains, and adult education classes in wig styling and speed writing to keep them happy, senior citizens are well on their way toward taking over the country. Already in Miami Beach 61 per cent of the population is 65 years of age or older.

Old age dominance has become such a threat throughout the land that many senior citizens retirement areas are now lowering their age requirements in order to keep the old fogies from completely running the show. And our dwindling youth element is fighting back in other important ways.

"Never allow any judge over 30 years of age to define obscenity," one group of young militants is advocating. "Folks over that age are always taking the joy out of life."

But although there are few areas in which youth and age see eye to eye, one recent scientific breakthrough has both sides applauding. Researchers have finally discovered a way to allow folks to drink vodka and not get drunk.

INSIDE REPORT

George Wallace vs. the New South

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

POINT CLEAR, Ala. — Irreconcilable differences in outlook between Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and "New South" governors who now dominate the region were pointed up when Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Wallace's occasional ally, arrived at last week's Southern governors' conference with a proposed South-wide presidential primary.

If all Southern states conducted presidential primaries the same day, Carter argued, candidates could save time and money. But other governors saw its as a ploy for Wallace to corner Southern delegates. Not surprisingly, Wallace immediately endorsed Carter's proposal; from other governors, the silence was deafening.

The New South governors elected in 1970 and later elections view both Carter's plan and Wallace himself as anachronistic throwbacks to Southern sectionalism. Nevertheless, they well understood that Wallace's grass roots support could sweep any Southern primary.

Indeed, the celebrated Fourth of July lovefest at Decatur, Ala., between Wallace and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy produced no joy among New South governors. They fear Wallace dominating Southern primaries but losing out on a place on the ticket and Kennedy being nominated for President but losing the entire South (and probably the election). They consequently hope neither Wallace nor Kennedy will run, which would breathe life into their long dream that one of their own — Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas is now their long-shot choice — will be the 1976 nominee.

Thus, underlying the superficial amity at this Gulf Coast resort was real tension between Wallace and the New South governors. Though this year's chairman of the conference, Wallace — the only Democratic governor from the old Confederacy with service dating before January 1971 — seemed isolated from his colleagues.

More attacks on busing

The only comments here touching on race were Wallace's press conference attacks on busing. Whereas Wallace continued his barrage against professional bureaucrats in Washington, other Democratic governors were more partisan in assaulting the Nixon administration. If there is a dominant figure among the Southern governors it is not Wallace but Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky, who opened the meeting with a torrid attack on President Nixon's economic policies.

But all governors were deferential to Wallace, partly in tribute to his courage and partly out of political caution. "These guys are scared to death of what George can do to them at home," the chief political adviser of one New South governor told us. For his part, Wallace is wickedly hilarious among friends, deriding colleagues who detest him privately but dare not criticize him publicly.

While other governors view Georgia's Carter as Wallace's only ally here, he is not so regarded in the Wallace camp where Carter's non-support of Wallace at the 1972 national convention is neither forgotten nor forgiven.

A Wallace-Carter alliance was not at all evident. They did not discuss Carter's regional primary plan in advance. Nor did Wallace join Carter in unsuccessfully supporting an abortive attempt by Gov. Dolph Briscoe of Texas to oppose the epitome of New South governors, Reubin Askew of Florida, as the new vice chairman of the Southern governors.

Otherwise, Wallace's potential supporters are Govs. Briscoe, Edwin Edwards of Louisiana and William Waller of Mississippi. But they are not really Wallacemen, and Wallace realizes he can expect nothing from his fellow Southern governors. He knows he must go over their heads to the people.

Interested in Bumper's chances

In Mississippi, for example, Waller is interested in Bumper's presidential prospects but desperately wants to regain national party machinery in Mississippi from biracial liberals. To do so, his state will switch to a presidential primary — a change duplicated in other Southern states that sent unrepresentative liberal delegations to Miami Beach under the caucus system. However, primary elections mean Wallace can win most of the delegates from Mississippi and other Southern states no matter what Waller and other governors want.

L.V. convalescent hospital faces loss of permit

LA VERNE — The Glenhaven Convalescent Hospital here may lose its permit because it has been catering to the mentally retarded instead of the convalescent.

The City Council has instructed Zoning Administrator Charles Le Gros to hold a hearing and review the conditional use permit granted to the hospital 11 years ago.

That permit is for use of the northeast corner of White Avenue and Sixth Street as a convalescent hospital, but the resolution does not set forth a definition of a convalescent hospital.

Glenn Olels, the present operator of the hospital, contends that the mentally retarded are logically a part of those who are confined to convalescent homes.

But City Atty. Gene Axelrod told the council Monday night that the "city would be on entirely firm grounds in contending that mentally retarded do not fall under the definition of a convalescent hospital. This is not a convalescent hospital in a true sense if they house mental patients there."

The hospital came under fire last month by neighbors who contend that loud screams and moans emanating from the hospital in the middle of the night prevent them from getting their sleep.

The residents were at the council meeting again Monday, but Councilman Frank Johnson declined to take more testimony. "We've gone through all this," he said. "The procedure now should be to turn it over to the zoning administrator."

Councilman Harrison Sanborn said he wanted the zoning administrator to review the resolution which granted the permit for the operation of the hospital, and to weigh the present operation of the hospital to see if there has been a violation.

"If the resolution does not provide for the care of the mentally retarded at the hospital," he explained, "we don't want them housed there."

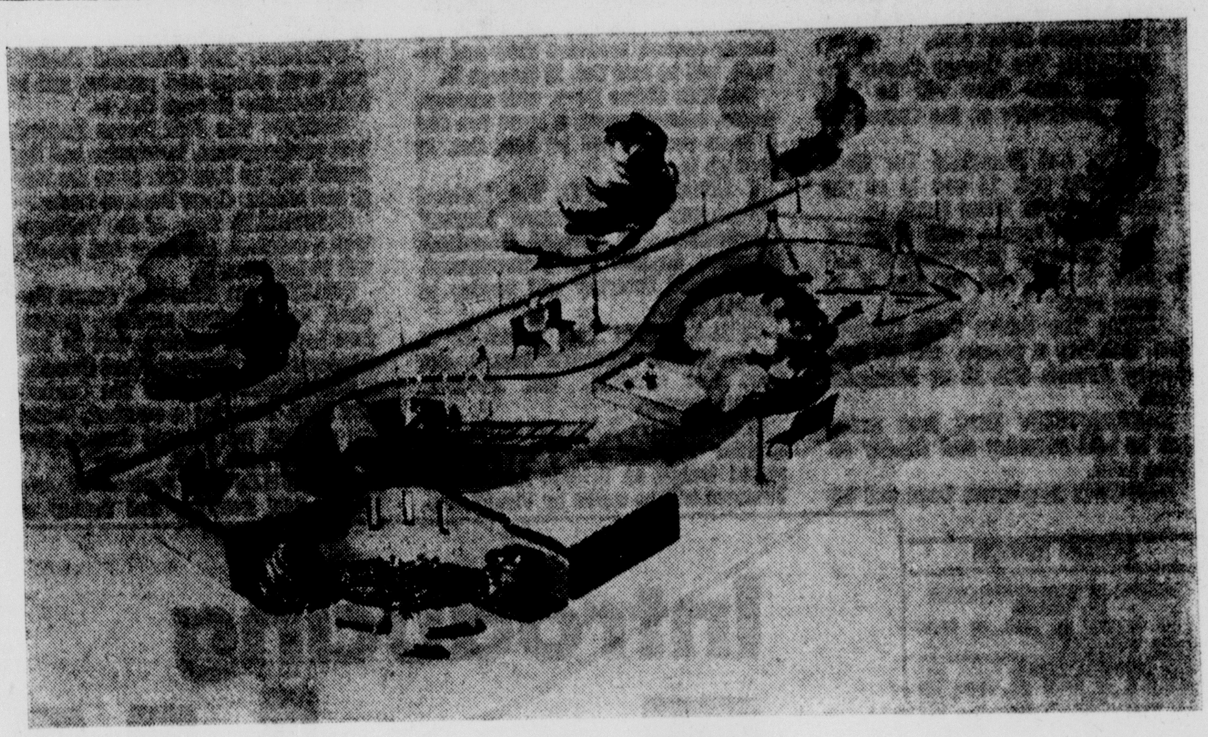

Mayor Frank Morales said he was one of the councilmen who approved the CUP 11 years ago. "But when I voted for this, I had no idea this is the way it would turn out."

Olels contended that he was in no way in violation of the conditional use permit.

SERVICE PROJECT

The San Dimas Kiwanis Club is working to improve a park site at the corner of Gladstone Street and San Dimas Canyon Road. Hard at work are from left, Ted Glauthier, Dr. Norval Hardy and Gordon Howard.

Kiwanis Club preparing Christmas gift for S.D.

SAN DIMAS — Members of the San Dimas Kiwanis Club are going to give San Dimas residents a minipark for Christmas.

Members have been working to improve a 7,000-square-foot area located at the corner of Gladstone Street and San Dimas Canyon Road into a small neighborhood park for children and parents in the area to enjoy.

The park site was donated to the city by a developer and will be maintained by the city.

The park will feature trees, grass, benches and playground equipment for youngsters.

"We wanted to do something that would be useful to the community," Gordon Howard, president of the club, said of the project.

He said the club became aware of the need to improve the site from Bryce Bailey, director of parks and recreation and a member of the local club.

Howard said he is delighted with the project that is turning a former weed-filled lot into a green area for youngsters to play. "Miniparks are a common site in foreign countries and I feel that we need more of them here."

About 18 members are involved in the project to improve the site. Members will also purchase the $2,000 worth of playground equipment.

Community response to the project has also been good, the president said. He said people have donated funds to help with the cost and one adjacent neighbor helped to pay the cost of the wall which surrounds the park on three sides to separate it from a housing tract.

Howard said club members are now preparing the ground to plant grass and it is hoped that the park will be usable by late December.

La Verne and Pomona join forces to solve entrance sign problems

LA VERNE — The entrance sign on White Avenue entering La Verne from Pomona has been a troublesome problem for some time.

The City Beautiful Committee, volunteers, and city crews have cooperated in dealing with the designing, construction and maintenance of the sign and the surrounding landscaping.

When the sign itself, built of block and tile, was knocked down in a traffic accident it was decided to rebuild it with a lower profile to satisfy a request of the Pomona Police Department. A transitional crossing-line on Pomona's side of the city limits borders the south side of the sign.

Then the committee was asked to take out some palm trees in the landscaping by a traffic control study committee.

Unsatisfied already by the appearance of the sign, the City Beautiful Committee decided to ask that the entire sign and its landscaping be wiped out and another built further north.

At the September meeting of the committee, Ray Kaldenbach, director of parks and recreation, stated that there would have to be an accommodation to the present site. No move could be made.

In an effort to get permission to rebuild the sign, the committee is asking that the La Verne City Council check with Pomona to see whether or not the objections by Pomona Police might be less now. Some members noticed that the reason for the crossing lane in Pomona territory in front of the sign may now be eliminated.

In former times this lane was used principally by horsemen coming north on White and turning to go through a gate on the west side of White into the Los Angeles County Fair grounds. This year a new gate for horsemen was opened on Arrow Highway and barricades shut off the crossing lane on White. Committee members hope that this lane can be closed permanently, thus eliminating the traffic problem and the objection of Pomona to La Verne's sign.

L.V. considers war on late-night noise

LA VERNE — This city may place a 10 p.m. curfew on socializing, if the noise made by young people doesn't stop late at night.

The possibility was raised by Councilman Jack Russi, after a report from Police Chief Jack Baker and Don Blackwell of 3904 Bradford Ave. that Blackwell's neighbor, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, has apparently not lived up to an agreement to keep the noise down.

Russi suggested that what might be needed was an ordinance rolling back the activities to 10 p.m., "and if that doesn't straighten things out, roll it back to 8."

"Would you extend that to all churches?" Councilman Dan Lopez asked.

"It might be extended to others," Russi replied.

But Mayor Mike Morales suggested that before any legal action is taken, the city staff or council meet with representatives of the church to remind them of their obligations.

The church leadership had promised the council several months ago that it would keep the noise down at its location in La Verne Heights, and notify the police department of all major events so that patrol could be assigned.

But Blackwell told the council Monday: "Gentlemen, we have come to the end of our rope. We can't take it any more. The church won't work with us; nobody cares what happens."

He claimed congregations from Claremont, Chino and Montclair, as well as La Verne, attend church events and services, and that people burn tires, honk horns and engage in loud conversations long past midnight.

"It seems," Morales commented, "that despite the meetings we had in the past, they (the church) haven't followed through with what they said they would do to cooperate."

"Maybe we ought to remind them of their obligations," Russi added. "Maybe we ought to amend their permit."

But before doing anything drastic, the council agreed to call in leaders of the church for another discussion.

Meals on Wheels group needs La Verne volunteers

LA VERNE — The Meals on Wheels organization needs volunteer workers from La Verne to help deliver and handle foods to La Verne recipients.

There are at present about 10 persons in La Verne served by the Meals on Wheels organization of Claremont.

There is a need for some volunteer workers from La Verne to help with handling the noonday meal to La Verne residents. The duty hours are from about 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., or at least within that period of time.

Especially needed is a day captain for Thursdays and others who will transport the food from Griswold's to the distribution center at the Episcopal Church on Bonita Avenue in Claremont. Others are needed to deliver the food to the elderly people who are helped by this service.

Inquiries, or offers about helping, should be directed to the offices at the church from about 10:30 to noon by calling 621-4018.

City abandons plan for hiring info officer

SAN DIMAS — The City Council has tabled a plan to hire a public information officer whose main duty would have been to publish a monthly newsletter to citizens.

City Manager Robert Poff revealed the council's decision to hold off on hiring the information officer after several applicants were interviewed for the position. The city had good response from applicants and finally selected several public relations firms and interviewed their employes.

Poff said although Mayor Thomas Nuss is in favor of creating the position, several council members thought that the public reaction to the proposal might be negative.

The city manager said the decision was mostly "political" and said three members of the council will be up for re-election next spring. They include Loyd Salisbury, D. F. Hooper and Vice Mayor Jim Lough.

The part-time position pays $6,000 a year. Poff said the plan will be reconsidered at the 1974-75 budget sessions.

Public welcome at 2 programs at Hillcrest

LA VERNE — Tonight at 7, Miss Ruth Lininger of West Covina will talk in the West Lounge of Hillcrest Homes about her summer as an instructor of the Chapman College-sponsored seagoing class room.

Miss Lininger, a music teacher, was on the summer faculty as the ship spent the summer in the region of the Orient.

On Friday evening at the same hour in the East Lounge a Walt Disney film, "Prowlers of the Everglades," will be shown.

The public is welcome to either program.

Senior citizens group changing time of meeting

LA VERNE — The La Verne Senior Citizens Club is changing its meeting time to 11:30 a.m. instead of noon on Mondays.

Some 40 persons gather each week in the La Verne Community Building to visit, have lunch together and play card games. Once a month a program is scheduled with a speaker. Each person brings a sack lunch and the beverage and dessert are available for a small cost.

Mrs. Veronica Ushler is the president and invites any retired person to attend and take part. She is picking up responsibilities again for the club after a vacation with relatives in Maryland, Illinois and Virginia.

LVC is offering program in para-legal studies

LA VERNE — High school graduates with secretarial experience may increase their skills and professional status by entering the Para-Legal Studies program being offered this fall at La Verne College.

Registration for the second semester in a continuing course which offers advanced training for secretaries and legal assistants can be made at the college's Law Center.

In evening classes, students will receive instruction in introduction to law, family law, law office management, bankruptcy, communications, probate, legal accounting and corporations and administrative courts, said E. E. O'Brien, Para-Legal Program director.

O'Brien, referee in charge of Pomona Workman's Compensation Appeals Board, Department of Industrial Relations, describes the program as one designed to provide secretaries with legal skills which will enable them to render valuable assistance to their employers.

"We intend to instruct secretaries in the fundamentals of running an efficient office while at the same time giving them the expertise necessary to perform basic law work for attorneys," O'Brien explained.

"In the future we hope to see acceptance of the para-legal certificated graduates as legal officers, which means they will be allowed to handle the work of a probate officer. In time, we believe para-legal graduates will be allowed to make actual appearances in court on simple matters."

Classes will be scheduled once each week at 6:30 p.m. on a day to be announced.

For further information, interested persons may contact the Law Center at 593-3511.

Travelers return

LA VERNE — Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Buehler have returned from visiting relatives in the Midwest.

Mrs. Buehler enjoyed a visit with relatives in Indiana, whom she had not seen in a number of years. They spent some time in Ohio with his relatives.

Lions hunting blind persons for classes

LA VERNE — Members of La Verne Lions Club are seeking blind persons in La Verne and San Dimas who might want to take advantage of classes taught in Los Angeles at the Braille Institute.

If there are those who do not already have transportation to Pomona to catch the bus which goes in each week, the local service club will provide that transportation.

The Lions clubs of the valley provide the bus fare for the blind of this valley to the Braille Institute which has more than 100 classes which blind people may take.

The bus leaves Pomona at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesdays from the Pomona Education Building at Garey Avenue and Seventh Street.

Inquiries can be made by calling 593-1388 or 626-6161.

Head Start classes have room for more

LA VERNE — Head Start classes in La Verne are not overcrowded and students are still being accepted.

Parents interested in having their children take advantage of this readiness-for-school training are invited to visit the classes which convene at the La Verne Church of the Brethren beginning at 8 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. The rooms of the church being used for these classes are off the west parking lot and through the north entrance.

Introducing Ford Mustang II

Mustang II Ghia

A whole new kind of small car.

Mustang II is a whole new kind of car. For the first time, an American car offers jewel-like quality, real luxury and unique style, all in one small package. The chart below shows you what we mean by small. Mustang II is almost 19 inches smaller than last year's Mustang. It's even smaller than the original Mustang of ten years ago.

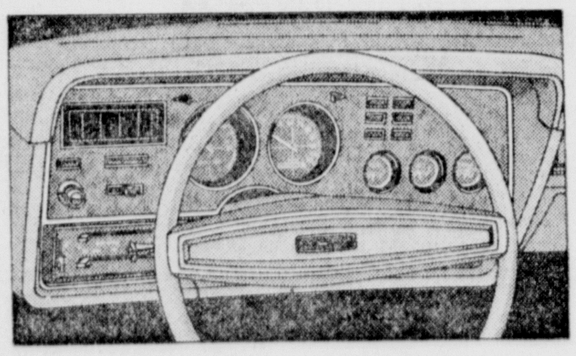

And while Mustang II gives you all the economy of a new smaller size it doesn't skimp on quality. We built Mustang II to be a little jewel of a car. And we think it shows. In the extra attention to the smallest detail. Like the extra close fit of trim and moldings. In the extra thick paint. Look closely at Mustang II and you'll be impressed with the care and craftsmanship that's gone into every detail.

When it comes to luxury, we believe Mustang II is in a class all its own. And with this car, that luxury comes standard. Even the base model of Mustang II is a truly luxurious place to be.

An impressive list of standard features.

A mere listing of the standard equipment hardly suggests the feeling you get while driving Mustang II. Yet it does help you appreciate how new this small car really is:

- ☐ A luxurious interior with individual seats, full width headrests, deep padded doors, thick cut-pile carpeting front and rear, and even on the lower door.
- ☐ Beautifully functional instrument panel complete with tachometer.
- ☐ A glassy-smooth four speed transmission; short throw, fully synchronized.
- ☐ A lively but thrifty four cylinder overhead cam engine.
- ☐ Front disc brakes.
- ☐ Rack-and-pinion steering.
- ☐ A new suspension designed to ride more like a luxury car than a small car. This is one small car that doesn't talk back to you.
- ☐ Jewel-like detail and finish everywhere. For example, the extra bright moldings around windows and wheel openings.

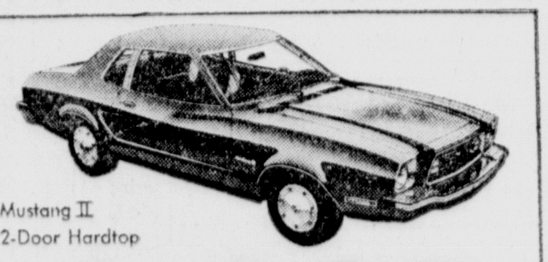

A remarkable choice of options.

- ☐ Special luxury interiors featuring elegant seat fabrics and patterns, 25-ounce cut-pile carpeting, special door panels with courtesy lights, and more.
- ☐ An exciting 2.8 liter V-6 engine.
- ☐ Power assisted rack-and-pinion steering.
- ☐ A handsome digital clock.
- ☐ A breezy little sun roof...and many more.

And all this adds up to surprising value.

Mustang II gives you a choice of two body styles with four new models: 2-Door Hardtop and Ghia: 3-Door 2+2 model: and the sporty Mach 1. In addition, there are many options you can choose from to make your own personal luxury car.

And it's easy to make that choice, because the base sticker price for Mustang II is surprisingly low. Especially considering the level of luxury that's standard.

Mustang II
2-Door Hardtop

$2,895.

Base sticker price for Two-Door Hardtop excluding dealer prep (if any), destination charges $214, emissions charge $47, title and taxes.

Erma Bombeck

Around 3 a.m. the othernight, I sat up in bed with a piercing scream that woke everyone in the house. My mouth was dry, my entire body drenched with perspiration and I was breathing heavily.

"What's the matter?" shouted my husband.

"I've just had a terrifying nightmare!" I gasped. "I dreamt I lost my Master Charge."

There are four things in this world that are so vital to me. I cannot put a value on them. One is a snapshot of me in the third grade when I weighted 78 pounds. Another is a book of phone numbers of baby-sitters who will work New Year's Eve. The third is a roll of transparent tape that I hide in the canister marked "TEA." And, of course, my credit card.

I don't know how true it is, but when other babies were drooling their first words like "Mama, Dada and Wawa," I spit my bottle out one day, opened my mouth and uttered, "Charge it."

I could have predicted years ago that money would become obsolete. It's tacky. It's vulgar. It's cumbersome and it's downright unsanitary. When the universal credit card first came out my husband sat me down and explainedit to me. "This is a credit card."

"Look how it fits right into the curve of my hand," I giggled excitedly. "See how it hangs there by itself? I need never have to put it away."

"No, no," he said, biting the inside of his mouth nervously. "You must realize that this is a substitute for money. Each time you give them this little card, it goes through a big computer and we get a bill for everything you purchase with it."

"Then what's the good of a credit card?" I sulked.

"For convenience and for buying things on sale when you might not have the cash handy, and of course for establishing a credit rating."

At the end of the first week, I had established him a credit rating that would take three years to pay for. I came in from a day of shopping absolutely exhausted. My eyes were fixed and glazed. My steps lagged and my entire body exhaled. I pried open my left hand stiffly to reveal a scorched credit card that was still smoking from the heat. "Don't worry when the bill comes," I smiled, "we can put it on our credit card."

As my husband bedded me down after my bad dream, he gave me a glass of water and said, "Here, go to sleep."

I revealed my left hand cupped around my credit card and smiled sleepily, "Charge it."

Handshake, not kiss, transmits cold easier

WASHINGTON (UPI) —You are more likely to catch a cold from shaking hands than from kissing.

Government-financed research by the University of Virginia School of Medicine indicates that the most common route of infection is from the hands to the nose and eyes.

It said the virus can survive up to three hours on the hands once it is transmitted by an intermediary surface such as nylon, dacron, formica, stainless steel, plastic or someone else's skin.

Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the Virginia researchers recalled a previous study showing that one type of cold virus, the rhinovirus, was not transmitted by kissing. Handshaking, they said, is more dangerous.

The research found that only two of 25 people with colds caused by the rhinovirus expelled the virus in a cough or sneeze. But four of 10 naturally infected persons shed rhinovirus onto their hands, possibly by rubbing or blowing their noses.

Among 11 volunteers, four developed a typical common cold after touching the mucous membranes of their noses or eyes with fingers previously contaminated with rhinovirus, the scientists said.

2-person car pools could remove million vehicles

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — More than one million automobiles could be removed from the city's clogged freeways each day if commuters would form two-person car pools, a transportation seminor was told.

Bank official Conrad C. Jamison said nearly all commuters here drive to and from work alone, and that traffic would be decreased 44 per cent if there were two people in each car.

Jamison, a vice president for Security Pacific National Bank, told the meeting that there are only 1.12 persons in each commuting vehicle. Increasing the statistic to 2.0 would result in 1.1 million fewer cars on the city's freeways each day, he said.

Jamison allowed it would require a "monumental effort' to convince motorists to form pools, but said the plan could be a means of meeting clean air standards set by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The thought of kissing chills him

By JEAN ADAMS

NO KISSES: (Q.) I dig Sunny to death, but I am uncomfortable about one thing. She is always hinting that I should kiss her, or outright asking me to, but I never get around to it. I freeze up.

It is not that I don't like her. Maybe it is because I like her too much. I have never felt about a girl the way I feel about her. Can you help me? She is 16 and I am 15—Backward in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Sunny is a girl. No girl is too good to kiss. You will not be disrespectful to her in kissing her. You will not hurt or dirty her. So just relax and put your lips to hers.

Next time it will be easier, much easier. You will want to make up for lost time. But do not overdo it.

ALWAYS RIGHT: (Q.) I have a very close friend and I don't know how to treat her. You see, it's the very first time that I ever had a friend like her. The problem is she gets mad over little things and I'm the one who always has to give in.

I keep wondering why she never gives in. I don't want to lose her. — Mystified in New York.

(A) Some people do not give in. They do not apologize. They never admit they can be wrong on any point.

Some even demand agreement of their friends, or at least silence, when their friends KNOW they are wrong.

Never agree with this girl when she insists that something you KNOW is wrong is right. If she demands this kind of "loyalty," then her friendship could be costly to you. It could damage your character and your reputation.

If it is just a metter of who dominates the conversation or who decides what will be done or who gets the most attention, then you must decide whether the strain of being her friend is too great.

My advice is that even if you keep her as a friend you concentrate less on her and share your friendships with other more reasonable girls.

Officer hailed for courage in defusing bomb

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A police sergeant deactivated a gasoline bomb in a supermarket Tuesday and a police captain described the action as a display of "amazing courage."

Capt. J. William Conroy said Sgt. Bill Pacheco of the bomb squad disarmed the bomb 10 minutes after it had been set to go off.

REV UP YOUR SAVINGS.

Bank of America offers you five different high-performance savings plans to choose from. That's because we think there should be one you can settle into comfortably. They line up like this:

4½% regular savings account. Start with as little as $2. Put your money in, take it out, anytime. It's always available when you need it.

5½%, 6% and 6½% Investors Passbooks. Open any one of our three Investors Passbooks with just $500 or more. The interest rate is determined by the maturity you choose. The 90-day (one calendar quarter) account pays 5½% annual interest. The 1-year (four calendar quarters) Investors Passbook earns 6%. And the 2½-year (ten calendar quarters) account pays 6½% annual interest.

7½% certificate. For an even higher yield, consider our 4-year certificate. It earns a full 7½% a year. We're offering this rate for a limited time only. It takes just $1,000 to qualify. Some institutions require five times that much in order to qualify for comparable interest.

Federal law prohibits withdrawals from Investors Passbooks and certificates of deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings rate.

When you team our savings options with Bank of America safety you have an unbeatable combination. Come into any of our offices today and rev up your savings.

Remote control tv improved

In its early days, a hand-operated television remote control unit was likely to be a clumsy flashlight resembling Buck Rogers' ray gun.

Today's TV remote control is a far cry from that primitive gadget. Using a small, streamlined hand unit, one can accurately control many TV se functions with the touch of a button from an easy chair across the room.

Television remote control took a giant step forward in 1956, when Zenith Radio Corporation introduced Space Command, the first system of its kind to use ultrasonic sounds to control television functions.

Cords, wires, and flashing lights were eliminated, and remote control became quiet, dependable, and truly convenient.

The Space Commander hand control uses a "silent sound" signal too high-pitched for the human ear to hear.

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing about my 24-year-old son. About a year and a half ago he contracted trichinosis. He was very sick and still is. He complains of pains in the legs, back or something. Sometimes there isn't enough life in his legs to walk and he feels tired all the time. Once in awhile he gets very disgusted and feels he will never be well. I am worried. He sees these "hippies" and says "Why me?" He is very good boy. Please, Dr. Lamb, help me as I am a very worried mother.

Dear Reader — Trichinosis is a very uncommon disease, but it is more common in the United States than any other part of the world. It comes from pork infested with the trichinosis worm.

The incidence of trichinosis has declined sharply in the United States. It used to be quite high in New York City because the pork came from New Jersey and the hogs were fed on untreated garbage. New laws on meat storage and methods in raising pigs has helped.

A major method of transmitting the disease is from hamburgers in which the beef is diluted with pork or contaminated in the meat grinder. You can avoid this problem by grinding your own beef at home. Sausages and wursts are an important source of trichinosis.

It can be prevented. The best approach is to eliminate the infection in hogs to begin with. All garbage fed to hogs should be heat sterilized.

You can't depend on routine meat inspection to eliminate infected pork. The only real protection you have is in how you prepare it. The meat can be frozen in minus 32 degrees cetigrade for several hours—but the low freezing levels required are not possible in the home so you have to depend on well cooked pork.

All pork should be cooked at 140 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes for each pound—and that means internal meat temperature. Anything less than this may not kill all the trichinosis.

Your boy must have had a very severe infection since mild cases are usually cured within a much shorter time. Thiabendozole, a relatively new medicine, has been very useful in most cases. Mild infestations often recover on their own. Resideual muscle damage after an acute infection is unusual—but it does occur. After severe infestations muscle weakness and stiffnesss can persist for months or even years. The parasite actually invades the muscles and, even in some cases, the nervous system.

If the infection has been completely arrested then the process is really one of regaining muscle strength which is related to developing new muscle tissue.

Rattles & straws

The stars and tripe

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): "Now is the time to take the initiative in important matters. Do what has to be done on your own."

This was the horoscope, as near as I could make out, for Archie, the family guinea pig, and he took it to heart when I read it to him out of the newspapaer this morning. He promptly messed in his water dish.

I am a firm believer in the magic of astrology; I like nothing better than to zoom through the zones of the Zodiac, finding in the sun signs, when combined with the natal chart, all kinds of interesting forecasts to help my little cavy. My stars, I wouldn't know what he would do without the guidance of the planets.

Archie, as near as I have been able to discover, is a Libra with his Moon in Virgo and Scorpio ascendant. Combined with being born on a smoggy afternoon at 118 degrees longitude and 84 degrees latitude, this makes him warm, inquisitive, a natural leader, generally cheerful but given to periods of sulking. He is intellectual and loves puzzles and parsley. (I sometimes think he had an afflicted Neptune, but it doesn't show when he is lying down.)

I think all of the animals profit from haiving me read their daily horrorscopes to them. For the big dog, Duffy, (Sagittarius): "This is a good day to settle a contract or a legal matter." For the small dog, Yeats (Taurus): "Resolve to exchange bad habits for good ones." The cats, Charlotte, (Gemini), Sam (Aries) and Token (Capricorn) are more interested in the liver scraps than in the stars.

But the guinea pig is especailly susceptible to the forecast with which I line his cage. Between celery and pellets, he nibbles thoughtful on the newspaper column, often squeaking angrily at an unfavorable prediction: "Give new projects your full attention today, and don't mess in the water dish."

Archie, like others in his sign of the times (David BenGurion, Mickey Mantle, Nietzsche, Charlie Brown et. al.) has a touch of the cool, Libran mint in his sharp reasoning and rather dull sense of humor, but he is an honorable cavy, and six dimensions of peace shine down on him from Venus. He is optimistic but inclined to panic, always hungry, affectionate, trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous and kind.

Archie listens thoughfully to his daily forecast, only occasionally gnawing at the wires of his cage, and he derives comfort and direction through a better understanding of himself and his place in the Zodiac.

The long-range forecast is for a good year for Archie, plus easterly winds and scattered showers in the late afternoon.

"Opportunities will come to you through listening to others. And for heavens' sake, stay out of your water dish!"

Recycling not dead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Recycling isn't dead. In fact, there are 3,000 active recycling groups in the United States, an ecology coordinator said Tuesday.

Richard Eans said a convention would be held here Oct 9-11 with government, industry and citizens who are interested in recycling in attendance.

At the news conference to announce the convention, Environmental Protection Agency expert Carl Kohnert said that $5 billion worth of materials were discarded last year by U.S. citizens.

What does your cigarette have to say for itself?

If it's Kent, it says a lot.

"Taste."
A mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is: America's quality cigarette.

"Quality."
Kent is probably the most quality-tested cigarette made. (Over 200 quality checks in the manufacturing end, alone.)

"Freshness."

Gillman helping out

HOUSTON (UPI)—General Manager Sid Gillman of the Houston Oilers hopes he can pump some new blood into an anemic offense badly in need of a transfusion.

"I don't know what I can do with it—maybe make it worse," Gillman said Wednesday. "I'm out there every day anyway. I should do something besides second guess."

Gillman said Coach Bill Peterson asked him to step in and try to boost the team's offensive potential which is now worst in the league.

"We're 13th in the league (AFC) in passing and 13th in total offense," Gillman said. "Anything we do—it has got to be an improvement. I'll never believe we are 13th in talent."

Houston is winless in three games and has averaged only 163 yards total offense. The passing has averaged only 77 yards per game.

Gillman, the former San Diego coach hired last winter, has replaced Peterson as the dominant figure in the Oiler organization. He will serve as offensive coordinator in practice but will remain in the press box—and near a field phone to the bench—during games.

Peterson's successful coaching record was built on a high score offense that emphasized the pass. Gillman took over a team that was the worst in the league last year with a 1-13 record. He traded away top draft choices and acquired more than 20 new players.

"We asked Sid to come out and give us a lift," Peterson said. "He agreed to do it, to help us on our passing and running game."

Houston hosts undefeated Los Angeles this week. The Oilers fell 36-7 to Pittsburgh last week.

Singer's swan song as an Angel player?

"I wouldn't doubt that I'll be traded if they (the Angels) can make the right deal. Take a club that feels it needs one more starter to win the pennant. If it can give the Angels the talent they want for me, I think they'd trade me."

The speaker was Diamond Bar's Bill Singer in a conversation with the writer in the Angels clubhouse following the final game of the season last Sunday.

"I was born and raised in Southern California and I'd like to stay here," Singer added, "but the biggest drawback would be being away from my wife and kids. I'd rather be able to stay at home with them."

The 6-4, 200 pound right hander had a great season. Bill finished with a 20-14 record, 241 strikeouts in 315 2-3 innings. He became only the 12th pitcher since 1900 to win 20 games in both leagues.

He set a club record of 40 starts this year and had a personal high of 19 complete games.

Teamed with the baby-faced Ryan, Singer was half of the best pitching duo in the major leagues. They won 41 games between them, Started 79 games, pitched 641 2-3 innings, and struck out 624.

Wait a minute you say? How can the Angels even think of trading one of their two 20-game winners and one of the only two pitchers on the staff that showed any consistency?

Why trade Singer?

Well, it boils down to the fact that Singer is just about their most tradeable commodity, almost their only one that would go in a major deal.

And the Angels do have a great pitching prospect in 20-year-old Frank Tanana, who has already earned himself a spot on next year's staff.

General Manager Harry Dalton is on record as saying he is going into the winter trading markets after (1) a catcher that can catch 135 to 140 games and hit, (2) relief pitching, and (3) a player that can play every day and drive in runs.

To get something you have to give up something. Nolan Ryan is "untouchable," the one player the club will not listen to any kind of an offer for, no matter how good.

The other two starters, Clyde Wright and Rudy May had terrible years. Only the fact that Wright was removed from starting rotation in the closing weeks of the season kept him from losing 20 games.

As it is, Wright wound up with a 9-19 record and a 3.68 earned run average. May was 7-17 with a 4.38 ERA. Chances are they wouldn't go too high in baseball's flesh market.

As for other possibilities, Dalton himself remarked, "Frank Robinson is 38 years old (Robby will be 39 next August) and it's doubtful any club would want to pick up his $165,000 contract. Besides, I like him around here."

Bob Oliver had an impressive year at the plate and did an amazing job after being switched from first base to third. But if the Halos traded him, they'd have to come up with a third baseman and nobody currently on the roster fills the bill satisfactorily.

After Ryan, Singer, Robinson, and Oliver, there isn't much to offer in a trade.

Sandy Alomar went downhill this year (.238 average) both in the field and at bat. After Bobby Valentine was injured, no one filled the bill at short although rookie Dave Chalk looked good in an end-of-the season trial.

Mike Epstein had a horrible year at the plate (.209 average with nine home runs and 38 RBIs) and, by himself, wouldn't draw much in a trade. Besides, only Oliver could take over at first.

Of the outfielders other than Robinson, only Ken Berry had a decent average (.284). But Berry is a singles hitter (three home runs and 36 RBIs) and, although likely to be traded, is likely to go as part of a package with one or more other players.

DOUG PYE . . . Damien fullback

Progress-Bulletin PREP PREVIEW

Claremont vs. Damien at Citrus, 7 p.m.

These two teams will raise the curtain on the 1973 San Antonio League season, with both looking for a little better luck than they had in non-league play.

Claremont (1-1) will be out to defend its SAL crown, while Damien (0-2) will be seeking its first victory of the '73 season.

The 'Pack posted a victory over Glendora, 13-7, but lost in the opening week to Bonita, 14-0.

Damien, meanwhile, fell to San Dimas, 10-7, and West Covina, 21-0.

Ken Stalwick will be starting at quarterback for Claremont, while Dean Sickles and Larry Pekarcik will share the signal-calling for the Spartans of Damien.

Damien should stay mainly on the ground against the Wolfpack with Doug Pye, Lorenzo Hearns and Dan Bittner coming out of the backfield.

Claremont should go about 50-50 in its offensive attack—doing both passing and running.

The 'Pack running backs include Joe Hillstock and Dean Erickson, while the primary receivers should be Tony Janusz and Bruce Abraham.

Claremont won this one last year, 20-14.

Seaver ready for Reds

Things go right for Mets

NEW YORK (UPI) —Things continue to break right for the New York Mets.

Tom Seaver, the ace of the pitching staff, has recovered from his shoulder problems and will pitch against the Cincinnati Reds Saturday in the opener of the National League championship series.

Manager Yogi Berra had been worried about the status of his meal ticket for Saturday's opener when Seaver complained about stiffness in his right shoulder following Monday's East Division pennant clinching victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Berra's fears were so great, in fact, that he was almost ready to name lefthander Jon Matlack to pitch Saturday and move Seaver back to Sunday.

But, Seaver showed up early at Shea Stadium Wednesday, and after a thorough checkup from Dr. Peter Lamotte and a brisk 10-minute workout, he pronounced himself fit to hurl the opener.

Rube Walker, the Mets' pitching coach, and Berra watched Seaver closely and both were smiling throughout the workout as the 28-year-old righthander made the glove of catcher Ron Hodges pop repeatedly.

"He threw good, very good," said Walker. "I was anxious to see if he would be able to zip the ball and be free and easy with his motion. It's the first time in a good while he's been able to. You can tell when a guy's not delivering the ball properly. I was a bit concerned but after watching him for a few minutes I just smiled."

"Sure, I had doubts," said Berra. "I couldn't be sure about him until I watched him throw. But he threw very well. It's the best he's looked in a month. He was throwing real easy and the ball was jumping."

Seaver reported no signs of stiffness after the workout but said he won't know for sure if the problem has been completely licked until testing his shoulder under game conditions.

"It feels fine here," said Seaver, "but that was just a tuneup. It's different throwing against batters in regular competition. I won't know for sure until after Saturday if it's really better.

"The shoulder never did hurt, I mean I was never really in any pain. It was just a tightness. Dr. Lamotte said he would give me a shot of cortisone if it didn't clear up but I didn't feel anything today. He gave me three days supply of butazolidin pills, and I'll continue to take them until I've used them up."

Berra said he would use four starting pitchers against the Reds if the series goes more than three games. Matlack will pitch the second game in Cincinnati Sunday, Jerry Koosman will hurl the home opener at Shea Stadium Monday and George Stone will go Tuesday, if necessary. If there is a fifth game Seaver will pitch again.

Seaver, although posting a 19-10 record with a 2.08 earned run average, didn't fare too well against the Reds this season, dropping his only two decisions against them. Still, he feels the Mets' pitching will be the deciding factor in the series.

"Our pitching is what it comes down to," said Seaver. "Koos, Matlack and Tug (McGraw) have been pitching great, and if I can get back into the groove, then our chances are certainly excellent."

The Mets have bolstered their team for the playoffs by adding rookie outfielder George Theodore to the roster. Theodore dislocated his hip in a collision with centerfielder Don Hahn on July 7 and was on the disabled list until Sept. 5. Theodore, batting .259, had made only one pinch-hitting appearance since coming off the disabled list. To make room for Theodore on the playoff roster the Mets dropped pitcher John Strohmayer.

Heair to fight 10-round bout vs. Rodriguez

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lightweight contender Jimmy Heair, having a hard time finding an opponent while seeking a title shot, takes on Constinito Rodriguez of Acapulco in a substituted 10-round matchup tonight at the Olympic Auditorium.

Heair, the undefeated No. 4 contender, was originally to have fought Tury "the Fury" Pineda in an elimination bout tonight but Pineda asked for a postponement because his mother was undergoing surgery this week. Pineda said he didn't think he could concentrate on the fight.

Then Nacho Castenada of Mexicali was called in but Castenada became ill.

The winner of the Heair-Pineda fight was to have a shot at the winner of the Oct. 27 title fight between champion Rodolfo Gonzalez and European champ Antonia Puddu of Italy.

"Tonight is the first of two fights that will get me one step closer to a title fight," Heair said. "I was really looking forward to the Pineda fight. Then to find out at the last minute it was off was a letdown. But I won't let it bother me."

Heair is 29-0 with 14 knockouts, while Rodriguez is 39-7 with 15 kayoes.

Knox picks Bryant, Cowan as Ram associate captains

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Cullen Bryant, the rookie cornerback who ran back a kickoff 93 yards to a touchdown against the San Francisco 49ers, will be an associate captain of the Los Angeles Rams for the Houston game.

Coach Chuck Knox said Wednesday Bryant, a 210-pound Colorado All America, and Charlie Cowan, veteran offensive a tackle, will be the associate captains for the game in the Astrodome Saturday.

Knox names two associates to act with the regular captains— guard Joe Scibelli and defensive tackle Merlin Olsen—for each game.

Bryant began the season as a first string cornerback but was hurt and lost the starting job to veteran Steve Preece. Bryant now works mostly with the special teams.

"The special teams all take pride in themselves," he said. "When I scored last Sunday gainst the 49ers, it wasn't only for pride in myself, but our whole unit. Everybody contributes."

During Wednesday's workout, a few Rams had to take it easy because of minor injuries picked up in the 49er game.

Quarterback John Hadl has a sore left knee and confined himself to throwing to individual receivers and did not take part in the team drill.

Running back Jim Bertelsen was a spectator, resting a sprained knee.

Others who did not go all-out were center Ken Iman and tight end Bob Klein, both recovering from groin muscle pulls.

Young Broncos learning Cal Poly's style

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — It's taken four games but Cal Poly has run the gamut.

In just four weeks the Broncos have played superb football (the 17-9 win over Fresno State), extremely poor football (the 35-18 loss to Southern Utah), indifferent football (the 31-17 win over Sacramento St.) and now heads up football (a 34-34 tie with Cal State Los Angeles).

Head coach Roy Anderson can only hope the team reverts to their initial style of play—superb football.

The Broncos have one more game before opening their California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) season at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

The two Polys clash next week. But the Broncos can't afford the luxury of a letdown in Saturday night's clash with Cal Lutheran at Kellogg Field (7:30 p.m.).

Besides, with the calibre of player at Cal Poly this year—young and inexperienced—the gridders shouldn't even know what a letdown means. And because of this inexperience as well as lack of depth the Broncs are still hard at work getting used to Cal Poly's brand of football.

Nor would it do any good to ponder Anderson's decision (trying for a two point conversion rather than a sure one) in the CSLA game. Since then the Bronco skipper has been questioned and requestioned, haunted and chastised by some of the best armchair quarterbacks in the valley.

Cal Poly has shown its fans exciting college football. Saturday night should be no exception.

When the Kingsmen, under head coach Bob Shoup, invade Bronco land local supporters can look forward to another high scoring, exciting game.

Cal Lutheran brings three fine quarterbacks in Kip Downen, Bill Wilson and Casey McLaughlin.

Downen is the type of QB the Broncs have been trying to corral the past two weeks. He is quick, an excellent runner and throws well on the run. Unfortunately for the Kingsmen, the senior signal-caller may miss the game because of a severe knee injury suffered in last week's 19-14 loss to San Francisco State.

Sophomore Wilson is the No. 2 QB but has only seen limited action. Despite being ranked as a fine passer, Wilson only completed four of 14 attempts for 36 yards and tossed three bad pitchouts last week.

But Wilson is accustomed to winning. He was the starting QB two years ago at Temple City and led the Rams to a 2-A CIF championship. Incidentally TC has yet to lose a game in the past five years (45 straight wins).

No. 3 man is freshman McLaughlin, just brought up from the unbeaten junior varsity team where he completed 46 of 79 passes for 600 yards and five TD's.

The injury problem carries into the CLC backfield where Robin White and Hank Bauer are suffering from injuries. Both are expected to play. The healthy starter is fullback Gene Uebelhardt who rushed for 96 yards on 19 carries and scored one TD.

Containment of Cal Poly's unconventional offense has been difficult for each of the four opponents.

Quarterback Jim Zorn has added such an exciting dimension to Bronco football that fans await his every move.

The Cerritos College transfer has thrown for 789 yards and 11 TD's while completing 39 of 112 attempts. His label of 'Big Play QB' has been accurate since he's accounted for six scores over 40 yards—five passing and one running.

Tide No. 4, but it looks much better

By United Press International

The numbers they're rolling down at the University of Alabama these days are loaded with dynamite.

The Tide, although listed only fourth in the latest ratings, has been the most impressive team among the national powers during the first month of the college football season and already the local fans are anticipating a fifth perfect season in the last 13 years.

Alabama has been simply awesome in winning its first three games, averaging 549 total yards while humbling California 66-0, Kentucky 28-14 and Vanderbilt 44-0. And if that isn't total power in itself, consider the words of a member of Coach Bear Bryant's staff, who said: "Don't let that Vanderbilt score fool you. We could have won 100-0 if we hadn't cleared our bench as early as we did."

On Saturday, Alabama runs across another unbeaten team, Georgia, but as a measure of the respect the Tide has built up it has been installed a heavy three-touchdown favorite.

Georgia opened with an unimpressive 7-7 tie against Pittsburgh, then beat Clemson 31-14 and North Carolina State 31-12. A key man for the Bulldogs has been freshman Gene Washington, who had a 96-yard kickoff return against Clemson and scored on an 86-yard kickoff return and a 27-yard reverse against North Carolina State.

"We never go into a game thinking we don't have a chance to win," said Georgia Coach Vince Dooley. "But you've got to respect Alabama's ability and its depth, especially that depth. They just keep pouring people at you."

Ohio State, the No. 1 team in the country, should have little trouble in stretching its record to 3-0 at home against Washington State, but the way the Buckeyes do it will be important. Fullback Champ Henson, the nation's leading scorer last year, was injured in last week's 37-3 triumph over TCU and will be lost for the season following surgery.

"There's no special strategy we can use because Henson is missing," said Jim Sweeney, coach of Washington State, which is 1-2. "I'm just wondering what other great athlete they have to take his place."

Third-ranked Southern California came out a little better than Ohio State when it was learned that speedy junior learned that speedy junior tailback Anthony Davis is ready to start against Oregon State on Saturday.

Davis injured his right ankle the first time he carried the ball aginast Oklahoma last Saturday, when the Trojans had to settle for a 7-7 tie, but he went through drills Wednesday without any problems.

In other games involving the top 10, second-ranked Nebraska, hoping to rebound from a close call against Wisconsin, is an off-the-board choice over Minnesota, as is fifth-ranked Michigan over Oregon and sixth-ranked Oklahoma over Miami (Fla.). Penn State, ranked seventh, is 17 over Air Force, eighth-ranked Tennessee is 10 over Kansas, No. 9 Notre Dame is an off-the-board favorite over Michigan State and No. 10 Louisiana State is a heavy choice over Florida.

Leos, Hens face difficult weekend

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona-Pitzer and La Verne have their work cut out for them this week.

The Sagehens (0-1-1) journey to San Diego Saturday to play the University of San Diego (2-1) at 7:30 p.m. La Verne (1-1) kicks off the day's action with a 1:30 p.m. game at Azusa Pacific's Hillside Campus. The Cougars are 2-1 so far. Claremont-Mudd and Redlands each have byes. Whittier plays Loyola at Westchester High, and Occidental is at St. Mary's to round out the schedule. All are non-conference games.

The Leopards of La Verne are coming off an upset win over USIU. The question is, can Roland Ortmayer pull another surprise from his seemingly endless supply of stunners?

So far the season is starting out the same as last year. Ort's Leos began by losing a 42-0 opening game to Whittier, then rebounded for three straight wins.

This year they dropped the opener to Whittier 20-7 then came back last week to surprise the Westerners, 16-15. Ben Hines' defense held USIU to just three yards in the first half.

Leading the Leopard attack as usual will be fullback Curtis Frick. Against the Westerners, Frick carried the ball 25 times for 77 yards.

"Whether or not he's carrying the ball, Frick is instrumental in the gain we make," said Ortmayer of the former Bonita star. "In addition to being our most reliable ball carrier, he's our best blocker."

Another powerful "hitter" on the squad is little Alvin Barela. The 5-4, 148-pound freshman hit 6-5, 240 pound Lem Burnham of the Westerners a mighty lick on one of the kicks. Burnham, honored National NAIA lineman of the week for his efforts in the Westerners' previous game, was so frustrated that he kicked Barela on a later play, was detected and kicked out of the game.

APC has beaten La Verne only once in the eight-year series. "The fact that they beat us last year (10-8) with a tight defense should be enough of a challange,' said Cougar coach Jerry Sconce. "They hit hard and they execute the fundementals well. Last year we fumbled seven times. Needless to say we can't afford to make mistakes against them this year."

The Cougars were awesome in rolling over Pomona-Pitzer, 45-25, last week. With Jim Farmer (169 yards in 11 carries) leading the way, APC had a 31-7 lead built up at halftime. The UCLA transfer is averaging 9.68 yards per carry and 132.3 yards per game this season.

Quarterback John Tully has completed 32 of 46 passes for 460 yards and three touchdowns.

At San Diego, the Toreros will be looking for their third straight win while Pomona-Pitzer is looking for its first. USD walloped Occidental 34-14 last week. Quarterback Bob Dulich ran for 124 yards and completed 12 of 22 passes for 87 more including one for a touchdown.

Big man for the 'Hens to watch is tailback Rich Paulson. The 5-11, 180 pound transfer from Harbor JC is averaging two touchdowns a game with 237 yards in 31 carries.

Richie Scheinblum hit well (.323) in half a season (229 at bats) but is a defensive liability. Vada Pinson, once a fine player, is not the Vada of old. Lee Stanton remains a player of great, but unrealized, potential and the seasons keep passing by without Stanton ever putting it together.

The rest of the players are journeymen who would only be tradeable for other journeymen.

Winston Llenas is a good hitter and is valuable as a pinch or designated hitter. But Llenas is something else in the field. As a third baseman or second baseman, Llenas has only a cauliflower chest to show for his efforts.

Of the young players, other than pitchers, tried out by the Angels, none showed they could do the job both in the field and at bat with the possible exception of Mickey Rivers, but Rivers has been given full shots twice before and fell on his face.

Catcher Charlie Sands looks like a good hitter, but Charlie couldn't catch a baseball in a fish net. Billy Parker has been a power hitter in the minors for years. But he hasn't flashed it in the majors (no home runs and only seven runs batted in in 102 at bats) and in the field, Parker covers about as much ground as a dime.

And so that leaves Singer as the most tradeable and, at the same time, most replaceable commodity.

Personally, I'd hate to see him go. Besides being a fine pitcher, the big guy has always been most cooperative and approachable.

Unless you happen to be batting against him.

Maturity key item for Poly's success

For his performance in the CSLA game, Zorn was selected Pomona Valley Offensive Player of the Week. He accounted for 431 yards total offense including 279 passing and 152 rushing while running for two scores and throwing three others.

Flanker Joe Fabian, former Bishop Amat high star, may be enjoying his best season ever. The speedster has snagged 16 passes for 441 yards and has scored five times.

His accomplishments have earned him College Division Player of the Week in the win over Sacramento State. He caught eight passes for 199 yards and three TD's.

While the notoriety has gone to Zorn and Fabian much credit should be given the offensive line.

The sextet of center Jeff Buhr, guards Pat Jamison and Ron Hanes, tackles Steve Celotto and Vernon Smith and tight end Dave Stock have provided Zorn plenty of time to get his passes off besides fine blocking and rushing plays.

While Cal Poly's CCAA opener is two weeks away, SLO has won two league games.

The Mustangs bombed Cal State Northridge, 65-20, three weeks ago and edged UC Riverside last week, 26-17.

SLO is idle this week after making UCR its 14th straight conference victim. Riverside visits Northridge Saturday afternoon in a CCAA crucial and CS Fullerton battles Long Beach State tonight at Anaheim Stadium.

Bronco notes: Zorn leads the CCAA in total offense with [illegible] yards for four games. His nearest competitor is CSN's QB Don Gray who's accounted for 675 yards. Fabian leads the loop in scoring with 30 points while teammates Ron Tatum (24) and place-kicker Klaus Trettin (20) are fourth and fifth respectively.

Trettin is 11-for-11 on extra points and three-for-five in field goal attempts.

Safety Dennis Amador is tied for the league lead in interceptions with three. Mark Davis (SLO) has the same number of thefts but Amador has returns totaling 34 yards as compared to Davis' six.

In rushing, Zorn (292 yards) trails Fullerton's Dwayne Sims (378) while Poly's Greg Cruz is fifth with 160 yards.

Fabian (16) and Tatum (14) are second and third, respectively, in receiving behind CSN's Mike Gunnels' 17 catches for 220 yards. Fabian leads reception yardage with 450.

Major Hoople predicts SAL will crown new champion

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Peerless Prognosticator

Egad friends, this is the week the action really gets a poppin with the high school teams jumping into the always-exciting league competition, the local junior colleges fight for survival, and the four-year colleges look for better fortunes.

Yes indeed, dear friends, it's not going to be one of the woeful weekends.

Going right into the San Antonio League we find nothing too unusual — did I say nothing?

The Damien Spartans will get rid of the defending league champions once and for all when they knock off the underexperienced Claremont 'Pack, 22-7. The 'Pack won't be back this year — that's for sure — har-umph!

And Garey High will never say die against the marching Cowboys down from Chino way, as the Vikings will sprint their way to an 18-14 win.

Oh the mighty Giants! There's no doubt about — That's the team from Ganesha High that Upland will fall to this weekend, 34-13. heh, heh — the Scots (are you ready for this) will see spots when this one is over.

Now that I got that one out of my system, we'll go on with the forecast, thank goodness!

The Devils of Pomona will be red hot, but only hot enough to trip the Montclair Cavaliers by a slim 24-20 margin.

No surprises will be in store in the Hacienda League as the battlin' Braves from Alta Loma will bump and bruise the Bonita Bearcats, 28-18, Walnut's Mustangs won't yield to Gladstone, 30-12, Ontario will keep the Sierra Vista Dons down, 14-13, and San Dimas will roast the Romans from Royal Oak, 20-7.

Other prep scores around the southland includes Rowland 13-Bassett 0, Chaffey 21-Pacific 16, Valley Christian 30-Ontario Christian 10, Webb 22-Placentia 20, Charter Oak 18-Azusa 7 and Baldwin Park 14-Nogales 13.

And now for the local colleges, yes indeed.

Ol' Cal Poly won't be so jolly to see Cal Lutheran score the first 14 points of the game, but the Broncos will be buckin' right to the end and finally pull off a 24-14 win.

La Verne fortunes will be a little dark as Azusa Pacific will do more than bark, 28-20.

And poor Pomona-Pitzer. The 'Hens (I'm afraid to say) will lay another egg — 37-7.

Mt. SAC will show its mighty power and move up in the rankings as well in rolling to a 27-14 trampling of L.A. Valley — har-rumph!

And meanwhile, my fellow followers, it'll be Citrus Owls hooting their way to a 21-13 clawing of the Panthers from Chaffey.

Well, that does it fo the valley. Now let's take a look at the national scene — har-rumph!

We foresee an Alabama victory over the Bulldogs, 30-11, and triumphs for Auburn over Ole Miss, 27-14, LSU over Florida, 12-8, and up and coming Kentucky over Mississippi State, 18-14 — um-kumph!

The big explosion of the day will occur in Colorado where the Air Force Falcons play host to power-laden Penn State. The Falcons will fly high as they shoot down Joe Pate no's high-scoring Nittany Lions, 24-17 — kaff-kaff! For the other service academy clubs it will be a rough afternoon as Georgia Tech whacks Army 18-11, and Boston College sinks the midshipmen. The Eagles will even their all-time record with Navy at 6-all by recording a close 22-20 victory!

You can throw the book out the window when the North Carolina State Wolfpack and the North Carolina Tar Heels get together for their 73rd meeting in Raleigh. In a thrilling down-to-the-wire battle our nod goes to the Wolfpack by a 26-24 count!

Elsewhere around the nation we look for Bill Battle's Tennessee Volunteers to outbattle — heh-heh — the invading Kansas Club and win a hard fought contest, 28-17, Texas will down the visiting Wake Forest Demon Deacons, 31-21, and Arizona State should have a little trouble overpowering New Mexico, 41-7!

Watch, too, for Woody Hayes' Big Buckeyes to whack Washington State, 42-14, the Southern California Trojans to trounce Oregon State, 37-14, the Notre Dame Irish to roll over Michigan State, 36-12, and Nebraska to grind out a 40-27 win over Minnesota — har-rumph!

Unitas returns to his native city

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Some one remarked jocularly that if Johnny Unitas keeps throwing passes he will cover the distance from Baltimore to Washington.

Now 40, his hair speckled with gray, Unitas still has the sagacity, if not his old time passing skill. He will return here, his native city, with the San Diego Chargers who meet the Steelers Sunday.

The story of how the Steelers cut Unitas in camp in 1955 is a familiar one. Coach Walt Kiesling elected to stay with Jimmy Finks.

The decision perturbed Timmy Rooney, then 18, who was at the Steelers training camp. He wrote his father, Art Rooney, the club president, a 10-page letter imploring Unitas be kept on the roster.

"He's the hardest worker and the best football player in camp, Dad, Timmy wrote. "Even after regular drills he keeps practicing passes."

John and Pat Rooney, 16-year-old twins, caught Unitas' passes in camp and shared their brother's enthusiasm for Unitas.

But the elder Rooney wrote his sons that the choice of quarterbacks was up to Kiesling.

Unitas returned home and signed with the Bloomfield Rams, a local sandlot team that paid him $6 a game. He was picked up by the Baltimore Colts in 1956 and for the next 17 years he became a legend. He led his team to NFL titles in 1958 and 1959 and to a Super Bowl championship in 1971.

It has been estimated that by the end of the season Unitas will have amassed more than four miles in passes. The Chargers, apparently having faith in his skills, though diminishing, signed him to a $150,000 contract last January after acquiring him in a trade.

But Unitas cannot fake out the creeping years. In preseason he was slowed down by sore knees and back spasms.

In three games with the Chargers, Unitas has a completion average of 47 per cent. But on the debit side five of his passes have been intercepted.

Unitas last played in Pittsburgh in 1962 when the Steelers beat the Colts 20-9 in an exhibition game. But he hooked up with Jimmy Orr, another former Steeler, for a 79-yard scoring aerial.

Unitas returned here in 1968 but was unable to play because of a sore elbow. He was replaced by Earl Morrall—yes, another ex-Steeler-who led the Colts to a 41-7 rout.

Oak Tree Meet to start Saturday at Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—The fifth annual Oak Tree at Santa Anita meeting, a 21-day session with a stakes schedule of 13 added-money events and $570,000 in purses, gets under way Saturday.

Under a new format, Oak Tree will have Thursday through Monday racing. Two of the four Sunday programs will feature championship events — the $75,000-added Oak Leaf Stakes for 2-year-old fillies Oct. 21 and the $75,000-added Norfolk Stakes, open to all juveniles, Oct. 28.

The traditional closing day feature is the $100,000 Oak Tree Invitational Nov. 3. The invitational is a mile and one-half weight-for-age event.

The season will get started with the $25,000-added Autumn Days Handicap for distaffers on opening day at 6½ furlongs on the hillside grass course.

Jets, Dolphins switch dates

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Jets of the National Football League confirmed Monday that their game Sunday with the Miami Dolphins — originally scheduled for Shea Stadium —would be transferred to Miami.

Stats tell tale of Mounties' success

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Into the fourth week of football season 1973, Mt. San Antonio College football players are one, two or three in every individual statistical category compiled on South Coast Conference teams in pre-conference games.

The Mounties won't open SCC play until Oct. 20, when they host defending champion Cerritos at Memorial Stadium. A bye date is on the schedule following Saturday's game with visiting L. A. Valley, the last non-conference opponent.

In winning three games in a row to date, third year head coach Mal Eaton's team has been impressive, and the stats mirror this image.

Unlike many coaches, Eaton doesn't use statistics as a guide in finding, and improving areas of weakness. His primary source of finding, and correcting problems areas, is through game films, which Eaton and his five-man staff break down and pour over Sundays following game-day.

Eaton took special note of one statistic, however. Under "team rushing defense" the figures showed MSAC ahead of only one other conference team, Fullerton, the Mounties having yielded an average of 126.7 yards per game on the ground. The figure for Fullerton is 127.0.

Eaton's comment: "Maybe that means we can run against Fullerton."

Fullerton is of particular interest to Eaton. The Hornets are now ranked No. 1 in the state, up from No. 8 last week, after knocking El Camino from the top spot, 20-10, last weekend. The Mounties were No. 2, but slippped to No. 3, despite a 21-12 win over L. A. Harbor. A Northern California team, Reedley, vaulted to No. 2. Such is the fickleness of football pollesters and pollees.

Fullerton players also share the top three spots in the statistics with Mounties. This is the way they shape up:

Rushing: 1. MSAC's Teddy Farmer—301 yards on 59 carries, 5.1 average, one touchdown. 2. Fullerton's Don Luginbill—226 yards on 53 carries, 4.3 average, one touchdown.

Passing: 1. Fullerton's Steve DeBerg—32-50-2, 64 per cent, 516 yards, five touchdowns. 2. MSAC's Steve Mayer—36-66-2, 54.5 per cent, 410 yards, six touchdowns.

Receiving: 1. Fullerton's Craig Caldwell—11 for 179 yards, two touchdowns. 2. MSAC's John McIntyre, 10 for 218 yards, four touchdowns.

In four other categories—punt returns, kickoff returns, interceptions and scoring—Mountie players are in the top three, while Fullerton players are well down the list.

MSAC's John Huston leads in punt return yardage with 65 yards on five returns. In kickoff return yardage, Teddy Farmer is second with 83 yards on three carries.

MSAC's Larry Burrell is No. 1 in pass interceptions with four, while two Mounties, McIntyre and Tom MacKenzie are one-two in scoring. McIntyre shares the lead with Neff Cortez of Cerritos. Both have 24 points on four touchdowns. MacKenzie has 23 points on four field goals and 11 extra points.

In total offense, DeBerg Cortez and Myer are one-two-three with 440, 417 and 369 total nets yards, respectively.

Cortez, however has been a balanced threat, rushing for 130 yards and passing for 287. Both Myer and DeBerg have been sacked for minus rushing yardage—76 for the Fullerton quarterback and 41 for MSAC's.

LOOKING FOR DAYLIGHT — Citrus running back Hector Gonzalez looks for daylight as MSAC defenders Mike Stanridge (77) and Mark Bradford (60) close the gap in the season opener three weeks ago. Citrus hosts Chaffey and MSAC entertains L. A. Valley Saturday.

Owls, Panthers try to iron out common faults in annual clash

Sharing common problems of a frustrating season so far, Citrus will entertain old rival Chaffey College Saturday night.

In years gone by, the traditional gridiron battle was a signal for various capers designed to embarras or psyche out the opposing team.

At one time or another the mascots of both teams have been kidnaped prior to Big Game Day, only to be returned unharmed in a prisoner exchange at halftime.

One year, Citrus mascot, Hoot the Owl, disappeared from his perch, abducted by Chaffey students. Not to be outdone, Citrus students pilfered the Chaffey mascot, Pete the Panther (stuffed), from the Chaffey gymnasium.

Whether or not all this had any effect on the outcome of the action on the playing field has never been determined. But this year, the opposing coaches can use all the help they can get.

Summing up the feelings of he and Chaffey's Willie Richardson, John Strycula said, "We haven't put it together yet—it's that simple."

The team that puts it together Saturday night will almost assuredly eliminate the other from serious title contention.

The Panthers may have been eliminated already. Richardson's team has suffered conference losses to Saddleback, 35-21, and San Bernardino, 31-9, and is 0-3 overall for the season.

The Owls are 1-1 in conference play, having beaten Palomar, 20-7, before last week's loss to Saddleback, 17-0.

But the point total against Palomar—20—is also the total or the season. Citrus was shutout in its non-conference opener with Mt. San Antonio, 34-0.

Turnovers have played a big role in killing the efforts of both teams.

And both coaches subscribe to the theory that the team that makes the fewest mistakes will win Saturday.

The contest will likely take form on the ground. Neither has been successful passing.

Chaffey has two fine runners in tailback Dennis Farrell, a freshman, who rushed for 118 yards on 27 carries, and sophomore Stan Combs, who gained 80 yards on 13 carries against San Bernardino.

For the Owls, tailback Doug Hopper, a freshman, is the leading ground gainer with 333 yards on 66 carries for a 4.9 average. Quarterback Bill Strycula is second with 89 yards on 27 carries or a 3.2 average.

MSAC runners duel Dons

IRVINE — In a battle of unbeaten South Coast Conference cross country teams, Mt. San Antonio travels to Irvine Park Friday to face Santa Ana College in a 3:30 p.m. meet.

The Mounties swept Cerritos last week, 15-50, taking the first seven places. Steve Koenig and Steve Chase finished first in a dead heat, clocking 21:30 over MSAC's four-mile course.

Santa Ana was a 15-42 winner over San Diego Mesa, while Fullerton turned the trick on Orange Coast, 15-47.

Santa Ana is the defending state small schools cross country champion. A year ago, MSAC defeated the Dons in the dual meet campaign, only to lose to them later in the team championships.

MSAC's Koenig, a sophomore, who lettered two years ago, has returned from a hitch in the Army. He has paced the squad in three outings to date. At the Moorpark Invitational he was the first Mountie across the finish line in eighth place, as MSAC finished fourth in the large schools division.

Two weeks ago against Orange Coast he was first in 21:21, and last week he shared first place with Chase in the victory over eCrritos.

Filling out the first seven places against Cerritos were Bob Watanabe, third, 21:41; Mark Lotich, fourth, 21:49; Art Eddy, fifth, 22:03; Dave Andrews, sixth, 22:06, and Dave Lazarin, seventh, 22:14.

The team time of 1:48.33 was a school record over the rugged MSAC course.

Fullerton wins second Mountie tank tourney

WALNUT — Fullerton College successfully defended its title in the Mountie Invitational Water Polo Tournament last weekend, winning three games including an 11-6 victory over host MSAC in the finals.

Tourney MVP Larry Wahl scored three goals for the champions in the final game, as did MSAC's Henry Rodriguez.

The Mounties reached the final round of the second annual event by defeating Orange Coast, 9-5, in the semi-finals. Oscar Rodriguez led the attack with a three-goal performance. MSAC bombarded L. A. Pierce, 16-4, in the opening round.

OCC settled for third place, and Pasadena captured the consolation trophy with a 7-5 victory over Cypress.

The Mounties were in action Tuesday at Long Beach City College before leaving for a weekend engagement in the Northern California Championships at DeAnza and Foothill community colleges. MSAC was scheduled to meet Diablo Valley, University of the Pacific and UC Davis.

MSAC's overall record going into the match at Long Beach was 5-2.

Claremont Warriors, Chino Mavericks impressive

Pomona P.W. teams enjoying shutouts

Pomona's Pop Warner football teams are continuing their winning habits with four teams enjoying shutout victories.

Coach Archie Brown guided his Bruins (Pee Wee) to their 15th consecutive victory in blanking the San Dimas-La Verne Gladiators, 31-0, for their ninth shutout in 11 outings.

Brown listed Kennedy Royston and Larry Yarbrough as the Bruins of the Week. Jimmy Spotville led the attack with two touchdowns and 174 yards on 10 carries while Royston, James Murdock and Edwin Morris also scored TDs.

The Pomona Dolphins (3-0) also enjoyed a shutout in blanking Santa Ana, 18-0, in a Midget Division game. Anthony Clinton passed 55 yards to Steve Smith to set-up Pat Munford's first touchdown run. Lee Maxwell blocked a punt to enable Bennie Gooden to score on a 25-yard sweep helped by Craig Purm's key block.

In other action, the Pomona Chargers blanked the Fontana Falcons, 13-0, while Darryl Titsworth passed 15 yards to Anthony Mejia and ran 51 yards to lead the Pomona Chargers (Jr. Pee Wee) to a 13-0 blanking of the Fontana Falcons. David Brown scored two touchdowns to lead the Pomona Trojans (Pee Wee) past the SD-LV Vikings, 33-0. Navarro Dixon, Donald Milner and Clifford Tabor scored the other Trojan touchdowns.

In Claremont, the Warriors (Midget) ran their record to 2-0-1 by blanking San Bernardino, 14-0, on a pair of touchdown passes by quarterback Bill Magnusson to Garnett Ferguson and Bob Verburg. Other outstanding players for the Warriors were Jeff Dodd, Steve Campbell and Craig Ruecker.

Diamond Bar came up with a 2-3-1 record with the Little Guys and Banditos scoring victories.

The Little Guys, coached by Don Greeley, beat the Fontana Eagles, 18-6, on Andy North's key 30-yard TD run plus fumble recoveries by Kim Greeley and Kurt Lester.

Defense was the name of the game for the Banditos in a 16-0 blanking over the Banning Comencheros for Diamond Bar's third consecutive shutout. Kevin Caporale scored the touchdown while the defense — led by Klif Rader — turned in two safeties.

The Lobos (1-0-2) had to settle for an 0-0 tie against the Upland Rams. The Gauchos fell to the Banning Banditos, 25-12, despite a 75-yard kickoff return by Arnold Neri.

In a key Junior Pee Wee battle, the Chino Mavericks (3-0) edged the Upland T-Birds, 7-6, thanks to a 68-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter.

Chino lost in the other games. The Midget Colts took a 12-0 defeat at the hands of the Ontario 49ers while the Pee Wee Dusters fell to the Fontana Wolves, 34-6.

The Upland Chargers held the Montclair Pirates to minus 15 yards rushing and a net total of three yards in a 7-0 shutout win in the Pee Wee Division. Keith Hardin scored on a 33-yard run and ran for the extra point. The Pirates intercepted two passes and recovered four fumbles.

Diamond Bar scores win in overtime

DIAMOND BAR — The Diamond Bar-Walnut Cowboys (Pee Wee) used the California tiebreaker system to score a 7-6 win over the Glendora Tartans in a Junior All-American football game.

Diamond Bar-Walnut gained 11 yards in the overtime to get the win. In regulation play, the Cowboys scored in the third quarter on a 45-yard pass from Joel Nunn to Ron Seyb.

The undefeated Cowboys Silver (Jr. Pee Wee) blanked the Baldwin Park Roadrunners, 19-0, on a pair of touchdowns by Jim Manchip and one by Steve Smith. The defense held Baldwin Park to 14 net yards.

Meanwhile, the Cowboys Blue (Jr. Pee Wee) took a 7-6 loss against the Bassett Leprechauns. Fullback Pat Moag scored the Cowboys' touchdowns in the third quarter on a six-yard run.

The Silver team will play at home at Walnut High at 1 p.m. Saturday against Avocado Heights while the Blue team visits Avocado Heights and the Midget Cowboys travel to La Habra.

IF YOU OWN A CAR CHANCES ARE YOU'RE BEING SWINDLED!

So say A. Randall and Arthur P. Glickman in their book, "The Great American Auto Repair Robbery."

PROBLEM—

FRANCHISE OPERATIONS

Franchised repair shops often operate under unfavorable contract agreements with the franchiser. The franchiser frequently takes the cream off the top and makes assessments for national advertising. This forces some of these shops to squeeze everything they can out of every customer.

SOLUTION

INDEPENDENT SHOPS

"The independent garage is the best place for the customer to get his car serviced because they don't sell anything but service and they depend on the customer's coming back," contends a Machinists Union official.

Trout plant

LONG BEACH — The following Southern California lakes and streams, listed by county, are scheduled for restocking this week with catchable-size rainbow trout from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries:

LOS ANGELES — Big Rock Creek, Bouquet Canyon Creek, Crystal Lake, San Gabriel River (East and West Fork).

RIVERSIDE — Hemet Lake.

SAN BERNARDINO — Big Bear Lake, Gregory Lake, Lytle Creek (Middle and North Fork), Santa Ana River, Santa Ana River South Fork Silverwood Lake.

SAN DIEGO — Cuyamaca Lake, Doane Pond.

DFG looks at Sportfishing

Outdoors

SACRAMENTO — The Department of Fish and Game has moved boldly to simplify and clarify sport fishing regulations under a plan that would divide the state into districts with homogeneous fisheries and regulations.

Department recommendations for 1974 sport fishing regulations — including the sweeping new plan and a revised format for the regulations booklet — will go before the California Fish and Game Commission Friday in Los Angeles.

Commission President Sherman Chickering of San Francisco said that the commission meeting, in Room 1138 of would:

— Place all coastal counties containing salmon and steelhead streams under one general trout season. This would add to the northwest season the counties of Marin, Mendocino, Monterey, San Francisco, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, Santa Cruz and Sonoma.

— Place a year-around five-trout limit on all inland waters of Alameda and Contra Costa counties and in southern California, excepting Inyo and Mono counties and the Colorado River-Salton Sea area. The limit is now 10 trout from April to November, five the balance of the year.

Adding Alameda and Contra Costa counties to the year-around trout season would not, in the words of the department, "pose a threat to any trout resource, but (would) permit the development of catchable trout stocking programs on streams during the fall, winter and spring."

— Open to fall and winter trout and salmon fishing streams in San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Monterey and Marin counties — this to eliminate unnecessary restrictions on fishing during these periods.

— Manage as wild steelhead streams many of the same streams, eliminating the summer trout fishery and thereby protecting juvenile fish, where catchable trout are not planted.

— Redefine the boundaries of San Francisco Bay within which fish of any species may be taken at night and add to the list of waters open to night fishing Anderson Reservoir, Santa Clara County; Big Bear Lake, San Bernardino County; Bucks Lake, Plumas County; Coyote Reservoir, Santa Clara County, and Folsom Lake in El Dorado, Placer and Sacramento counties.

Several department recommendations are aimed at strengthening and extending the DFG's wild trout program. On the wild trout section of Hot Creek, Mono County, for example, the DFG urges a reduction in the daily bag and possession limit from 10 to two.

According to the DFG, the wild trout section of the creek, which is less than one mile long, is unable to withstand angler pressure (estimated at 15,000 angler hours this year) under the existing limit.

Twenty-one percent of the catchable-sized trout were taken by anglers during the first month of the season this year, says the DFG and more than half of the population would have been lost had not anglers released 63 percent of their catch.

Suggested regulations would impose wild trout stream status on the Klamath River from Copco Lake to the Oregon border.

Special trout regulations would be written for Deep Creek in San Bernardino County where the limit would be three, and the minimum size 6 inches and flies-only allowed — this on one of the south state's few remaining wild trout streams.

Other regulations changes would shorten the length of the special flyfishing area on the lower Kings River in Fresno County; reduce the length of the river covered by the all-year closures on the Feather in Butte County; establish five-trout limits with the opening July 1, 1974, of Perris Lake in Riverside County and Pyramid Lake in Los Angeles County; reduce the trout limits to three on the Sacramento and the Lower Yuba rivers; close to all fishing San Francisquito Creek in Santa Clara and San Mateo counties, and, during the winter trout closure, close to all fishing streams and rivers upstream from Melones Reservoir in Alpine, Calaveras and Tuolumne counties and all streams and rivers east of State Highway 49 in Tuolumne County.

On another subject, the DFG proposes allowing the taking of worms within 1,000 feet of the intertidal zone in state parks, state beaches, state reserves and so forth.

In an effort to clarify the regulation, the department also calls for restriction of multiday fishing trips to offshore islands and waters south of Point Conception. The current definition of offshore waters for purposes of the section is "10 miles or more seaward from the mainland shore of California."

Another DFG recommendation would provide a daily bag and possession limit of 25 pounds wet weight for the sport take of herring eggs, which, the department says, is becoming significant.

In an effort to better distribute pressure on razor clams in Humboldt and Del Norte counties, seasons would be open on northern beaches during odd years and southern beaches during even years. The beaches were open to year-round clamming for three consecutive years to determine distribution of effort and catch.

The DFG also is recommending the size and shape of irons that can be used in the taking of abalone be spelled out.

Ducks missing for hunt opener

LONG BEACH — Duck season opened along the Colorado River Monday, but someone forgot to tell the ducks.

"Its a case of starting at zero and working up," said State Department of Fish and Game Captain James Reynolds of Blythe.

Reynolds said that some ducks had visited the Palo Verde Valley in September, but they had moved on. "If we expect to get any shooting, new birds will have to move in," he said.

The hunter turnout Monday was limited to a few pessimistic local residents.

The first half of the Colorado River duck season ends on Oct. 28. The second half of the season is from Nov. 17 to Jan. 20. The limit is five per day, ten in possession.

The outlook is also pessimistic for the opening of the duck season in the remainder of Southern California on Saturday, Oct. 13.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service conducted an aerial and ground survey of the Salton Sea area last week and arrived at an estimate of 8,000 birds in the area, most of them pintail ducks or teals.

R. B. Reno, wildlife habitat foreman at State's Imperial Wildlife Area, said the duck population at both the Wister and Finney-Ramer units was far below that of last year although new birds appeared to be arriving daily.

The Wister unit is one of the most popular waterfowl hunting areas in Southern California. Hunting is permitted there on Saturdays, Sundays and Wednesdays throughout the season on a reservation basis. First-come, first-served permits are issued at the gate if any of the 200 reservation holders fail to show up by one and one-half hours before shooting time.

Reno said that Wister had a lot of standing barley for ducks and that three rye fields had just been planted for geese. Ponds are now being filled for the expected fall arrival of ducks.

Bear season not open yet

POMONA — With the opening of the late deer seasons, the Department of Fish and Game reminded hunters that the bear season has not yet opened and there is no season on mountain lion.

The bear season will not open until Oct. 13. There is a four-year moratorium on mountain lion hunting in California.

Sports news in brief

CHARLIE GLOTZBACH, known around the NASCAR circuit as "Chargin' Charlie," drove his Chevrolet around the Charlotte Motor Speedway at a record speed of 158.730 miles per hour Wednesday to capture the pole position for Sunday's National 500 stock car race.

His speed was only four-tenths of a mile faster than David Pearson's Mercury.

THE SAN DIEGO Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association, under the eye of new coach Wilt Chamberlain, defeated a pick-up team from Phoenix, 134-117, Wednesday night.

THE FOUNDERS of the proposed World Football League, despite plans to rely mainly on weekday schedules to avoid head-to-head competition in its inaugural season, are ambitiously aiming towards equal status with the National Football League.

"We are forming a new league which will be a second major football league," said the WFL's chief founder Gary L. Davidson, a 39-year-old attorney who was also a co-founder of the American Basketball and World Hockey Associations.

"I've never started a minor league in my life."

BERNIE BIERMAN, a football Hall of Famer who guided four University of Minnesota teams to national championships during the depression years, was resting in guarded condition today after suffering a heart attack.

Bierman was taken to the intensive cardiac unit at the South Coast Community Hospital in Laguna Hills after being sticken Wednesday.

JURGEN BLIN, facing what he considers the most crucial fight of his eight-year career, is confident about tonight's 10-round bout with fifth-ranked heavyweight Ron Lyle.

The fight is being held in Denver.

THE DENVER BRONCOS said Wednesday they picked up five-year starting defensive back John Pitts from the Buffalo Bills in exchange for middle linebacker Fred Forsberg.

THE BALTIMORE COLTS sent veteran linebacker Ray May to the Denver Broncos Wednesday for what was termed as "undisclosed 1974 draft choices."

WHITEY LOCKMAN has signed to continue as manager of the Chicago Cubs for the 1974 season, executive vice president John Holland announced today.

TOP-SEEDED Ken Rosewall of Australia today entered the semifinals of the men's singles of the $25,000 Osaka Open Tennis Tournament by beating Japanese Davis Cup player Jun Kuki 6-2, 6-4.

Cliff Drysdale will play Rosewall in the semifinals Saturday.

A JURY of eight men found Cleveland Browns' wide receiver Gloster Richardson guilty Wednesday of possession of marijuana.

THE INDIANA PACERS of the American Basketball Association put veteran team captain Freddie Lewis on waivers Wednesday two hours after denying he had been waived.

THE KENTUCKY COLONELS Wednesday announced the acquisition of former Notre Dame star Collis Jones from the San Antonio Spurs and the release of veteran Jim Ligon and rookie Jim Lister to trim the squad to 13 players.

HOLLAND'S TOM OKKER became the fifth player this year to go over the $100,000 mark in winnings on the International Tennis circuit with his recent victory in the Tam International Open in Chicago, the Association of Tennis Professionals reported Wednesday.

Birds name Palmer; A's favored

BALTIMORE (UPI) —The last time Baltimore Orioles pitching ace Jim Palmer went to the mound he got bombed, five runs in five innings.

But Palmer, who will start for the Birds Saturday when they begin their championship playoff series against the Oakland A's, says he isn't the least bit upset about it.

Tuesday, in a rain shortened intrasquad game.

"I couldn't really get up for that," the 22-game winner says. And he adds poker-faced. "The mound was bad."

Palmer says he also isn't upset about something else. That some of the "experts" Los Vegas picking the A's to whip the Birds.

"Great," says the 22-game winner. "It will make them overconfident and make our job easier."

Orioles Manager Earl Weaver also says he's happy some people are making the A's the favorites. "It takes the pressure off us and puts it on them," he said.

Weaver notes with a dig that many of the "experts" didn't even pick his club to win their division.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's all-star third baseman, who has been through three play-offs, all as a winner, says the A's should be favored. "They are the defending world champions," he says.

But Robinson quickly adds,"Them being favored doesn't mean a thing. It's not going to affect our ability to beat them."

Robinson, who has just completed one of his most dismal regular seasons since coming up with the Birds in 1955, is hoping that things improve for him in the playoffs and then, the World Series.

Like in 1970, when Robinson led the Birds into the Series where he, his bat and glove dismantled the "Big Red Machine" from Cincinnati.

The 37-year-old Robinson, sounding more like a rookie than a 17-year veteran, says he really "gets up for the Series and playoffs.

"Maybe its the excitement," Robinson says. "I feel it. TV cameras, writers all around, big crowds. I'm not saying it makes it easier, but the feeling is different."

Canucks top Kings, 6-2

VICTORIA, B.C. (UPI) — The Vancouver Canucks picked up their seventh win of the preseason Wednesday night by defeating the Los Angeles Kings 6-2 in a National Hockey League contest.

The Canucks scored twice in the first period, once in the second period and three times in the final period.

Kings goals were scored by Gilles Marotte at 15:27 of the second period on a 40-foot slap and Vic Venasky at 11:46 of the third period on a rebound.

Los Angeles finished 2-5-1 in the preseason and open the regular season Oct. 10 against the Chicago Black Hawks at home.

Bond yields confuse reader

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — I bought Federal Land Bank bonds which paid 7½ per cent. Then I noticed in your column you say they are paying 8.4 per cent. When I called my agent he said they now pay 9 per cent. What is wrong?

A — There is a very reasonable explanation for this seeming conflict. When bonds are bought at original offering for $1,000, the coupon or interest rate is the same as the yield. For example: a 7.5 per cent bond bought at $1,000 yields 7.5 per cent, but if the price of that bond goes down in the resale market to $950, the bond is then said to pay 7.9 per cent currently. This is the yield that a buyer at $950 would receive. When you checked with your broker he quoted you the highest current yield available on Federal Land Bank bonds. Your particular issue, which is due in July 1980, is selling at about $982 to yield 7.64 per cent currently or 7.69 per cent when held to maturity.

Q — I am a 69-year-old widow caught in the vise of rising costs and an inadequate fixed income of $5,250 annually. I hold two preferred stocks, receive Social Security allotments and have $6,000 in a 5¼ per cent savings account. How may my income be increased, keeping in mind the primary requisite of safety? — T. Y.

A — Your problem has no ready solution since your investments, which total $35,500 including savings, yield 7.6 per cent on average. I would certainly suggest that you investigate some of the higher-interest term accounts for part of your savings. However, at best this will only increase your return by less than $100 annually if you transfer half your account. The American Telephone preferred (NYSE) shares which you hold should be sold since the current yield is only 7.2 per cent.

As a replacement, 18M of Continental Telephone Corp. 9⅝s of 1975 would add about $400 to your annual income. This short-term bond is trading slightly above par, is noncallable and carries a BBB rating. These two changes will increase your annual income $500, about 10 per cent more than at present.

The last of the wilderness schoolmarms

By DAVID L. LANGFORD

DUETTE, Fla. (UPI) —The pupils at Duette School call her "Miss Ada," the last of Florida's wilderness schoolmarms.

A matronly woman with neatly coiffed hair, she smiles and speaks softly of her tribulations and small victories.

Barefoot first-graders helped clean up the mess last week when Miss Ada—her full name is Mrs. Ada Bilbrey—opened the screenless windows of the sweltering schoolhouse for the first time and the lovebugs swarmed in.

The school board still hasn't done anything about the cracked and peeling paint on the old frame building, but the roof doesn't leak anymore and this year new gas blowers have replaced the old kerosene heaters.

"Out here it can get pretty cold and the children used to just sit and shiver until about 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning, said Miss Ada, a teacher since World War II.

If the lovebugs are a nuisance and the weather a hardship, Miss Ada doesn't complain loudly she wants to keep her schoolhouse open.

It's the last one-teacher school in Florida, an educational outpost for 22 children tucked away in the northwest corner of Manatee County, a sparsely populated flatland of citrus groves and phosphate mines, tomatoes and watermelons, and bony brahmas grazing among spindly palmettoes.

"Every year we think they're going to close it down," said Miss Ada, who had been teaching here 16 years. Every Monday she picks up seven gallons of milk to supply the lunchroom for a week and she carries the school's record player in the trunk of her car to keep it from being stolen.

Duette School was built during the depression on 11 acres and is shaded by great oaks with their gloomy hanging moss. It's the only building in sight at this dot-on-the-map except for the Dry Prairie Baptist Church next door.

If it closed, the 22 children in grades one through four would have to ride a bus 25 miles oneway to one of the big schools in Palmetto, or someplace else.

"I know I wouldn't like a large school," said Miss Ada, who charts her own course as both principal and teacher. "Every now and then I see some of my old pupils and they say they would like to come back to Duette."

Miss Ada's pupils, all white and predominantly blonde, all come from the surrounding truck farms, cattle ranches and citrus groves, some catching the bus as early as 6:30 a.m. Many come barefoot, for comfort if not economy.

"We don't require shoes, as you can see," Miss Ada said.

Oil drilling in Alaska, East said essential

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The demand for fuel has grown so much the United States industry believes the nation cannot continue to ignore the potential offshore drilling in the East Coast and Gulf of Alaska, John Busterud said recently.

Busterud, the acting chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, said of recent hearings, "Two things surface most frequently —the secondary effects problem, such as on tourism and recreation, and the fact industry feels the demand is so great in that region that leasing is necessary.

"Industry tells us, and they have some evidence for this, that the technology is there to provide for safe drilling and operation of rigs.

"There is some question raised on this by environmentalists. They want to know how to be sure the latest technology is used in each instance. It does appear that the technology has made tremendous strides. Environmentalists still are, of course, more concerned about the secondary effects than about the spills."

Bruce Pasternack of the CEQ told newsmen the agency understands that the Gulf of Alaska is a virtually "pristine" area compared with coastal areas that have some development already. The Council will bear that in mind when making its recommendations, he said.

The Council has held hearings in Washington, D.C., Boston, and Anchorage.

Through hearings and several task forces in the federal government assessing aspects of potential development, the CEQ will recommend to President Nixon whether to allow oil and gas leasing in the offshore waters.

Libya council OKs flogging for adultery

BEIRUT (UPI) —The Libyan ruling Revolution Command Council has adopted flogging as the form of punishment for adultery, a government announcement said today.

The announcement, broadcast by Tripoli Radio, said the decision was taken "because of the wish of the Moslem people of Libya for such punishment."

Libya, under its leader Col. Moammar Khadafy, has abolished most civil laws and substituted them with Islamic laws as dictated by the Koran, the Moslem holy book.

Bridges Hall of Music

Piano-harpsichord recital set

CLAREMONT — John Steele Ritter will present a harpsichord-piano recital of music by Scott Joplin, Chopin, Bach, Beethoven and Messiaen at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in Bridges Hall of Music, Pomona College.

The faculty recital, sponsored by the Pomona College music department, is open to the public without charge.

Ritter, associate professor of music, will open the concert by playing three preludes and fugues by Bach on the harpsichord. He then will turn to the piano to perform the Variations in F on an Original Theme, Opus 34, a relatively early work by Beethoven. The program continues with "Regard du Silence" by Olivier Messiaen and with the 24 Preludes, Opus 28, by Chopin. Ritter has selected three Scott Joplin works to conclude his program: "Euphonic Sounds," "Magnetic Rag," and "Maple Leaf Rag."

The pianist, a member of the Pomona College faculty since 1963, appears frequently at the Monday Evening Concert Series, with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, and as a soloist and chamber musician throughout Southern California. He graduated with honors from the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, Pa., where he studied with Mieczyslaw Horszowski and Rudolf Serkin. Ritter earned a master's degree at Northwestern University, and did further graduate study at USC.

East Germans elect Stoph

BERLIN (UPI) —The East German Parliament today elected Willi Stoph, 59-year-old premier, to replace the late Walter Ulbricht as chairman of the Council of State, or chief of state.

He was nominated by Erich Honecker, the Communist Party first secretary. As usual the vote of the peoples Chamber (Volkskammer) was unanimous.

FESTIVE DINNER—Arthur Spade prepares to make a speech at a farewell dinner in a scene from the Scope III-Far West horror movie, "The Folks at Red Wolf Inn." Listening to him are Linda Gillin, left, and Margaret Avery. The movie, now playing at Southern California theaters, was filmed in the Southland. Some of the scenes were shot on the campus of UC Santa Barbara. John Neilson also stars.

Registrations now open for choir festival

LOS ANGELES — Registrations are now being accepted for the 16th annual Junior Choir Festival sponsored by the Los Angeles chapter of the Choral Conductors Guild.

The festival will be held at the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles March 3. Nonmember directors and their choirs are welcome.

On the theme "Worship the Lord in Gladness," an introit and four anthems based on the 100th Psalm will be sung by combined choirs from Redlands to Pacific Palisades. Choirs may also choose to sing another anthem in one of three area groups.

Guest conductor will be John T. Burke, president of the 7,000-member Choristers Guild and organist-choirmaster ats First Congregational Church of Berkeley. Organist will be George Scharl. A limited number of bell-ringing groups will be registered to play the offertory under the supervision of Halstead McCormac.

Choral music for the festival must be memorized. All of it is suitable for use by large or small choirs.

Registration forms can be obtained from Mrs. Louise Whitman, 1510 Allen Ave., Glendale 91201; phone (213) 243-6449.

Peter Palmer to star in 'Lorelei'

LOS ANGELES — Peter Palmer will be the one to ply Carol Channing with diamonds as he plays the role of Gus Esmond in the Lee Guber-Shelly Gross production of "Lorelei," which opens a seven-week engagement at the Shubert Theater in Century City Wednesday.

Miss Channing plays the title role in the new musical version of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." She created the part in the original on Broadway some 20 years ago.

Palmer is a Theater World Award winner who starred in both the stage and film versions of "L'il Abner." In "Lorelei," he plays one of the men in Miss Channing's life, her "sugar daddy."

Earliest bride

The first bride in the American colonies was Susanna White. She was married to Edward Winslow, later to become governor of the Plymouth colony. She carried a bouquet of arbutus, which began the popular belief that it was the flower of love.

Experts rave over Chinese treasures

LONDON (UPI) —Already they are ranked "among the most spectacular finds of the century." One object has been called "one of the finest art treasures ever found."

To Western eyes seeing them for the first time the nearly 400 objects going on display are a revelation —a dizzying showcase of the riches of ancient China.

Prime Minister Edward Heath opens the Peking-sponsored exhibition of Chinese archeological treasures in London on Friday. It is one of those artistic events which spills far beyond the boundaries of the world of art.

"The impact of the exhibits on Western culture will be immense," said an exhibition spokesman.

Scholarly reserve and academic restraint have been blown sky-high by advance glimpses of what one official called this "quite breath-taking array of treasures." The resulting stir is like the discovery of Tutankhamen's tomb in 1922: a sudden revelation of ancient riches whose existence was hardly suspected.

All the exhibit's objects —they range from nearly 1,400 years old to some 600,000 years old — were excavated in China before it was opened to the West.

The West heard nothing of the wide series of digs uncovering everything from prehistoric tools to the household fittings of emperors. All the objects have been found since 1949. The most spectacular finds came within the past five years.

About 18 months ago, an exhibit spokesman said, "Tantalizing rumors began to reach the West of a series of remarkable discoveries" in China, then sealed off.

They whispered of mysterious, life-size human effigies of jade and gold in a hollow mountain behind iron doors; of metal inlays of unparalleled workmanship; of a cavalry troop of magnificent bronze horses; of one bronze horse flying in midair, one hoof just touching a swallow.

Soon books of photographs published in Peking and scholarly Chinese archeological journals reached the West confirming that all the rumors were true, and more than true.

The event contained an account of Chinese soldiers, "comrades of the 12th platoon," who by accident one inky night in June, 1968, found a jade princess and her jade husband buried since 100 B.C.

"The company commander immediately rose from bed and rushed to the site," the account says. His soldiers had found an "underground structure" guarded by iron doors which was so large that even with a flashlight one was unable to see either the ceiling or the length of it . . ."

Two huge artificial caves were found, each big enough to hold 1,000 people, both crammed to overflowing with the kind of treasures found once in several lifetimes.

In one chamber lay Prince Lieu Sheng, in an incredible suit of 2,498 separate pieces of precious jade, sewn together with 1,100 carats of gold wire — a suit in human form encasing the prince from head to toe and intended to give him eternal life.

In the second tomb was a companion suit made for his wife, Princess Tou-Wan, plus more than 1,200 other objects of gold, silver, jade, bronze, lacquer, stone and pottery.

Another 1,500 objects were recovered from the prince's tomb —carriages, lamps, incense burners, vases, tiny bronze leopards inlaid with gold.

This, however, was only the capstone to a staggering effort of Chinese archeology.

"During the Cultural Revolution,' reported Sherman E. Lee and Wai-Ram Ho of the Cleveland, Ohio, Museum of Art, "460,000 archeological objects were added to two Chinese museums."

Once word of the discoveries reached the West, Peking organized this first such touring exhibition to Paris and London with astonishing speed. Last year's Tutankhamen exhibit in London, displaying ancient Egyptian treasures found 50 years ago in the tomb of the Pharoah Tutankhamen, took seven years to arrange.

Already the exhibit's impact has been considerable. A swelling wave of Chinese influence seems ready to break over fashion design, home furnishings, even food. It has art experts in a tizzy.

"People will be astonished at these exhibits," says Prof. William Watson, head of London University's Percival David Foundation of Chinese Art.

"We have been brought up on a folk-image of Chinese style as it was introduced into 18th century Europe from a China then going through its most decadent and vulgar period.

"These objects," Watson said, "are different."

Schoolhouse can be the mostest fun

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —By this time most American schoolchildren have been back in classes at least a couple of weeks. So let's look in on them to see how they're getting along:

At little Dickie's school, it is "show and tell" time. But Dickie doesn't want to play any more.

"I'm tired of this game," he says. "I want to get back to the serious lessons facing this class."

Asked why he doesn't like "show and tell," Dickie says it's because some of the other kids throw dirt at him.

Dickie says he has some interesting tapes at home that he could bring for "show and tell." But he says he won't bring them because he is afraid little Sammy and little Archie will grab them away from him.

Down the hall in another classroom, little Spiro also is unhappy. Some of little Spiro's friends think he may be planning to drop out.

Spiro says the teacher is being unfair to him. He says he is getting the blame for something that happened before school and which he didn't do anyway.

He says some of the neighborhood rowdies who got caught being naughty are trying to get him in trouble too.

But he says he promised his mother he will stay in school even if the teacher does give him a hard time.

Not all of the kids are unhappy, however. Little Johnny has changed schools this year. He is now enrolled in the same school that Dickie and Spiro attend. He likes the new school very much. He says the kids are lot nicer than they were at the old school.

On the first day of school, little Johnny told the dietician how to plan meals, told the janitor how to wash windows and told the phys ed instructor how to coach volleyball.

Out on the playground we find little Henry. He is running after a group of girls. What fun! Run, Henry, run! Henry also likes to wander off and see what the kids across town are doing. He appears to get along well with the kids on the other side of town.

Over by the water fountain is little Mel. What is Mel doing? It looks as if he is blowing up a trial balloon. He wants to see if it will make taxes go higher.

But little George races over and sticks a pin in the balloon. He tells little Mel to keep his cotton-picking hands away from balloons and taxes. Run, Mel, run!

SEX CANGE — Pat Johnston who as a woman married a 6-foot, 4-inch sailor and later had a sex change operation after marrying a woman, filed for annulment of his marriage last week, the Washington Star-News reported. Johnston is shown as a woman and a man, left to right.

Hearing aid dealers under Nader attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Ralph Nader study group has accused the nation's hearing aid dealers of being ill-trained, dishonest with their customers and more interested in money than medical service.

The investigators called for stricter state licensing procedures and said the federal government should campaign to inform persons with hearing loss exactly what corrective steps to take.

The Joint Committee on Hearing and Hearing Aids, representing both dealers and manufacturers, attacked the report as "ludicrous and absurd" and said its size and style of writing mask its "superficiality and lack of understanding."

"The report is wholly inaccurate in some of its analysis of industry operations," the industry group said. "It is 100 per cent committed to the negative and thus grossly and blatantly misleading."

The study was made by the "retired Professional Action Group,' an organization of professionals, some retired, funded by Nader's Public Citizen Inc.

It said eight volunteers aged 68 to 82, who had no hearing loss and whose condition was verified by hospital tests, visited hearing aid dealers in Baltimore asking if they needed the devices.

"In 42 per cent of the visits, hearing aids were recommended by dealers when audiologists had recommended none," the report said.

Price of VWs will sky 14%

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J. (UPI) —The price of Volkswagen's 1974 cars will be 14 per cent higher for Americans because of the devaluation of the dollar and rising costs, the company announced Tuesday. The new cars will be reaching dealers this month.

The increase hikes the price for a standard "Beetle" from $2,299 to $2,625. The Karman Ghia coupe goes from $3,050 to $3,475.

A Volkswagen of America spokesman said the fact the dollar has lost a third of its value in West Germany where the cars are manufactured, plus rising production costs brought about the increases.

The company said the price increases will be offset in part by a somewhat more liberal warranty policy.

Kalmbach target of state probe

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. said Monday he is investigating the use of between $1 and $2 million in once secret political campaign funds by President Nixon's former attorney.

Deputy Secretary of State Tom Quinn disclosed the investigation as Brown's office released details of a California fund-raising effort by the Committee to re-elect the President.

Brown's statement said a campaign contribution report filed with his office showed a previously unreported $250,000 payment to Herbert W. Kalmbach of Newport Beach, who was Nixon's personal attorney until several months ago.

"The report fails to state the purpose of the payments and suggests that Mr. Kalmbach can best provide information as to the purpose of these funds," Brown said.

Instant cold drink dream now reality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Whether he's on the golf course, squirrel hunting in the woods or driving across the country, happiness to John R. Wray Jr. is a cold drink in his hand—right now.

Wray has developed the capability to get instant cold drinks into hands all across the world, and it may make him a wealthy man.

The 37-year-old former oil and gas explorer has invented a soft drink can with a self-contained chilling system.

It enables the consumer, miles or hours from any refrigeration, to pull the tab top on a warm can of soda, wait 90 seconds for the chill capsule to work and then take a swig of a frosty beverage.

Chill Can Industries, with Wray a major stockholder, is to begin production early next year at its Burns Flat, Okla., plant, of more than 500,000 cans a day containing the device.

Next year

"We hope to be in full swing to catch the summer market next year," said Wray, who believes horizons are virtually unlimited for his brainchild which took six years to perfect.

Aside from the obvious use in canned beverages such as soft drinks, beer and juices, Wray said he hopes to apply the device to canned puddings and other desserts, premixed cocktails and items in uncooled vending machines in hotels and motels.

"It will work on practically anything that's canned," he said, "and the best part is it fits all existing dimensions for cooling, filling, loading and handling equipment."

Here's the way it works:

When you pull the tab on the can, the special capsule under the lid is activated, releasing the refrigerant. Nothing touches the drink, but the chemical process, like a small refrigerator, lowers the temperature of the drink 40 degrees.

The device takes up the space of four ounces of beverage, meaning traditional 12-oz. cans will contain only eight ounces of liquid. They will weigh only a fraction of an ounce more, Wray said.

The big rub will be the cost. Wray indicated soft drinks will probably sell for 30 to 35 cents per can, depending on the retail markup.

"We are going to try to be competitive with refrigeration," Wray said. "Convenience is probably the biggest thing we're selling."

Wray said he got the idea when he ran a firm drilling for oil and gas near Kittanning, Pa., in 1967.

"Being out in the oil fields, I got so thirsty sometimes I thought I was going to die," he said. "I actually would lie down in a creek to get a drink. I would have paid anything for a cold drink."

Monstrosity

He set to work on his idea, went through about 1,000 drawings and 200 or 300 prototypes. "The first one looked like a monstrosity," he recalled.

Researchers at Battelle Memorial Institute here spent three or four months getting a working model, and the device is still being perfected, Wray said.

The inventor can think of all kinds of situations calling for quick-chilled drinks—the farmer stuck on a tractor on the south forty, the fisherman deep in the woods, Mom and Dad in a hot car on the turnpike with screaming kids.

He also envisions a good market for the chilled beverages in Mexico, where ice cubes can cause dysentery, and large-size containers for crossing the desert.

Throwaways will be no problem, according to Wray, because "with a nickel deposit, we hope we can get them back. We're adding something of value to the can, almost comparable to a glass bottle."

As for safety, he said the containers have the stamp of approval of the Food and Drug Administration and will be labeled with warnings against exposure to heat and inhalation of the refrigerant.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM WOODWARD

Woodwards observe golden anniversary

Two hundred guests attended the 50th wedding anniversary reception for Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward of Montclair at the Ontario Ward chapel, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Hostesses were the couple's daughter, Marilyn Petty, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carter Woodward.

The former Clarissa Jensen of Diamondville, Wyo., and Mr. Woodward, of Lancashire, England, were married on Sept. 19, 1923, in the LDS Temple in Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Woodward, a veteran of the British Navy, came to the United States after World War I and worked in a coal mine in Wyoming.

The couple first resided in Diamondville, then Kremmerer, Wyo., before moving to Detroit, Mich., where Mr. Woodward was employed in the automobile industry before studying to become a dental technician. He is presently employed by Drs. Earl Martin and Mark Wiss in Pomona.

The couple's children, Billy Junior Woodward, Carter Leigh Woodward, Mrs. Melvin Atwood and Mrs. Petty, were present at the reception. The Woodwards moved to Pomona in 1938 and have resided in the area since.

Among the special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reeves of National City, Mrs. Reeves is a childhood friend of Mrs. Woodward.

Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Jensen of Chino, Foster Jensen of Ontario, Harold Jensen of Montclair, Diane Gullino of Corona and Mrs. Mary Jensen of Azusa.

Hostesses assisting at the buffet were Mrs. Charles Morris, Mrs. Howard Anderson, Mrs. A.H. Perry and Mrs. Joseph Price.

Lorigo-Lawler vows repeated in church

Miss Becky Lynn Lawler exchanged vows with Manuel Ray Lorigo in a noon Nuptial Mass at Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. Joseph V. Kearney as the officiant.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawler of Pomona was escorted to the altar by her father. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Lorigo of Pomona.

The bride wore a gown of imported lace over peau de soie fashioned with an empire waist. The full hoop skirt swept into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was held by a beaded butterfly tiara.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white baby roses centered with an orchid.

Miss Dawn Carbaugh was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Debbie Lang, sister of the bride, Irene Lorigo, sister of the groom, Melody Siefker and Nancy Nelson.

Dawn Bradley was flower girl and Michael Lang was ring bearer.

Kim Harris served as best man. Groomsmen were Gene Steele, Dennis Harris, Randy Pearson and Eddie Salazar. Ushers were Rudy Mendoza and Raymond Sanchez while William Siefker and John Lawler were junior ushers.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Tattling is irritating

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: We have three children, two boys and a girl who is the middle child. She has developed a habit which my husband and I deplore: She has elected herself watchdog, guardian and overseer of the boys. She constantly runs to my husband or me with news of what the boys are doing and why they shouldn't do it. My husband accepts this as some sort of maternal behavior, but I find it irritating and I feel that if she continues, the boys will grow to dislike and resent her.

She is basically a good daughter but in addition to bringing bad news about her brothers, every evening we face a scene over the dishes. My husband feels this should be her task and she hates the job and frequently ends up breaking a couple of dishes. I try to remain aloof from the nightly argument between her and her father. —T.D.

Dear T.D.: Your daughter's tattling may result from jealousy of her brothers and a hidden diesire to be "one of the boys." This would be especially true if your sons have privileges and if they are treated by either your husband or you in a special fashion.

There are several kinds of tattling. If one child reports on another when there is actual danger, usually neither the child nor the parent objects. "Telling tales" is resented by the child "told on" when one child does it to win favor with a parent and when the resulting punishment is happily observed by the youngster who told.

A child who consistently reports on her brothers or sisters is often seeking more attention from parents. Once the parents give this child the needed attention, or try to find out why the child wants special attention, then the child may not continue to use tattling as a device.

It might be much healthier for your sons and your daughter if all household tasks were shared and rotated each week or day. There is no real reason boys should mow lawns and girls should do dishes and there is a distinct advantage in all children learning how to do tasks that are normally given to the opposite sex.

If we are to believe recent research, it would appear that rigid sex roles are a thing of the past. Industry is trying to interest more women in jobs that have usually been held by men and, as I'm sure you and your husband know, we are undergoing a sexual revolution that frees both sexes from being stereotyped and trapped in a set mold.

There is bound to be a certain amount of jealousy between brothers and sisters, or between children of the same sex. But this jealousy often can be minimized if parents are sensitive to the needs and secret aspirations of their children.

Each child should be treated as an individual with separate needs regardless of whether that child is a boy or a girl. Some psychiatrists and sociologists today feel that it might be better if parents were totally unaware of their children's sex until they are grown. If this were possible, then the child would be seen without prejudice totally for what he or she is without any bias from the parent.

Just as parents should be careful not to see a child as an extension of themselves, but as an individual person with unique talents and limitations, they should also be cautious not to compare one child with another to the discredit of any. When one child is held up as a model the others will naturally resent it.

It might add some new interest in all your children's lives if you tried a two-or three-month experiment. Post a list of all the tasks and assign them on a weekly basis giving each child the opportunity for more variety and perhaps even a chance to learn how to do something he or she does not know how to do.

Nurses to tour Kaiser

Mrs. William Baker of San Bernardino will be the hostess when the Orange County Association of Industrial Nurses meets at Kaiser Steel Corporation in Fontana at 7 p.m. Oct. 10.

Dinner will be served in the Kaiser Cafeteria.

Theodore R. Chinn, community services representative for Kaiser Steel, will present an orientation lecture on Steel Processing. Nurses and guests will be taken on a tour of the plant.

All professional personnel from all fields related to industrial health are invited to attend, according to Mrs. Lois Tait, president of OCAIN.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Baker at (714) 829-3531.

Interior Designing seminar meetings set

Gerald McMahon will discuss carpets and other floor coverings at the Oct. 9 meeting of the Interior Designing sessions on home decorating sponsored by Pomona Valley YWCA at the showrooms of Town and Country Carpets, 520 E. Holt Ave., Pomona, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Mr. McMahon wll give background information and instruction on color, quality and use of carpeting.

At the third meeting Oct. 16, Marius Perrin of Hottel's Upland Furniture Company will present a library program on furniture selection. He is an interior designer with an extensive background in model home decoration. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Pomona Public Library.

Miss Verona Darting of Stillinger's in Pomona will give an informal demonstration of interesting ways to frame and arrange pictures at the Oct. 23 meeting at the Public Library.

The series will close Oct. 30 with a library presentation by Mrs. Grace Grody on wallcoverings and window treatment. Mrs. Grody is an interior designer and owner of the Wallpaper Shop in Claremont. She will relate wallcoverings and windows to floor coverings and to the overall style, color and decor of the room.

For more information about the series, persons may contact Mrs. Kathryn White, YWCA coordinator, 593-2845, or the Pomona Public Library.

Adamses are honored on 50th anniversary

In observance of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lloyd Adams of Pomona were honored at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Roy J. Little, in Cucamonga.

Eleanor Spiller, a cousin from Florida, was a special guest at the party.

Hilda and Ray Adams were married in Pasadena on Sept. 24, 1923. Mr. Adams moved to Pomona in 1921 and became the organist-pianist at the Old Belvedere Theater and later at the California and Fox Theaters until 1946.

After leaving the theaters, Mr. Adams became organist at Trinity Methodist Church, serving for 21 years. He is secretary of the Pomona Host Lions Club and pianist for the Host Lions Club, Pomona Rotary and Pomona Breakfast Optimist Clubs.

Mrs. Adams was born in Caldwell, N.J., and came to Pomona in 1915. Both have been members of Pilgrim Congregational Church for many years.

In addition to their daughter, Jean, the couple has two grandchildren. A son, Bob, died in 1970.

The Pomona Host Lions also honored the couple during its meeting on Sept. 27.

Bottle Show scheduled this week

The first modern and antique bottle show and sale is scheduled by four of the Modern Bottle and Specialty Collectors Clubs of Southern California at the Ontario Masonic Temple, 1025 N. Vine St., Ontario, Saturday and Sunday.

Show hours will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. There will be 61 tables of collectible articles, some of which may be purchased.

Bud Hastin of Kansas City and Shirley Onstot of Ontario will be present for discussion on the collecting of bottles. Both are nationally recognized for their contributions to the modern collecting of figural bottles through research and as authors of books on the subject.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Marjorie Herrin, 626-0440, or Ray Faulkner, 626-4797, of Claremont.

Physician to address CFWC board

"Cancer Breakthrough" is the topic of Dr. Virginia Wuerthele-Caspe Livingston of La Jolla at the Oct. 10 session of the California Federation of Women's Club board meeting in Coronado.

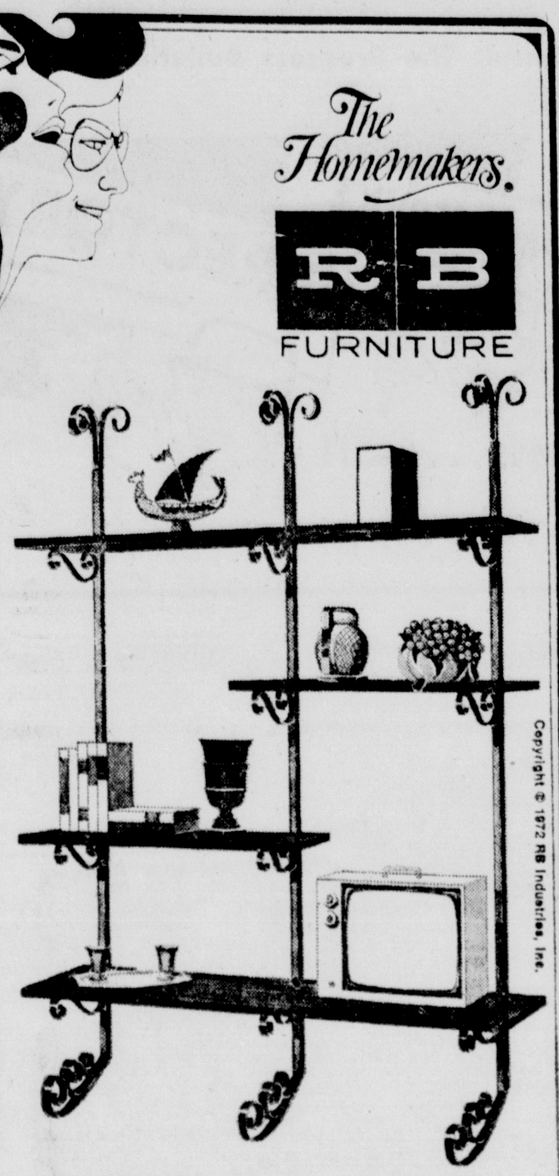

The physician and educator is one of the outstanding researchers in the field of cancer and is the author of "Cancer, A New Breakthrough."

The five-day meeting s being held at the Hotel del Coronado and includes workshops for district and state officers and chairman.

Action dresses

David Crystal's new golf dresses are desgined for action but also have wear-anywhere smartness. Sample: a striped skirt with a solid top. For tennis, the Crystal line for spring advances brief skinny tops with comfortable cut and colorful piping. The tops are worn over ruffle-trimmed panties.

The Homemakers.
